ASSIGNMENT:

About 1215 hours, Monday, 9-23-85, I was advised by telephone by Det. HERNANDEZ of the Sheriff's Homicide Detail that Homicide was requested in the Lucerne Valley area reference a possible murder. I was advised there was a white female adult found dead in her residence at 35435 Highway 18, Lucerne Valley, and that she had been found by her son when he had gone to check on her.

Sheriff's Crime Lab and Identification Bureau were notified that they were needed in Lucerne Valley. Contact was made with Det. GARY WOODS and Det. ROGER McCOY, Sheriff's Homicide Detail, to advise them of the request by Lucerne Valley.

BRIEFING AT CRIME SCENE:

Det. Woods and I arrived at the Crime Scene located at 35435 Highway 18, Lucerne Valley. We made contact with Sgt. QUINTARD of the Lucerne Valley Sheriff's Station. We were advised by Sgt. Quintard and Det. Randy KNAPP of the Victorville Station of the following information:

We were advised that Daryl Brent KRAEMER, DOB 2-16-54, had left his residence at 6677 Snowline Road in Phelan with his girlfriend, Marta SIMON, and had come to his mother's house at 35435 Highway 18, Lucerne Valley, to check on her, arriving there at approximately 1130 hours, 9-23-85.

Daryl Kraemer had observed that the garage door was open and that his mother's Cadillac was in the garage, which was not unusual. He did observe that the drapes uncovering the front windows were closed, which he said were normally open and this was unusual.

He states he went to the door which enters the house through the garage, unlocked it with a key he had, and entered the house.

He stated he entered the kitchen area of his mother's residence and immediately noticed a bad smell. He found his mother dead and naked on the bed in her bedroom. He stated he tried to call the sheriff's office, but it appeared the phone did not work. He then went to a neighbor's house to make a call and his girlfriend, Marta Simon, eventually was able to get through on the telephone to the sheriff's office.

Marta Simon then opened the drapes and some of the windows to air the house out while awaiting the arrival of the sheriff's office. Marta Simon indicated the front screen door was unlocked, which was normally kept locked, and that the sliding glass door opening onto the patio was unlocked, which was normally locked.

I was given additional background on the victim at this time. I was informed that the victim was one Rita Mabel COBB, that she was 55 or 56 years of age, DOB February 23rd, unknown if it was 1930 or 1929 as the year. I was further informed she was employed by the Spring Valley Lake Country Club and she used to have a live-in boyfriend named FRED. He was last seen a few weeks ago in the Lucerne Valley area, although they have been split up since sometime between November and February.

The crime scene was assigned to Det. WOODS and Det. McCOY from Sheriff's Homicide Detail and the investigation began.

WEATHER DATA: Archive Weather Reporting Stations

Information: In February 2009, Det. Myler and I spoke with Daryl and Marta Kraemer, the son and daughter-in-law of Rita Cobb. Daryl and Marta discovered the body of Rita and summoned law enforcement to respond. Daryl and Marta said when they entered Rita's home it was very hot inside the residence and there was a strong foul odor. They called out to Rita but got no response. Daryl walked toward the rear bedroom, past the wall heater and felt the heat from the heater. He looked inside the bedroom and found his mother on the bed and she was dead. Marta recalled opening the curtains and windows prior to law enforcement arriving (she did this to cool the house down and to air it out).

Daryl and Marta said it was odd for the wall heater to be on because it was September and still very warm outside. They thought if any type of climate control equipment was operating it should be the cooling system. Daryl recalled Rita's home was equipped with an evaporative cooler and that in September it would be abnormal for Rita to turn on the home heating system.

- Refer to Interview with Daryl and Marta Kraemer

Weather Data: I contacted Bob Dattore from the National Climatic Weather Data Center and requested archive records for the Victorville Area. I was provided with hourly weather data from George Air Force Base, which back in 1985 was operational but has been decommissioned and renamed. George Air Base was located just north of Victorville City.

I was also provided with High/Low Temperature Data for Victorville, El Mirage, Barstow and Minneola Rd. (30 miles northeast of Barstow). There was no weather data for Hesperia. Apple Valley only reported precipitation.

WEATHER

H # 100-85

We are the national archives for the weather both US and global. We have airport data (hourly), cooperative observers (daily and hourly precipitation). We also archive radar, satellite, upper air and marine data. We archive the National Weather Service forecasts as well as any watches/warnings and special weather statements that were issued. Some of our data goes back to the 1800's. Our website is:

Hi Det. Alexander,

I was able to find hourly data for George Air Force Base (Victorville) for the period you want.

I have attached a comma-delimited file of the hourly observations.

The fields in each record of the file are as follows:

- 1 - year
- 2 - month
- 3 - day
- 4 - time of observation (local time)
- 5 - VCV (3-letter ID for the station)
- 6 - wind direction (from which wind is blowing) in degrees, where 0 means calm, 360 means from the North, 270 means from the West, etc.
- 7 - wind speed in knots (1 knot = 1.15 mph)
- 8 - air temperature in degrees F

I also found "summary of day" data for 3 other stations in the area:

Apple Valley

Victorville (not the same as George Air Force Base)

Hesperia

Summary of day data would provide the maximum and minimum temperatures and mean wind speed and direction for the day. If you want these summary values for the three stations, let me know and I will send them to you. If you have any questions about the George AFB data, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Bob Dattore

Hi Rob,

When I looked at the actual data, there was no data at all available for Hesperia, and the observer at Apple Valley only reported precipitation.

For Victorville, the following was available:

9/21: hi temp: 86F, lo temp: 47F

9/22: hi temp: 89F, lo temp: 48F

9/23: hi temp: 93F, lo temp: 51F

There was no wind data available.

To the west, the observer at El Mirage reported:

9/21: hi temp: 83F, lo temp: 47F

9/22: hi temp: 87F, lo temp: 50F

9/23: hi temp: 89F, lo temp: 51F

El Mirage did not report wind data either.

To the northeast, Barstow reported:

9/21: hi temp: 86F, lo temp: 51F

9/22: hi temp: 91F, lo temp: 55F

9/23: hi temp: 92F, lo temp: 57F

no wind data

and an observer near Minneola reported:

9/21: hi temp: 89F, lo temp: 57F

9/22: hi temp: 92F, lo temp: 59F

9/23: hi temp: 93F, lo temp: 63F

no wind data

I hope this helps.

Bob

The majority of cooperative observers use a standard (B-91) or previously numbered form (E-15, etc) to manually record daily maximum and minimum temperatures and/or precipitation. Some cooperative stations also record daily river stages, evaporation, soil temperatures, and wind speed and direction. While the Form B-91 is designed to be self explanatory, the following comments are presented to assist in clarification.

GENERAL: Maximum and Minimum temperature and precipitation values are for the full twenty-four (24) hours ENDING at the observation times usually listed in the WS Form B-91 heading. Continuous surveillance of weather conditions is not expected or required at cooperative stations and the absence of entries on the WS Form B-91 is not an unusual occurrence. "M" indicates missing data.

TEMPERATURE: Recorded in whole degrees Fahrenheit. Below zero readings are preceded by a minus (-) sign. Temperature "AT OBSN." is the actual air temperature at the observation time.

PRECIPITATION: "Rain, melted snow, etc." are reported in inches and hundredths (xx.xx); "snow, ice pellets" are reported in inches and tenths (xx.x); "snow, ice pellets, hail, ice on ground" are reported in whole inches (xx.). A "T" (Trace) entered for rain and snow indicates precipitation did occur but the amount was too small to measure; when "T" is in the on ground column, the amount is less than one-half inch (< 1/2"). A zero (0) is usually entered when no precipitation occurs, however, blanks may also indicate no precipitation.

REMARKS: Used to report weather conditions other than those listed, add information on an observed weather element, document times of storms and the severity of damage inflicted, etc. These remarks are often the only source of information about unusual weather and can provide insight not available elsewhere.

SKY AND CEILING Sky cover contractions are for each layer in ascending order. Figures preceding contractions are base heights in hundreds of feet above station elevation. Sky cover contractions used are: CLR = Clear: Less than 1/10 sky cover. SCT = Scattered: 1/10 to 4/10 sky cover. BKN = Broken: 5/10 to 9/10 sky cover. OVC = Overcast: More than 9/10 sky cover. — = Thin (When prefixed to SCT, BKN, OVC). —X = Partly obscured: 1/10 or less of sky hidden by precipitation or obstruction to vision (bases at surface). X = Obscured: 1/10 sky hidden by precipitation or obstruction to vision (bases at surface). A letter preceding the height of a base identifies a ceiling layer and indicates how ceiling height was determined. Thus: E = Estimated M = Measured W = Vertical visibility into obscured sky V = Immediately following the height of a base indicates a variable ceiling.

WIND Direction in tens of degrees from true north. Speed in knots, 0000 indicates calm. G indicates gusty. Q indicates Squalls. Peak wind speed in the past 10 minutes follows G or Q when gusts or squalls are reported. The contraction WSHFT. followed by GMT time group in remarks, indicates windshift and its time of occurrence. ASSIGNMENT:

On Monday 9-23-85 I was assigned to the station on-call investigator for Victorville station. At approx. 1141 hrs., this date, I was advised by Sgt. Hugh Gonthier, Victorville station of a possible 187 in the Lucerne Valley area. Myself along with Det. Knapp and Det. Hoffman of the Victorville station left Victorville enroute to the Lucerne Valley scene. While enroute we were notified by the Victorville dispatch the scene would be 35435 Hwy 18 in Lucerne Valley.

At approx. 1214 hrss., 9-23-85 Det's Knapp, Tuttle and Hoffman arrived at 35435 Hwy 18, Lucerne Valley California. On arrival I saw a single family residence facing northeast located on the south side of Hwy 18. Infront of the residence was a horse shoe type driveway, in this driveway in the area of the garage, I noted a fire department ambulance and a black Bronco which was equiped with emergency light also belonging to the fire department. On the opposite side of the horse shoe, I noted a marked Sheriff's department unit driven by Sgt. Quintard of the Lucerne Valley station. On our arrival I saw Sgt. Quintard along with 5 other subjects on the front porch of the residence. These subejcts were later identified as Allen Miller, from Lucerne Fire dept., Art Bishop from the lucerne Valley Fire dept., and a Rick Thomas from the Lucerne Valley Fire Dept. In addition there was a male subject identified as Daryl Kraemer who is the son of the victim, and a Marta Simon the girlfriend of Kraemer.

Upon our arrival I was told by Sgt. Quintard, he had been inside the residence and observed the body. Describing the body as a white female who is lying on a bed in the bedroom of the residence completely nude. Quintard said there appeared to be blood on the face and possible strangulation of the victim. Knapp and myself asked if anybody else had been to the scene, Quintard replied, the reporting party Daryl Kraemer, his girlfriend Marta Simon and two fire men, Art Bishop, Rick Thomas, no other parties had been inside of the residence to his knowledge.

I asked Sgt. Quintard if any photographs had been taken or if any interviews had been conducted of the parties on the scene. He replied no, at which time Dep. Lynn Savage from the Lucerne Valley station was assigned to take photographs of the tire tracks surrounding the residence, photographs of the exterior of the residence and also photographs of all of the shoe sole patterns of everyone present at the scene. I at that time assigned Det. Hoffman to conduct interviews with the responding fire department personnel, refer to attached supplemental interviews by Det. Hoffman. Det. Knapp and myself then began to conduct interviews with the son of the victim Daryl Kraemer and the "daughter-in-law" Marta Simon. For further refer to attached interviews.

It was determined that the San Bernardino Sheriff's dept., Homicide team was enroute from San Bernardino and the scene was further protected by Dep. Savage who placed tape across the driveways of both of the residence's as well as using his marked Sheriff's unit to block one of the horse chow drives.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION REPORTING PARTY:

Daryl Brent Kraemer, physical address of 6677 Snow Line Rd., Phelan, California 868-4325.

At approx. 1230 hrs., on 9-23-85; I conducted an interview with the above reporting party at the location of the crime scene. I learned from Mr. Kraemer, that he was the son of the victim whom he identified to me as Rita Mabel Cobb. Her DOB 2-23-29 or 30, he was unsure at the time. It was later determined date of birth be 2-23-30 making her a white female 55 years of age. I asked Daryl what the physical address of the residence was, he told me 35435 Hwy 18 Lucerne Valley, Calif., and gave me the phone number of 619/248-7584. During my conversation with Mr. Kraemer I learned he'd last seen his mother approx. 1 to 1½ months ago at her residence in Lucerne. Kraemer told me shortly after his last visit with her, Rita had left country and went to Canada to visit her parents. He's not seen her since she got home approx. 2 weeks ago. Daryl told me his mother's days off are Sunday and Monday from the Spring Valley Lake Country Club, where she works, and at approx. 0930 hrs., this morning, he called her residence trying to get ahold of her to see if they could come out to see her. There was no answer and he felt that she possibly had just stepped outside and would be home shortly, so he and his girlfriend Marta drove to Lucerne Valley to see Rita.

Daryl said he arrived at the house at approx. 1120 hrs., this morning and when he pulled into the driveway he parked his car behind his mother's car in the driveway of the residence. Daryl said the garage door was open which is normal for his mother, he went in through the large garage door and entered the residence through a connecting door using his key. Daryl said he was unsure the door was locked or not, saying he used the key just out of habit. Daryl said he and Marta entered the residence and he noted that the curtains were drawn in the living room and that this was unusual for his mother, because she liked the view and normally kept all of the curtains and drapes in the residence open. He said he could not find her and noticed a strong smell in the residence. As he went into the bedroom of the residence, he saw his mother lying face up nude with her legs spread and what he thought to be stockings on her face.

Daryl said his first thought was his mother had committed suicide. When I asked him what he meant by that, he said that Rita at times was despondent and very lonely. Daryl told me Marta was directly behind him when he first saw his mother. He immediately left the bedroom and went to the telephone in the residence, said he could not think of any telephone numbers of anyone to call so he put the phone down and left the residence in his car to find John Sullivan who is a close friend that lives at the many springs ranch a little farther up Hwy 18. I asked Daryl now he left the residence, if he backed straight down the driveway or used the circular horse shoe driveway and he said he backed down and then proceeded out around the circular drive. Daryl also said Marta was left at the scene in the residence when he left. When he arrived at many springs ranch, he was unable to locate John Sullivan, he again got back in his car and went back to the scene using the same driveway he did previously. Again parking behind the cadillac, he went back inside the residence and entered the bedroom. Daryl said at this point he was extremely emotional and that he'd put his elbows on the foot of the bed resting them in that position. Saying that he wanted to reach out and grab his mother and hold her, but did not.

Daryl stayed a couple of what he describes as seconds and went out of the bedroom and asked Marta if she had called the Sheriff's office. She replied yes, the ambulance had been called and was enroute, Daryl said he took the telephone out the front door of the residence, called the operator and was passed through to the number 911 by the operator. On the telephone, Daryl talked with a male dispatcher from the Sheriff's office who told him not to touch anything or go back inside the residence. Daryl said after he hung up the telephone, Marta and he went outside and stayed outside on the front porch till the ambulance arrived. The fire dept., personnel were told what the Sheriff's office dispatcher had said, then they explained that they needed to go inside to make sure that the person has died and not in need of aid.

So, two men went inside of the residence with Marta behind them, he said that he was extremely upset and yelling at Marta to get back outside and not touch anything, she complied with his request. The fire dept., personnel were immediately behind her. Daryl said he and the fire dept., personnel and Marta stayed on the front porch until Sgt. Quintard and the responding detectives arrived.

I asked Daryl if his mother drank to any excess and he told me she drank usually by herself, she didn't go out to bars that he knew of to drink. She did have a jeckle and hyde personality when she drank, infact the reason he had not seen her for a month and a half was the last time they'd talked together, the discussion had ended in a disagreement and bad feelings, because she had been drunk at the time. I asked Daryl if he knew anyone his mother had been going out with and he said to his knowledge she hasn't gone out with anyone in the past 4 to 5 months. I asked if his mother was separted, divorced or widowed and he told me she was a widow for approx. 4 years. Daryl added she had a man friend by the name of FRED that she had gone out with several months back but he has not seen her or heard anything about him in quite sometime. I asked if he knew FRED's last name or where I could contact him and he said he did not know his last name, said he worked for Pfizer in Lucerne Valley and had been injured on the job, that's all he could tell me about FRED.

I asked if he knew of anyone else that his mother was dating or seeing, and he said no. I asked if there was anybody in the area, or anyone in particular that we could contact in order to learn more information about his mother and the people she was seeing. He gave me the name of John Sullivan, saying that he would be the best contact because John would be down to the house quite often, he helped his mother take care of the place doing repairs when necessary. John was almost a part of the family so close. He added Doris Jackson too, was his mother's best friend, would also be a very good contact however, she is not living in this area now. She lives in Plam Springs somewhere. Daryl said he did not know how to get ahold of Doris off the top of his head, however he was positive her phone number and address would be listed in his mother's telephone book inside the residence. Daryl had nothing further of investigative value and the interview was concluded at that time.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION STOWE, DON 35370 HWY 18, LUCERNE VALLEY, CALIF., 248-7638:

After concluding the above interview with Daryl Kraemer, I made contact with Mr. Don Stowe who is a neighbor across the highway from the victim, Rita Cobb. I explained the circumstances to Mr. Stowe and that I was part of an investigative team, investigating the death of Rita Cobb and asked if I could speak to him for a few minutes, to which he replied yes. I asked Don how long he had known the victim, Rita Cobb, and he said for several years. He said that they were not exactly the best of friends however, he was acquainted with her and because they were neighbors would keep an eye on her place and her, on occasion when he was outside. Don said in his opinion Rita appeared to be an alcoholic. He said he saw her intoxicated several times and said that when she drank she had what he called a "ball busting" attitude towards men. I asked him what he meant by that, Don said that she would put men down, she had a severe attitude towards men when she'd been drinking and it was very difficult for some people to relate to her, she was very mean when she'd been drinking.

I asked Don when was the last time he had seen Rita alive, he said that she'd been back from Canada just a short time and that she'd gone with Doris Jackson her close friend. I again asked when he'd last seen her, he told me the Monday before, making it a week from the date of interview. I asked Don if he knew of anyone Rita had been going out with, he said that she dated several men, according to "talk" in town, however, he did not know for sure, he told me a man by the name of Frank Strump used to date her but hasn't seen him around in quite sometime. I asked where I could find Mr. Strump, he said he was retired and lives in Lucerne Valley someplace but could not give me any further. Don said he has not noticed any strange vehicle in Rita's place in the last several days but did say he noticed there's been no light outside of the residence for approx. a week and this was not her norm, she had been the victim of an attempted rape earlier this year and since that time, had a light on almost every night or outside

I asked if Rita had been drinking and he said yes. I asked John if he knew of anyone Rita had been seeing or had dated and he said a man by the name of Fred Bedard or Penard. He drove a brown Ford van with pin striping that used to work at Pfizer. This Fred had been injured and is currently off work. I asked if Rita had seen alot of men and he said yes, that to him she was a very lonely woman. However, recently she'd met someone from Spring Valley Lake and had gone out with him last week. John said he didn't know the man. Last weekend, meaning the weekend of September 14 and 15, Betty Ball a friend of Rita's, had spent the weekend with her and maybe she would have some additional information about this individual that Rita is seeing. John said he didn't know where Betty Ball lived, but thought Apple Valley.

I asked John what Rita's hobbies were and he said she dearly loved golf, and she like to hike and camp as well. I asked John if he'd seen Rita anymore this weekend and he said no. He said that he thought she was going down below, but did not know what made him think so, and he had not gone by her house except for Sunday evening when he and his girlfriend Fran returned from an Angel game. I asked John if Rita had a critical personality to which he responded that she would critique people and if they didn't know her they could probably take it wrong, as critical. I asked if Rita was anti-"man" in particular and he said no. I asked John if he'd ever heard Rita talking about Fred hitting her or them getting into fights and he said, she'd mentioned on one occasion, that Fred had hit her once, with no other information available. John said in closing, he thought Doris lived in La Quinta on the outskirts of Palm Springs. John had nothing further of value, interview was concluded.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION DRAKE, FRANCESCA DOB 12-29-56, MANY SPRINGS RANCH, LUCERNE VALLEY, CALIF., 719/248-6960:

at approx. 1700 hrs., on 9-23-85, I conducted an interview with the above person in front of the victim's residence. During the course of the interview, Drake related the following information. In response to my question as to when the last time she'd had seen the victim Rita Cobb, Drake said, she saw her on Friday 9-20-85 when she came over to her and John's house. Rita stayed until approx. 2330 hrs., that night and when she left, she was drunk, she had been drinking a lot of bourbon that evening. I asked Drake what Cobb's personality was when she left, she said that although she was drunk, she was feeling good but lonely like always. I next asked if Cobb had been seeing anybody or going out on any dates with anyone and she said that last weekend, the weekend of 9-13 through 15th she had a date with a man by the name of Bruce Lee, he said the date was on Sunday making it 9-15-85. That they'd gone out one time but had a date of some type for this weekend meaning the weekend just passed.

Rita had mentioned to Drake, she had talked with Lee this past week but, she did not remember if Cobb had said it was a telephone or a personal contact with Lee. Drake said Rita was very excited about going out with Bruce Lee. I asked if Drake knew the man identified as Fred and she said yes she did know him, and had seen him several times at Rita's house. I asked if Rita had ever said anything or complained to her about Fred hitting her, to Drake's knowledge, Rita had never made this complaint. I asked Drake what type of personality she would describe Rita as having, Drake said that she drank alot and could be very caustic when she had been drinking and not remember her comments after she'd sobered up. She further described Rita as liking men and used to go out to the Moose Lodge, quite alot on Saturday nights in Lucerne Valley and occasionally the Y Cafe and the Zodiac. I asked also if Rita was known to have any preference as to her men as far as age and Drake replied, no. I asked about race and Drake replied was, to her knowledge, Rita preferred white men and preferably those closest to her age, however she was not particular about age. Drake had nothing further of investigative value and the interview was concluded at that time.

He said he'd been up the mountain and on his way back down, hwy 18, his gauges on his vehicle went crazy and that he pulled into her driveway, because he showed a loss of oil pressure on his oil pressure gauge. He said that this was about 9:00 in the morning. And after talking for a little while, he checked his truck and then drove on, it appeared to be a malfunction of the gauges. Backhoff said he next saw Rita approx. 1 week later when he and the landloard from the Tall Trees Trailer Park were driving up Hwy 18, this was approx. last Tuesday he said they drove pass they saw her car in the garage and rita was outside at which time they waived at her but proceeded and did not stop to talk to her.

I asked Backhoff how well he knew Rita and said that he'd known her for approx. 5 years that he'd met her through his former girlfriend, Geraldine who has since deceased. Said he's been out on occasion with Rita, however, this was prior to Geraldine's death and that they went of a threesome. And he's never had sex with her. I asked him to describe Rita and he said she was very outgoing and she did drink but he's never seen her drunk in his opinion. Backhoff had nothing further that he could relate saying he did not see her since the time he dated to me. I asked him if he had any idea's who might have killed Rita and he said no. Backhoff had nothing further of investigation value and interview was concluded.

at approx. 1315 hrs., on 9-25-85, I was contacted by Mr. Daniel Cook, at the Victorville station during this inperson interview, Mr. Cook related the following information.

Cook stated yesterday after he had heard of Rita's death, he went to her house and saw Daryl her son. After talking with Daryl awhile, they went to see John and Pinky (Francesca Drake) while at the many springs ranch, he saw two men that he felt should not belong there, and describe them as #1 a white male 35 to 40 heavy build 175 to 200 lbs 5'10" in height having more brown beard with a grouping of white hair in the center of his chin. Cook stated the man told him he lives in Apple Valley. Cook also noted the man had a green older Datsun pickup with a Raider's decal in the back. The second man was described in his late 40's to late 50's 5'10", 250 lbs brown and gray hair subject #2 has a motor home that he drives and lives in. Cook first contacted both parties said that John and Pinky were not there. They returned back to Rita's house and saw John Sullivan coming down the road, they stopped and talked to John and learned the two men were there at the ranch lawfully and were taking John's job and that they would be at the ranch then on. After a short conversation John drove on home and cook returned to his residence. I asked Cook if he could recall the type of tires that were on this datsun pickup and he said no. I next asked Cook to describe Rita Cobb for me. His first answer was that she was a debator and argumentative. She would bait meone into a heated discussion to see their viewpoint or answer to her questions.

Cook stated this was usually only when she was drinking only and not caustic when she was sober. Cook added Rita was a drinker and a fact which was well known to everyone she knew. However, she has a very loving personality and caring at the same time. But when she was drinking, sometimes had character changes. I asked Cook if he was familiar with a man by the name of Fred and he said that he was. I asked about the relationship between Fred and Rita. And Cook said Rita loved Fred, but didn't trust him in a financial way in one manner and also "as a woman". Because she felt Fred would not commit to her and want to stay with her only. Cook added that next to the bed in the bedroom, Rita always kept pistol of some sort, he did not know of what type or what caliber as he had never seen the weapon but had been told on several occasions by Rita that she kept a gun there.

Cook told me he's known Rita for approx. 5 years, that they used to work together out at the country club and he kept in touch with her for some time along with his wife. During the time that he's known her and been to her residence, he said the curtains were nearly always open and that the doors were locked, that she wouldn't open the door for anyone she did not know and wouldn't let anyone use her phone if per chance somebody was broken down out on the highway. Cook added there was also a shot gun in the house but he didn't know if now Daryl had possession of the shot gun or not. Cook had nothing further of investigative value and interview was concluded at that time.

INTERVIEW SIMON, MARTA RAE WFA 24 yrs, DOB 11-22-60, resides at 6677 SnowLine Rd., Phelan 619/868-4325, Mrs. Simon is unemployed:

At approx. 1230 hrss., Monday 9-23-85 I met Mrs. Simon in front of the victims residence.

It should further be noted that Mrs. Simon and her common-law-husband Daryl Kraemer were also at the residence upon our arrival.

At approx. 1230 hrs., Monday 9-23-85 I interviewed Mrs. Simon in relationship to any knowledge she may have as to the circumstances and occurrence that had transpired at the victims residence. I also questioned Mrs. Simon as to her relationship to the victim and the victims son Daryl Kraemer.

Marta stated that she was the victims son's girlfriend and has known the victim Rita Cobb approx. 6 years. I asked her when she had last seen the victim, she stated it's been approx. a month ago. I asked her where the victim is employed, she stated Spring Valley Lake Country Club as secretary. When asked if Rita Cobb had any boyfriends, Marta responded that she thought she used to have one by the first name of FRED, unknown the last name. She stated FRED lived with Rita for about a year, however, she thinks they broke up sometime last February. She also added that FRED should be easy to locate because to her knowledge he was involved with a medical lawsuit with the Pfizer Corp. in Lucerne Valley. I asked if she knew of any recent boyfriends and she stated yes, that she was dating some guy at the country club, that is where she'd met him. She stated she did not know who this individual was that only heard Rita mention it a couple of times.

I asked her what type of person the victim was she responded by saying that she thought Rita was a lonely person and out of this loneliness was trying to find a place closer to live near Spring Valley Lake, her place of employment. I asked her who else associated with the victim, she stated that a close neighbor and personal friend of the family identified as John Sullivan white male adult in his 40's comes and checks on her periodically and fixes things that need to be repaired in the residence. I asked her where Mr. Sullivan resided, she stated that he lives in the Mini Springs Ranch area of Lucerne Valley.

I then asked Marta to relate the circumstances which had transpired on this date where they had located the body of the victim. Marta responded with the following. That she and Daryl had traveled to the victims residence approx. 1040 hrs., this date, they'd come by to visit her as they had not seen her in about a month.

Daryl first entered the side door of the residence leading through the garage as she followed. On walking inside the residence she noticed a foul smell and asked Daryl if the toilet had backed up or broken again, this due to repairs that had been done to the toilet in the past for the same malfunction. She was carrying a wax cup containing a slurpie, they purchased at a local convenience store and a cigarette and lighter when she entered the residence. I asked what type of cigarette she was smoking, she stated that she smokes Virginia Slims. Marta then walked over to the dining room table sat the slurpie and cigarettes and lighter down while Daryl had walked into the bedroom later found to be the bedroom where the victim was located. She then heard Daryl say, "oh, my god she's killed herself", she responded that Daryl just went crazy there, then he began crying and asking why she had done it.

As soon as she heard Daryl making these comments, she walked towards the bedroom where she too saw the victim lying on her back on the bed in the bedroom. She said after she had seen the V lying on her back, she grabbed Daryl and they both began crying. I asked her what she touched while in the bedroom, but she stated she didn't remember touching anything at that time, except the post in the hallway where she and Daryl were hugging. She grabbed it for support to them from falling down. She then went over to the telephone stand, removed the telephone placed it on the dining room table and tried to call the local fire department, she said she dialed the operator and got a busy signal. During this period of time, Daryl had gone back out to the vehicle, a black Monte Carlo, they had arrived in and started the engine. I asked her where this vehicle was parked, she said it was parked in the dirt driveway directly behind the victim's vehicle that was parked inside the garage. She said after getting a busy signal on the telephone and hearing that Daryl start the car, she ran outside the residence going out the same door she had entered, the entry going into the garage where she confronted Daryl in their vehicle and Daryl stated that he had to go get John referring to John Sullivan, the family friend. She said Daryl told her to call the coroner or whoever she had to call and Daryl left at a high rate of speed to go get John while she (Marta Simon) stayed at the scene.

She then re-entered the residence thought the same door entering through the garage, she went into the victims bedroom where she tried to open the window to let the smell out. The window wouldn't open after she attempted to open it from both sides. She stated that she also moved the curtains in an attempt to get the window open. She stated that after she could not open the window, she went back to the telephone called the operator who gave her the Sheriff's office on the 911 line. A male individual answered the phone, she told that individual that she and her husband had found their mother-in-law and she appeared to be dead. While on the telephone on the 911 line, she stated, she remembered opening the front door of the home, located on the east side of the same again to let some of the odor out of the inside of the residence. I asked her if that door was locked, she stated that she did not remember it being locked, she also stated that the front door is the one with the black screen door in front of it. She then hung up the telephone and heard Daryl come back to the residence and again he parked his vehicle in the dirt driveway directly behind the victims vehicle, still parked in the garage. She then exited the residence again through the entry door through the garage meeting Daryl back out in front of the home next to his car. She stated that Daryl was breaking loose in the car crying and sobbing, he got out of the car and they walked over to the front porch and sat for a few moments. He then asked her if she had called the police, she told him that the fire department is on the way. Daryl then went back into the house through the front door and called the "Lucerne Valley police dept.", she stated while he was on the telephone, she went over and opened the sliding glass door in the extreme south portion of the residence and then proceeded out through patio area to an exterior screen door which she also found unlocked located on the east side of the front porch.

I asked her if the sliding glass door was locked, she stated no, that none of the doors in the residence were locked which was highly abnormal because the sliding glass door to the south as well as the screen door on the screen patio are always locked. She said after walking through the screen patio and out the screen door, she then sat on the porch for a moment waiting for Daryl. Daryl came out a short time later stating the police told him to stay out of the house and not to touch anything. He then told her to park the black Monte Carlo out on the street so the police and rescue squad could find the house easier. She then parked the vehicle out on the roadway of highway 18. While doing this the paramedics arrived pulling into the north portion of the horse shoe driveway in front of the residence.

The paramedics then entered the residence through the front door going to the victim. After observing the obvious death, the fire personnel exited the residence where they were told by Daryl not to go back in until the Sheriff's office arrived. I then questioned Marta if she had touched anything or disturbed anything else in the residence, she responded by saying yes, there's one thing I forget to tell you about, before I was on the phone the first time, I opened up the front drape in the front sliding glass door as well as opening the curtains on the west wall of the living room and turning the cooler on. She said that she was just trying to air the house out and get the terrible smell out of the home. I asked her if she'd ever seen the drapes open before and she responded by saying that Rita never or once in a blue moon would close the drapes. She stated that nearly everytime she'd been to the residence, all the drapes were open and that, that was one of the things that she first noticed when she and Daryl had initially pulled up in front of the home.

I asked her if she knew if Rita had any enemies, she stated she had no known enemies to her knowledge, however, Rita would frequent the American Legion and like to drink. This preliminary was then concluded as the witness could offer nothing further.

INTERVIEW WITH VICTIMS SON KRAEMER, DARYL,:

Approx. 1310 hrs., Monday 9-23-85, I asked Mr. Kraemer several preliminary questions, after he had been interviewed by Det. Tuttle.

Mr. Kraemer stated his mother Rita Cobb would socialize at the Zodiac, Y Cafe, Moose Lodge and American Legion. And up to 6 months ago she would frequent the Villager restaurant in Apple Valley. I asked how much his mother would consume of alcohol on a typical evening, he stated she would have atleast 2 to 3 drinks of bourbon and water however, in the last 6 months she'd become more of a home person and was doing her drinking there.

I asked him what else he knew of his mother or her personality. He responded by saying when she was drinking, she had a "jeckle and hyde personality". I then asked him what he knew of his mother's former boyfriends or current boyfriends, he responded by saying there was only one that he really knew about it's an ex-boyfriend by the name of FRED. He drives a brown Ford model van with stock wheels. He stated that FRED and his mother had broken up several weeks ago, however, he'd seen FRED several weeks ago passing in traffic in the community of Hesperia. I asked him to furnish a physical description of FRED with unknown last name and he stated he's a white male adult in his 40's 5'11, 200 lbs, light brown hair, he also stated that FRED had medical problems and was currently involved in a lawsuit with Pfiser Corp., in Lucerne Valley. She then told Saunders that after FRED left she didn't like living there.

She also talked about her deceased husband and about her dog. He stated that during this period of time that the phone had rang twice, and that she had said who was on the phone but he didn't remember other than the second telephone call being from an individual identified as Pinky. He stated that the first time she was only on the telephone for about 1 minute then hung up, the second time she was on the telephone with Pinky and she talked for approx. 5 minutes, after which time she asked him if he wanted to go pick pistachio's up at John's and Pinky's home. He stated he wass to take his vehicle and she was to take hers, after she changed from her work clothes. I asked what type of clothes she was wearing at that time, he said that a blue or red dress, it was a primary color with puffs around the sleeve. He said the next thing that happened is they met at John's and Pinky's house at Mini Springs Ranch about 1/2 hr before sunset and at that time Rita was wearing designer blue jeans a blue short sleeve blouse and unknown type of foot wear. They all met out in the pistachio grove where they picked pistachio's for a short time, then going back into John's and Pinkey's home, sat around the table and talked about square dancing and baseball. He stated he only stayed for another 30 minutes and then he left going home where he remained the rest of the night.

I asked Mr. Saunders if he'd seen Rita consuming alcoholic beverages at John's and Pink's he stated yes she may have been having a bourbon and water. I then asked if she appeared to be intoxicated, he stated no. WITNESS INTERVIEW: DARYL AND MARTA KRAEMER:

On Sunday, February 22, 2009, at approximately 1000 hours, Detective Rob Alexander and I interviewed Marta and Daryl Kraemer at the Victorville City Sheriff's Station. Present for the interview was Marta, Daryl, Alexander, and I. Daryl is the son of the decedent Rita Cobb. Marta is Daryl's wife. At the time of the murder Daryl and Marta were boyfriend/girlfriend and both found Rita deceased in the house in 1985. Marta's maiden name is Simon. We asked both of them numerous questions and the following is a summary of their audio recorded statement.

Marta and Daryl have been married for the last 18 years.

Daryl said his mother Rita Cobb drank a lot of hard alcohol back in the 1980's leading up to her murder. When Rita drank she could become very mean and nasty towards others.

On or about July, 1985 Rita and her friend Doris Jackson took a trip to Canada. Doris was one of Rita's best friends. They stayed in Canada for 2-3 weeks and then returned home.

Rita frequented the bars in Lucerne Valley. On or about September, 1985 Rita left Daryl a message on his telephone answering machine. Rita was worried about something and said she needed to talk to him. Daryl believes the message was close in time to when she was murdered.

After receiving the telephone message he returned his mothers call several times over the weekend, but he never got a hold of her. After receiving no reply over the weekend Daryl telephoned Rita's work on Monday morning. Daryl was informed by Rita's boss that Rita had not shown up to work. It was then that Marta and he drove to Rita's house and found her dead.

Brad Bedard was one of Rita's boyfriends near the time of her murder, but he has since passed away.

John Sullivan and Frances aka "Pinky" were very close friends of Rita's. John and Frances probably knew Rita the best.

Rita was an executive secretary at the Spring Valley Lake County Club. Rita took her job very seriously and was always professional. Even though Rita drank alcohol at home and over the weekends she never let the alcohol affect her while at work. Rita was very professional, dressed very nicely and worked hard.

Rita's friend Doris Jackson owned a real estate company in Lucerne Valley. The reality company was possibly named Doris Jackson Reality. Doris relocated to an area near Palm Springs sometime before Rita was murdered. Doris today would be around 75 years old. Daryl believes Doris has never been interviewed during the homicide investigation.

Daryl and Rita had not been speaking to each other for a couple of months prior to his mother's trip to Canada. Prior to that Daryl and Rita spoke over the telephone on almost a regular basis.

Jim Cobb was Rita's husband, but he died of cancer before Rita was murdered.

Rita frequented bars in Lucerne Valley and flirted with guys her age and younger. Daryl knew Rita had been with at least one or two men maybe 10 years younger than she was. Sometime before her murder Daryl heard Rita was possibly seeing someone in Big Bear, but he never heard who it was.

Fred Bedard and Rita dated from August, 1984, but broke up about three months before Rita was murdered.

Rita frequented the Y-Cafe, The Zodiac Bar, and the VFW. Rita also belonged to the Moose Lodge because she was a member. If there was a bar in Lucerne Valley Rita had been in it. Rita mostly frequented the bars on Friday and Saturday evenings. Daryl heard Rita was possibly seen in one of the bars that Friday night prior to being murdered. Daryl heard she had been seen with a white male adult wearing an FBI hat. The person wearing the FBI hat was described as looking like a police officer or military type person.

Daryl would go into some of the bars with Rita. Once Rita became intoxicated she typically got real mean towards everybody. Daryl once told Rita that her mouth was going to get her killed.

Before John and Frances Sullivan got together, John and Rita had a sexual fling. Daryl estimated Rita and John Sullivan had been together in the early 1980's prior to John and Frances becoming boyfriend/girlfriend.

Daryl described the pool of men and women in Lucerne Valley as pretty small, because it was a very small community and everybody knew everybody.

Daryl was not aware of who Rita was having sex with prior to her murder. Daryl had only heard that Rita was possibly seeing someone in Silver Lakes and Big Bear.

When Daryl later thought about his mother's murder he came up with a theory. Daryl theorized Rita went to a bar and started drinking. While intoxicated she most likely met a younger man and brought him home. While at the house Rita probably got belligerent with that person and he killed her. Daryl formulated that theory based upon what he knew of his mother and how she could treat people after becoming intoxicated.

When Daryl first entered Rita's house after not being able to get a hold of her over the weekend he smelled something really bad, which he associated with a septic tank backing up. When Daryl walked into the house he noticed all the windows were closed, the swamp cooler was turned off and the heater was turned on. Daryl described the temperature in the house as very hot. (Note: According to weather reports the outside temperature at 2300 hours was 80 degrees.) After Marta and he found Rita deceased they opened some of the windows and turned off the heater. Marta then called 911.

Marta said she remembered seeing a bag of pistachio nuts in the backseat of Rita's car the day they found her dead. Marta also remembered seeing Rita's car keys on the desk by the telephone in the house.

Daryl said when they pulled up to Rita's house the garage door was open and her Cadillac was parked inside. Marta and he walked in through the unlocked garage door that led into the house. At the time nobody was living in the house except for Rita.

Marta said she recalled seeing Rita naked on the bed with one leg propped up. Marta also remembered the radio in the bedroom was on and the volume was very loud. Rita's body appeared to be swollen and the smell was awful, so she opened one of the bedroom windows.

Marta also turned off the portable radio "boom box" in order to make the telephone call to the police. Marta guessed it was an AM station playing because they did not receive many if any FM stations back then in Lucerne Valley.

Daryl said it was not normal for his mother to have the radio blaring that loud. He knows this about his mother because he lived with her many years.

Marta said she also opened the front door to the house in order to air it out.

When Daryl looked around the house he recalled seeing clothes hung up in her closet. Rita only had metal hangers back then. Her closet was mostly organized but there were clothes and other items on the floor in the closet. Daryl described his mother as some what organized but she did not clean the house on a regular basis.

Marta said she recalled seeing Rita's suits hanging up in the closet. Marta said they were all nice and neat in the closet. Marta said Rita liked to look very professional at work. Marta did not recall seeing anything on the floor or anywhere else in the house that threw her off as if something was different.

Rita only had one propane wall heater in the house. This was the heater they had to turn off. It was very unusual to have the heat on at that time of the year. Daryl theorized that the person who killed his mother turned the heater on in order to cause his mother to decompose more rapidly, which would destroy evidence more quickly. (Note: When I checked the weather for that time of the year it averaged a high of 88 degrees and a low of 54 degrees)

Marta said when she saw Rita lying on the bed with one leg propped up she noticed Rita's purse was on the right side of Rita's body and Rita's wedding ring was on the nightstand next to her. Later, Marta and Daryl took a look at Rita's purse and it did not appear that anything had been taken and the contents of her purse had not been dumped out on the bed or anywhere else in the house that she saw.

Both Daryl and Marta not only saw Rita's purse and wedding ring in the bedroom with her, but they also saw jewelry, the keys to her Cadillac and other valuables in plain sight still in the house. Marta and Daryl both said it definitely was not a burglary or robbery, because the house was not ransacked and the property visible to them had not been stolen.

Daryl said Rita had a dog which was a lab mix. The dog was very intimidating if you were to show up at her house alone. If Rita were to bring someone to the house with her then the dog would not become aggressive. The day Daryl found his mother dead he noticed the dog was running around outside in the desert. Normally when Rita slept she brought the dog in with her and when she went to work or went out for the day she would keep the dog outside. Daryl thought it was unusual that the dog was outside while Rita lay dead inside her house.

Marta and Daryl both said they did not know where Rita routinely kept her purse and car keys inside the house.

Alexander asked Daryl if he knew anyone who drove or owned a silver Ford Pinto back when his mother was killed. Daryl thought for a minute and said the only person he could remember that owned a Pinto was Doris Jackson and her Pinto was green.

Daryl said his mother's good friends were Doris Jackson, Frances and John Sullivan, and John Stowe.

Daryl heard John Stowe's son moved back to the east coast for some unknown reason after the murder. Daryl was suspicious because of the timing of the move, but then again Daryl said everyone was a suspect to him after his mother was killed and he did not look at anyone the same.

Daryl said Rita not only worked at the County Club but she also golfed and was in a woman's golf league. Rita had many friends whom she golfed with, but Daryl did not know any of their names.

Daryl also remembered his mother drinking and hanging out with people at the VFW (American Legion) in Lucerne Valley. Rita also possibly frequented an American Legion down in the Valley in San Bernardino County.

Daryl only recalled the names of two neighbors who lived by his mother. They were Hank Millwee. Hank lived up the street and behind Rita. Hanks telephone number back then was 619-248-6087. Daryl also recalled Don Stowe who lived across the highway from Rita.

Rita lived in the main house on her property and there was a house to the rear. The guest house had not been rented out for about two years prior to the murder.

Alexander asked Daryl and Marta if they knew John Yablonsky. Daryl said he does not know John Yablonski but he knows George Yablonsky. Alexander showed Daryl and Marta a photograph of John Yablonsky. Daryl said John looks a lot like George. Alexander asked Daryl if his mother ever dated John Yablonsky. Daryl said not that he is aware of.

Daryl said Pam Romero was married to George Yablonsky. Pam had been married several times and used the last names of Romero, Smith, and Yablonsky. Today Pam uses the last name of Hardwick and at one time was married to Donny Hardwick. Pam and George had only been married for about a year before their marriage ended. Daryl heard George was violent toward Pam. Daryl said Pam will be a good source of information if we want to know more about the Yablonsky family.

Alexander asked Daryl if he knew what vehicles George Yablonsky owned or drove. Daryl said he could not remember.

Daryl said he drank with Pam and George Yablonsky on many occasions while at the bars and they took trips together. One trip they took together was to Colorado. Daryl never met John Yablonsky and did not even know he existed back then.

Daryl said George Yablonsky owned a door and window installation business. Daryl believes he first met George sometime in 1981. As Daryl thought back to 1985 he recalled George possibly drove a little pick-up truck. Pam and George married on or about 1984 and split up sometime after his mother was murdered. Daryl knew George was married to someone else before Pam, but he could not remember her name.

Daryl said he lived with his mother Rita from 1981 off and on thru 1983. The only vehicle his mother owned was the Cadillac. Daryl first moved to Lucerne Valley in 1979.

Daryl said his mother did like to bowl and she was possibly in a bowling league at one time or another. The only bowling alley that existed back then was the bowling alley on Highway 18 in Apple Valley. Daryl was unaware if his mother frequented any of the bars in Apple Valley but guessed that she may have frequented the Apple Valley County Club.

Back in 1985 Daryl said they were four large businesses in the Lucerne Valley area. They were Kaiser Cement, Plustofer, Pfizer, and the mines.

Daryl described the clientele at the Y-Café as younger than the Zodiac Bar. There seemed to more fights and problems at the Y-Cafe. Daryl described the Zodiac as having an older local crowd. Daryl described the Moose Lodge as where the "older people" would go and rarely was there ever a problem there.

Daryl said when he found his mother he recalled all of the doors were unlocked. When Daryl lived with his mother she did not lock up prior to going to sleep because it was a rural area. The only time she locked up was when she left the house whether going to work or elsewhere. Daryl also recalled Rita almost always closed the garage door prior to going to sleep or when she left the house. If she was home and not sleeping the garage door was typically open.

Daryl and Marta described the temperature inside the house when they found Rita dead as being in the high 80's.

Daryl said Rita moved into that house on or near 1978.

We asked Daryl and Marta who we should talk to if we want to find out more about the Yablonsky family. Daryl said we should talk to Pam Hardwick. Pam and George never had any kids together but Pam would be a great source of information because she was a big gossip and routinely gathered information because that is the type of person she was back then. Daryl said he thinks Pam will be a "gold mine" of information.

Daryl said when he lived with his mother she was not a real late night person on Friday and Saturday evenings. His mother did go out to the bars but usually would return home by midnight. She was not the type of person who would close down the bar. On Sunday nights through Thursday nights she would go to bed maybe between 10:00 and 11:00 PM in order to get enough sleep for work.

Daryl said Pam Hardwick has three children. They are Harley Langford, Minnie Langford and Tony Romero. Daryl suggested that we don't talk to Pam unless we are willing to take the chance that information may slip out to others prior to a suspect interview. Daryl suggested that it would be better to talk to Pam after an arrest or suspect interview.

Daryl and Marta did not have any further information to provide at this time and their interview was concluded at approximately 1240 hours.

At 1400 hours, on 9-25-85, Detective WOODS and I made contact with Mr. LIEBE at the Shell Gas Station on Highway 18 that he manages. Mr. LIEBE was advised that we had a gas station receipt from his station that the victim had where she had apparently purchased gas from his station on 9-20-85. He then advised us that it was another attendant's handwriting and advised us when that subject could be contacted. He was then asked when was the last time he had seen RITA COBB and he stated that he lives down the street and across the road from her. However, he doesn't remember seeing her lately. He states that the Friday or Saturday before last he remembers going by her residence around 10:30 p.m. and there were a couple of pickup trucks in her driveway. We then asked him anything else he might know about the victim and he stated that a subject by the name of GLEN MORITZ who lives in Apple Valley goes over there occasionally to do stuff for her. He states that GLEN runs a tractor somewhere around Apple Valley and he doesn't know anything else about him. Mr. LIEBE was then asked if he had ever been to the victim's residence and he stated no. LIEBE then stated that one thing he has noticed is that back in June or July, there was a guy who wore a brown security uniform with yellow patches that usually tried to get a ride while standing on Highway 18 in front of the victim's house. Mr. LIEBE states that the subject was dark complected. Mr. LIEBE could provide no further interview and interview was concluded.

INTERVIEW:

The following interview conducted with JOHN STOWE, at 1255 hours, Wednesday 9-25-85. Contact with Mr. STOWE was at his residence directly across the Hwy 18 from the victim RITA COBB. Reason for the re-contact was that he had relayed information to Sgt. QUINTARD that he had remembered seeing a flatbed type truck in the driveway of RITA COBB's residence last Thursday or Friday. He described it as a one tone flatbed truck, mid to anywhere from 1960 to 1965, white in color. He does not know what the vehicle was doing there.

I asked what he thought of RITA. He stated that she was a nice lady to him, however, she is an alcoholic and he described her as a ball buster. He stated the more she drank the more mean and nasty she would become towards men. He states that he knows for a fact that she has on numerous times taken men home from bars. He states that occasionally she would stop by his residence and literally fall out of her vehicle because of her intoxication. He states that she would talk to him in regards to her drinking and he states that my father was an alcoholic, therefore, I do have a little experience in that particular field. He states that he would tell her to clean up her act and that she has told him that ever since the death of her husband in 1979 that she is terribly lonely and that's the reason that she takes home male companions.

He stated that approximately one week ago, Monday, that he and his son drove through the U shaped driveway at the COBB residence, making contact with her, asking her if everything was okay. He stated that she answered it was and offered him a drink, to which he declined and went home.

Mr. STOWE told me of a contact he had had with a LLOYD TURNER, resident of Lucerne Valley, at the Bank of America, earlier this morning. He stated that he had received information from Mr. TURNER that there was a suspect in custody in regards to RITA COBB case, and also received information that the body had been mutilated. We told him that this was not true.

We then asked Mr. STOWE about the back house of the COBB residence that apparently she had rented out. He stated the only thing he was aware of that the first time that she rented it out was to an elderly man by the name of FRANCIS FOLEY, then to a young female and then to a young couple, but it has been some time since she has rented that residence out. Interview with Mr. STOWE was concluded at that time.

He also states that during that contact that Mr. TURNER spoke to her and that she said hi. The short contact with Mr. TURNER was concluded at that time.

She also stated that Rita had a boyfriend by the name of Sam and that when she saw Rita, she was usually in the company of SAM. I asked her who Sam's last name was she stated she did not know, however, Becky or Tub at the VFW would know who Sam is.

I then asked her if she knew of specific incidents in which the victim and her boyfriend by the name of SAM were alleged to be physical or verbal altercations, she said it was either August 8 or 9th that she Barbara had gone over to Moose Lodge. It was there that she witnessed along with Joe Callaway and an individual only known as Ernie an old bartender from the VFW witnessed Rita in a violent argument with Sam.  Lucerne, Ca. Residence phone: 248-6335

At 1335 hrs., on 9/26/85, I contacted Ms. Rene Smith at her residence. At that time, Ms. Smith told me that on Sunday night, 9/22/85, she was at the Zodiac bar when a man attempted to pick her up, and that when she refused him, he told her that it was alright because he had a date with an older lady, and that during their conversation, he had told her that he was a singer with the band that had entertained at the Moose Lodge during their luau. Ms. Smith could not remember his name positively, but believed it was something like "Gaylord," and described him as being WMA, 6' tall, 180 lbs., with short brown hair. I asked Ms. Smith whether or not Ms. Cobb was at the Zodiac bar when this occurred, and she stated that she was not.

CONTACTS MADE:

At approximately 1345 hours, 9-26-85, Thursday, I made contact at the Center Market located in Lucerne Valley with one of the clerks by the name of ~~KARLA RIDDLE~~. It was understood from the interview conducted with BUD TURNER that KARLA also saw the victim, RITA COBB, in the business at approximately 8:00 Saturday evening, that being 9-21-85. Upon contact, I showed her a photograph of RITA COBB and asked her if she had seen her here on Saturday. She states that she had already been talked with by one of the TURNER's and she states that she did not see her on Saturday night. She did, however, state that one of the other clerks by the name of CAROL TEVIS remembers seeing her and possibly took a check from her.

CONTACT MADE:

At approximately 1400 hours, I made contact with CAROL TEVIS. She lives at 32611 Zircon, Lucerne Valley. She is a clerk at the Center Market in Lucerne. I advised her that we were trying to make contact with her in regards to RITA COBB. It was understood through several interviews that we had conducted that possibly she had seen RITA COBB on Saturday, 9-21-85, in the store making a purchase. CAROL stated that she worked the 1:00 in the afternoon until 9:00 in the evening shift at the Center Market on Friday and Saturday and that she believes she saw her after 7:00 on either of those days. She stated it was either 7:00 to 9:00, it was after the manager left for home. I showed her a photograph, and she stated she does not know of RITA and she can't remember whether it was Friday or Saturday night. She states she gets a lot of people through the market and she cannot be sure. She did, however, state that whenever RITA comes in to make a purchase, she always writes a check for the amount. She states that check could tell the exact date of when RITA came in.

During previous contact with KARLA RIDDLE, she stated that if she paid for the purchase with a check it would give the exact date and those checks had already been turned into the bank.

CONTACT WITH BANK:

It was found that the Center Market makes their bank deposits Friday; therefore, the last activity that they show, RITA COBB's account was a

TELEPHONE CONTACT:

Approximately 0852 hours, Friday, 9-27-85, I had telephone contact with DARYL CRAMER. He had telephoned me at my office for his mother's status on her case during which time he gave me information that could be usable in the investigation. He advised me that during his search of his mother's residence on Highway 18 in Lucerne Valley, he mentioned that he could not find a gold chain necklace that she had. He stated it is apparently worth approximately $1,000.00, maybe more. He described it as a rope type gold chain; he could not give me the length; however, it is approximately one-quarter inch in diameter. He states if there was something wrong with it to be repaired or to be cleaned or something to that nature, she would take it to the Ring Factory located in a shopping center there at Bear Valley Road and Hesperia Road. He also advised me that he recalls approximately three to four months ago that his mother, RITA COBB, had made the statement if anything ever happens to me and the gold chain is missing, it's FRED, meaning FRED BEDARD. He also told me that FRED BEDARD possibly knew HELEN BROOKS. He could not expound upon that statement.

I then asked him if he had possession of the victim's check book. He stated he did and I asked him several questions in regards to deposits and the last checks that were written in her check book. He stated that the last entry was 9-20-85, being a deposit of apparently a paycheck at the bank and then the last check written before that was an insurance payment made on 9-16-85. He stated that there was a check written to PATRICIA's Cafe on 9-15-85, and to Reflections, a place where she apparently got her hair done on 9-13-85. I then requested information about when he receives a phone bill or when his mother receives a phone bill. He stated that they had just received one and that the cut off date was 9-7-85. I then requested of him to notify us as soon as possible or make contact with the telephone company for the new phone bill or toll calls made from the residence in regards to the weekend starting 9-20-85, to 9-23-85.

CONTACT MADE:

On Friday, 9-27-85, Detective BROWN and myself made contact at the Ring Factory located in the Von's Shopping Mall, Hesperia and Bear Valley Road. It was found that no jewelry was at that location that belonged to RITA

On 10/22/85, at approximately 1045 hours, I contacted Ms. Holotoff at her residence. I told Ms. Holotoff that I was interested in her ex-boyfriend DAVID LEFTWICH, and the events leading up to her filing an assault charge against him.

Ms. Holotoff stated that on that occasion, DAVID had been drinking very heavily with his brother and that he became angry at her and threw a rock through the window of her car, striking her with the rock. Ms. Holotoff stated that after the assault DAVID had moved out of the Lucerne area and she believed he moved to Arizona. MS. Holotoff stated that she had recently seen David because he stopped by to see her after hearing about the death of Rita Cobb.

When I asked Ms. Holotoff about the relationship between Ms. Cobb and David Leftwich, she told me that they would ride to work together and that they were good friends. When asked whether or not she felt that David would assault Rita, Ms. Holotoff stated that she did not believe that David would hurt Rita at all.

I asked Ms. Holotoff whether or not she knew what type of blood that David had, and she stated that she did not know what his blood type was.

I requested that Ms. Holotoff attempt to contact David Leftwich as soon as possible and have him contact me so that I could interview him in this matter.

On 11-27-85, at approximately 1100 hours, I contacted both of the above-named females at the Magic Carpet Travel Agency and there requested any information they had in reference to either RITA COBB or HELEN BROOKS. Ms. RACABS stated that she recalled RITA COBB and she recalled that she had served her in the past. Upon checking her records she found that Ms. COBB had booked a vacation to Canada in 1984. She stated that Ms. COBB was accompanied by her son on this trip.

Upon further checking of the records of the business for the name of HELEN BROOKS, the name could not be found in the records of the business. INVESTIGATIVE LEAD:

On 2-3-86, I was advised by Sergeant BAKER of the Sheriff's Homicide Detail that he had been in contact with Sergeant QUINTARD of the Lucerne Valley Station, and that Sergeant QUINTARD had advised him that a subject named JOSEPH SAUNDERS had committed suicide on January 24, 1986. Sergeant QUINTARD was aware of the fact that Mr. SAUNDERS was an acquaintance of RITA COBB and stated that there was no apparent reason for the suicide. The possibility does exist that the suicide was committed because of acts taken against RITA COBB. I was assigned by Sergeant BAKER to then look into the possibilities of obtaining blood samples for comparison with any samples that the Crime Lab currently had with them to either eliminate or to identify Mr. SAUNDERS as a possible suspect. I was further advised that Deputy Coroner MARSHALL FRANEY was in possession of a handwritten log written by JOSEPH SAUNDERS in which he had kept a running diary of his actions.

CONTACT WITH ROOT LABORATORIES:

On 2-5-86, at approximately I went to the ROOT LABORATORIES in San Bernardino and there made contact with a GREG OLSEN who is a technician at that facility and advised him that I needed a sample of blood taken from the autopsy conducted on JOSEPH SAUNDERS. We then checked the records and found that the autopsy conducted on JOSEPH SAUNDERS was number 122-86. Mr. OLSEN then drew off some of the blood that was available and placed it into a container and presented it to me.

At approximately 1115 hours on 2-5-86, I took the vial of blood that I had obtained from the ROOT LABORATORIES to the Sheriff's Crime Lab and submitted it as Item C of the laboratory report.

CONTACT WITH DARRYL KRAEMER: (son of victim)

At approximately 1500 hours, Monday, 9-15-86, I made telephone contact with Mr. DARRYL KRAEMER, son of the victim RITA COBB. I asked Mr. KRAEMER if he would be available to come to the Victorville Station where I could process a set of latent fingerprints from him for further investigative leads and for elimination purposes.

At approximately 1000 hours, Tuesday, 9-16-86, Mr. KARAEMER came to the Victorville Sheriff's Station. At that time I took two latent print cards and one palm card from Mr. KRAEMER'S hands. I then asked Mr. KRAEMER if he had any objections to giving me a blood sample for further evidentiary value. He stated he did nto and we then proceeded to ST. Mary's Urgent Care Center where Sex Kit #006619 was used to obtain a blood sample, drawn by LVN SHERRY FONHAM at approximately 1135 hours, this date.

IT SHOULD ALSO BE NOTED that during the period we were at St. Mary's Urgent Care Center and just prior to the blood being drawn by LVN FONHAM, I took a saliva sample using two cotton swabs found in the Sex Kit #006619 to attain a saliva sample from Mr. KRAEMER'S mouth.

It was during the collection of this evidence that we, again, asked Mr. KRAEMER what he had heard about his mother's death. He stated the following.

INTERVIEW WITH DARRYL KRAEMER:

Mr. KRAEMER said that approximately June of 1986 he had heard from PHYLLIS, a bartender at the Zodiac Lounge, that a white, male known only as PETERSON, had come in and told her that another individual, known only as GIBBS, believed to be MERYL GIBBS, had told him (PETERSON) that he had killed a woman approxiamtely two to three months prior to GIBBS' death. PETERSON then told Phyllis that GIBBS had committed suicide after he had killed his wife and possible GIBBS was responsible for the death of RITA COBB. He also stated that perhaps the other items ought to be checked out and we asked what he was speaking of and he stated the residence directly across the street from his mother's home, on Highway 18 in Lucerne Valley, is occupied by a family identified as the STONES. The owner, DAN STONE, had a son described as a white, male adult, 32 years of age, 200 pounds living at that residence at the time of his mother's death and within a couple of days after the death Mr. STONES son left the area. Mr. KRAEMER thought this was unusual and asked that this be investigated also.

We then asked Mr. KRAEMER if he knew of any relations or ties his mother had to the Palm Desert, Coachella, Indio, etc. area and he responded by saying that a DORIS JACKSON, a close friend of his mother, had at one time lived in the Palm Springs area, however she is currently living in Missouri, and she has two sons whose names are unknown. He also stated that DORIS has a guy living with her at the time and his name was KEN, unknown last.

We then questioned DARRYL KRAEMER as to his mother's background and marital history. He stated that his mother had been married to Mr. COBB approximately 10 years. This was the third marriage for her. He stated that his real father was his mother's first marriage, and that had lasted approximately 12 years. His real father is currently living in Texas. He stated that her second husband, identified as a PAUL SIMON, who has a son of his own, identified as PAUL SIMON, JR.; they are both currently living in the Lancaster area. She was married to him for approximately 3 years. This marriage ended in divorce and subsequently she married Mr. COBB, to whom she had been married for 10 years until his death, approximately 1979 or 1980.

Mr. KRAEMER stated, initially, that he suspected PAUL SIMON, JR. of perpetrating this type of crime as he is currently living with MARTA SIMON, PAUL SIMON JR's, ex wife and at one time the Sr. SIMON had made mention that he (DARRYL KRAEMER) had stolen his son's wife, and he would get back at them somehow. He stated that PAUL SIMON Sr., his former step-father, is a retired Army sergeant and the last time he had seen him was in 1983. He could add nothing further of investigative value to the marital status and family history of his mother.

ARRIVAL OF SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY SHERIFF'S CRIME LAB:

At approximately 0930 hours, Wednesday, 9-17-86, Detective BESKY arrived at the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Crime Lab where we met with Criminalist PHILLIP KELLET. We gave San Bernardino County Sex Kit #006619 and Mr. KELLET analyzed the same in our presence. We were advised that DARRYL KRAEMER'S blood type was type A, thereby eliminating him as a possible suspect in the homicide of his mother RITA COBB. Refer to Crime Lab supplemental report.

ADVISAL:

At approximately 1530 hours, Thursday, 12/18/86, I was contacted by Detective LONG of the Homicide Detail. Detective LONG stated that he had been in touch with Sergeant QUINTARD of the Lucerne Valley Station and that Sergeant QUINTARD had related to Detective LONG that a possible informant identified as CATHERINA BARNETT had possible knowledge of a suspect in the BROOKS/COBB homicides.

Detective LONG advised me that an appointment had been set up at 0900 hours, for Friday, 12/19/86, for Mrs. BARNETT to come to the Victorville Station to be interviewed by Homicide Detail personnel.

INTERVIEW: BARNETT, CATHERINA HENRIETTA
WFA-61, DOB: 10/26/25
Home address: 16824 Cresentview Drive, Victorville, CA
Home telephone number: (619) 245-3501
Unemployed/disabled

At approximately 0925 hours, Friday, 12/19/86, Detective TUTTLE of the Victorville Station and I, Detective KNAPP, of the Homicide Detail, interviewed Mrs. BARNETT at the Victorville Station.

Mrs. BARNETT stated that at one time she had been married to an individual identified as ELMER CHARLES CLASSEN, JR., a white, male adult, 48 years with a DOB of 6/15/38. She stated that she had married Mr. CLASSEN in 1969 and divorced him in 1976. She stated that she had information about events that had transpired during their marriage that she felt may be relevant to the homicide investigation relating to RITA COBB and HELEN BROOKS.

Mrs. BARNETT stated that she had met Mr. CLASSEN while working at the phone company during the day where MR. CLASSEN's sister was also employed. She stated, however, their socializing began while she was employed at a bar in Apple Valley, formerly The Shack bar. She also stated that during the course of their marriage, Mr. CLASSEN was very violent and particularly during the period of time in which they were making love. She went on to state that these mood changes seemed to correlate with his consumption of pills and marijuana. When asked what type of pills her former husband would take, she stated that they were red and white.

She also stated that it was not uncommon for CLASSEN to choke her during lovemaking and for him to become very physically violent. She stated that he would very often carry a large handkerchief with him and at times had threatened to strangle her with it. She also stated that CLASSEN was a member of the Elks and Moose Lodge and very frequently socialized at the Apple Valley Inn.

When asked where her former husband was from, she stated that she thought it was Colorado Springs in Colorado. She also stated that during the course of their marriage, he would not divulge much of his prior history, except during the course of lovemaking when he would go into a story of when he was a small child and four or five of the neighbor boys were taken on a hike by a fourteen year old juvenile and the four or five neighbor boys never returned. Their bodies were found the next day, choked. She stated that when he began to tell this story he immediately would begin choking her. He's also stated to her in the past that he could not return to the State of Colorado, but she did not know why.

At one point during a conversation while they were married, he had started to tell her about hurting somebody pretty bad one time, however she stated that it was during a mood change and he would not finish the discussion. She was left with the impression that he had killed somebody in Colorado.

She also stated that it would not be uncommon for him to use filthy and foul language during the course of sexual intercourse and that he was always bragging about the number of women that he could have or make love to. She also added that her husband seemed to enjoy violent lovemaking and she felt that he also participated in "orgies".

When asked what type of sexual preferences her husband had, she stated that it was predominately oral sex and sexual intercourse. She also added that her husband always insisted that her hands be behind her back while they were making love.

We then asked Mrs. BARNETT if she thought her husband was bi-sexual and she stated that he did have a close friend by the name of KENNY KIDD and that one time she had walked in and caught them holding hands.

She stated that she had not seen KENNY KIDD in quite some time and that to her knowledge, KIDD and his wife had gotten a divorce at approximately the same time that she divorced CLASSEN. She also stated that although she has not seen KENNY KIDD, she believes that he is employed at Kaiser Gypsen with CLASSEN.

She also stated that she believes her former husband was in some armed forces because he had assisted her in purchasing her home with funding via the GI Bill.

She also stated that she knows her former husband has two daughters, as these daughters would visit their father while she was married to him.

We then asked Mrs. BARNETT how this information had come to Sergeant QUINTARD and she stated that she was friends of Sergeant QUINTARD's wife and relayed the information to Mrs. QUINTARD, who, in turn, had told her husband. She also stated that she feels very remorseful that she has not spoken up sooner, however, she is very afraid of her former husband and at one time had shot him. She describes this as being approximately 1976, in which he had been banging on her bedroom window. She stated that she then saw him leave the residence in his vehicle and a short time later, something crashed through the window in the home. She stated she did not believe it was him because he had a passkey and she fired one shot through the window, striking her husband. She said she had no idea it was him, she thought it was an intruder. She stated that the outcome was that no charges were filed due to those circumstances.

We then questioned Mrs. BARNETT as to her knowledge of her husband's blood type. She stated that her husband suffered of an extreme case of boils on the face. He has facial scars and at one time he was being treated by Doctor DUDLEY in Apple Valley. She also said that Doctor DUDLEY had told her husband that he should never give blood because his blood type is very rare. She also stated that if we attempt to contact Doctor DUDLEY, that he may furnish the information on the blood type as an investigative lead in the BROOKS/COBB investigation.

Again, Mrs. BARNETT stated that her husband seemed to suffer drastic mood changes in the course of lovemaking, when he was under the influence of the red and white pills or marijuana and that it was very common for him to choke her to a point where she would fake unconsciousness in an attempt to get him off her.

She also stated that it would not be uncommon for him to throw her around the residence and attempt to kill her while making the verbal statements that he was going to kill her, while under the influence of these drugs and/or narcotics.

She also describes her husband as at times wearing glasses and at times having a beard and msutache. She stated that his hair is a combination of a blondish brown with a reddish-tinge.

Mrs. BARNETT could offer nothing further of investigative value and the interview was terminated. A tape recording of the interview will be held in the case file.

If you are poor ... work.
 If you are rich ... continue to work.
 If you are burdened with seemingly unfair responsibilities ... work.

If you are happy ... keep right on working.
 Idleness gives room for doubts and fear.
 If disappointments come ... work.
 If sorrow overwhelms you, and loved ones are not true ... work.

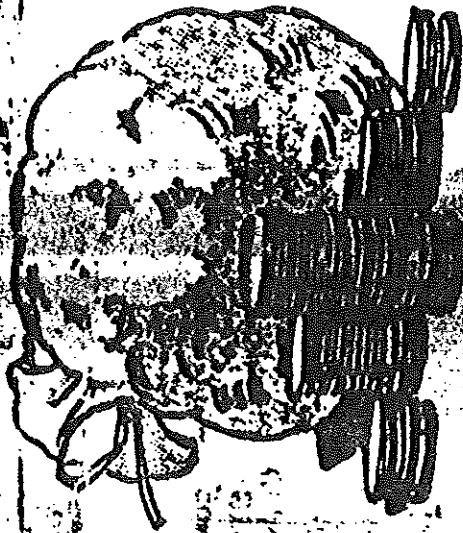

When faith falters and reason fails ... just work.
 When dreams are shattered and hope seems dead ... work.
 Work as if your life were in peril.

No matter what ails you ... work.
 Work faithfully ... work with faith.
 Work is the greatest remedy available.
 Work will cure both mental and physical afflictions.

Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do which must be done whether you like it or not. Being forced to work, and forced to do your best will breed in you temperance, self-control, diligence, strength of will, content, and a hundred other virtues which the idle will never know.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION:

On Tuesday, August 9, 1988, approximately 1500 hrs., I interviewed William Rodger BACKHOFF at his trailer located in the back of 9190 Chickasaw, Lucerne Valley, California.

Accompanying me in the interview was Det. Bruce MC PHAIL, of the San Bernardino Sheriff's Department, Homicide Detail.

As I walked up to the trailer, Mr. BACKHOFF was sitting in the doorway with the door open, drinking a bottle of beer. I introduced myself to him and he introduced himself to me as William BACKHOFF.

Mr. BACKHOFF questioned the reason we were there, and I told him Det. MC PHAIL and I were investigating the Rita COBB homicide that occurred several years ago.

I asked Mr. BACKHOFF if we could step inside his trailer to talk and he complied. As I sat down in the kitchen area, I asked Mr. BACKHOFF to relax and be seated also, and he became very angry and yelled at me, "Why the fuck should I have to sit down in my own trailer? I don't have to sit down."

He was drinking a bottle of beer when I was talking to him when I informed Mr. BACKHOFF that we were investigating the Rita COBB homicide and asked him to sit down. He started pacing back and forth in the trailer, and then took a drink out of a full bottle of Jose Cuervo liquor. Mr. BACKHOFF seemed angry and then he started to calm down. Then at one point, Mr. BACKHOFF became very happy and started laughing.

I asked Mr. BACKHOFF if he knew Rita COBB, and he told me, "Yeah, that's that girl that got killed. Man, that really beats the fuck out of me. She was killed in her house."

I asked Mr. BACKHOFF how he knew of Rita COBB, and he said he had a girlfriend by the name of Geraldine FERDELL. He said that Geraldine FERDELL knew Rita COBB, and that's how he became acquainted with Rita was through Geraldine. He said that his girlfriend died of cancer a couple years ago.

Supplemental Information--BACKHOFF, William (Continued):

Mr. BACKHOFF then stated to me, "What the fuck's happening with that case? How come the guy hasn't been caught yet? It's a bunch of bullshit. You police officers aren't doing your job."

I asked Mr. BACKHOFF how long he had known Rita, and he replied, "One year." I asked Mr. BACKHOFF if he had any idea who the suspects were, and he told me, "Yeah, there are three good names that I know." I asked Mr. BACKHOFF what were the names of the people that he thinks are suspects, and he stated, "Well, I don't know, why should I help you guys out? I don't wanta get involved. You police officers have really fucked this up."

Right after this short series of questions, an intoxicated Mexican male along with his 18-year old brother WALKED into the trailer and started conversing with Mr. BACKHOFF. I told Mr. BACKHOFF that we should conclude the conversation and start it another time. Mr. BACKHOFF told me, "No, let's finish this right now. I want to finish this right now. I want to talk to you." I complied with Mr. BACKHOFF and I started questioning again regarding Rita COBB, and the Mexican male who was in the trailer started talking to Mr. BACKHOFF and he lacked in concentration in the questions I was asking him.

I then excused myself, started walking out of the trailer, and told Mr. BACKHOFF that I thought it would be best if we continue the conversation at another time, and he became very adamant that he wanted to talk to me right then and there. I told him that it wouldn't be a good idea seeing that he had his friends down there, and Mr. BACKHOFF again told me that he wanted to talk to me. I again told him, "No," and told him that it would be better to continue the conversation some other time.

Det. MC PHAIL and I then walked to our car where we left the area.

QUESTION: William, yesterday you told me that there were three guys that you thought may have been involved in the murder of Rita Cobb. Can you tell me more about that?

ANSWER: Yeah. As a matter of fact, I think it's three to five guys that maybe involved or who I think may have done it.

QUESTION: Lets start off with the first person who you think did it.

ANSWER: O.K. I think that two of them are Geraldine Ferdell. Geraldine Ferdell was my girlfriend and she had two son's. Geraldine was real good friends of Rita Cobb and that's how I met Rita was through Geraldine. Like I said, I don't know the name of her sons but they were both a couple of dildos and I think they may have done it.

QUESTION: O.K. So you think they may have done it. Why is that now?

ANSWER: Geraldine Ferdell had a room divider or a counter, no it was room divider, that belonged to her. Well, Geraldine gave it to Rita Cobb and her sons got pissed off about it. The sons wanted Rita Cobb to give it back to them. Rita Cobb refused and didn't want to give it back. This wasn't really a high dollar thing, ya know, it was just this room divider.

QUESTION: So, you think because of the room divider, and the two sons did not get it back from Rita Cobb that they may be responsible for the murder of Rita Cobb?

ANSWER: Yeah.

QUESTION: O.K. William. Who is the next person that you think may be suspect in the murder?

OBSERVATIONS:

ON 092685, At approximately 0020 hours, Reserve DEPUTY MITTS and I were patrolling Hwy 247. We saw a Brown Ford Pick up near the stop sign at Hwy 247 and Barstow rd, then turn left. I followed the truck for 1.5 miles. In that distance, the driver crossed the center line 5 times, and hit the right shoulder 3 times.

CONTACT WITH DRIVER:

As I approached the Ford pick-up, the driver opened the door and fell out of the truck. As I helped the man up, I could smell a very strong odor of alcohol on his breath. The man was identified by his CAL DL as William Backhoff.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

On 2-8-90, at approximately 0845 hours, I was informed by Lt. Baker that a subject by the name of Vanvoorhis, Warren Adrian, DOB: 12-20-44, had been arrested in Lucerne Valley for attempt rape.

Because the two victims on the above report numbers had been raped and murdered and the suspect in these cases had a unique blood type, Lt. Baker suggested that blood from the subject be taken so he could be eliminated from the two cases.

On 2-8-90, at approximately 0900 hours, I assigned Detective Gray and Detective Yost to go to the Central Detention Center and make contact with the subject and have a yellow top vial of blood taken from the subject.

On 2-8-90, at approximately 0945 hours, Detective Gray and Detective Yost returned from the Central Detention Center with the vial of blood. I then turned the vial of blood to the Sheriff's Crime Lab and entered it under item LR # 44659 for blood typing.

On 2-8-90, at approximately 1400 hours, I was contacted by Criminalist Stockwell and he advised me that the subject's blood type did not match that of the suspect's on the above two cases. The subject, Vanvoorhis was thus eliminated as being a suspect on the two cases.

WITNESS INTERVIEW: DARYL AND MARTA KRAEMER:

On Sunday, February 22, 2009, at approximately 1000 hours, Detective Rob Alexander and I interviewed Marta and Daryl Kraemer at the Victorville City Sheriff's Station. Present for the interview was Marta, Daryl, Alexander, and I. Daryl is the son of the decedent Rita Cobb. Marta is Daryl's wife. At the time of the murder Daryl and Marta were boyfriend/girlfriend and both found Rita deceased in the house in 1985. Marta's maiden name is Simon. We asked both of them numerous questions and the following is a summary of their audio recorded statement.

Marta and Daryl have been married for the last 18 years.

Daryl said his mother Rita Cobb drank a lot of hard alcohol back in the 1980's leading up to her murder. When Rita drank she could become very mean and nasty towards others.

On or about July, 1985 Rita and her friend Doris Jackson took a trip to Canada. Doris was one of Rita's best friends. They stayed in Canada for 2-3 weeks and then returned home.

Rita frequented the bars in Lucerne Valley. On or about September, 1985 Rita left Daryl a message on his telephone answering machine. Rita was worried about something and said she needed to talk to him. Daryl believes the message was close in time to when she was murdered.

After receiving the telephone message he returned his mothers call several times over the weekend, but he never got a hold of her. After receiving no reply over the weekend Daryl telephoned Rita's work on Monday morning. Daryl was informed by Rita's boss that Rita had not shown up to work. It was then that Marta and he drove to Rita's house and found her dead.

Brad Bedard was one of Rita's boyfriends near the time of her murder, but he has since passed away.

Interview Continued: Daryl and Marta Kraemer

John Sullivan and Frances aka "Pinky" were very close friends of Rita's. John and Frances probably knew Rita the best.

Rita was an executive secretary at the Spring Valley Lake County Club. Rita took her job very seriously and was always professional. Even though Rita drank alcohol at home and over the weekends she never let the alcohol affect her while at work. Rita was very professional, dressed very nicely and worked hard.

Rita's friend Doris Jackson owned a real estate company in Lucerne Valley. The reality company was possibly named Doris Jackson Reality. Doris relocated to an area near Palm Springs sometime before Rita was murdered. Doris today would be around 75 years old. Daryl believes Doris has never been interviewed during the homicide investigation.

Daryl and Rita had not been speaking to each other for a couple of months prior to his mother's trip to Canada. Prior to that Daryl and Rita spoke over the telephone on almost a regular basis.

Jim Cobb was Rita's husband, but he died of cancer before Rita was murdered.

Rita frequented bars in Lucerne Valley and flirted with guys her age and younger. Daryl knew Rita had been with at least one or two men maybe 10 years younger than she was. Sometime before her murder Daryl heard Rita was possibly seeing someone in Big Bear, but he never heard who it was.

Fred Bedard and Rita dated from August, 1984, but broke up about three months before Rita was murdered.

Rita frequented the Y-Cafe, The Zodiac Bar, and the VFW. Rita also belonged to the Moose Lodge because she was a member. If there was a bar in Lucerne Valley Rita had been in it. Rita mostly frequented the bars on Friday and Saturday evenings. Daryl heard Rita was possibly seen in one of the bars that Friday night prior to being murdered. Daryl heard she had been seen with a white male adult wearing an FBI hat. The person wearing the FBI hat was described as looking like a police officer or military type person.

Daryl would go into some of the bars with Rita. Once Rita became intoxicated she typically got real mean towards everybody. Daryl once told Rita that her mouth was going to get her killed.

Before John and Frances Sullivan got together, John and Rita had a sexual fling. Daryl estimated Rita and John Sullivan had been together in the early 1980's prior to John and Frances becoming boyfriend/girlfriend.

Daryl described the pool of men and women in Lucerne Valley as pretty small, because it was a very small community and everybody knew everybody.

Daryl was not aware of who Rita was having sex with prior to her murder. Daryl had only heard that Rita was possibly seeing someone in Silver Lakes and Big Bear.

When Daryl later thought about his mother's murder he came up with a theory. Daryl theorized Rita went to a bar and started drinking. While intoxicated she most likely met a younger man and brought him home. While at the house Rita probably got belligerent with that person and he killed her. Daryl formulated that theory based upon what he knew of his mother and how she could treat people after becoming intoxicated.

Interview Continued: Daryl and Marta Kraemer

When Daryl first entered Rita's house after not being able to get a hold of her over the weekend he smelled something really bad, which he associated with a septic tank backing up. When Daryl walked into the house he noticed all the windows were closed, the swamp cooler was turned off and the heater was turned on. Daryl described the temperature in the house as very hot. (Note: According to weather reports the outside temperature at 2300 hours was 80 degrees.) After Marta and he found Rita deceased they opened some of the windows and turned off the heater. Marta then called 911.

Marta said she remembered seeing a bag of pistachio nuts in the backseat of Rita's car the day they found her dead. Marta also remembered seeing Rita's car keys on the desk by the telephone in the house.

Daryl said when they pulled up to Rita's house the garage door was open and her Cadillac was parked inside. Marta and he walked in through the unlocked garage door that led into the house. At the time nobody was living in the house except for Rita.

Marta said she recalled seeing Rita naked on the bed with one leg propped up. Marta also remembered the radio in the bedroom was on and the volume was very loud. Rita's body appeared to be swollen and the smell was awful, so she opened one of the bedroom windows.

Marta also turned off the portable radio "boom box" in order to make the telephone call to the police. Marta guessed it was an AM station playing because they did not receive many if any FM stations back then in Lucerne Valley.

Daryl said it was not normal for his mother to have the radio blaring that loud. He knows this about his mother because he lived with her many years.

Marta said she also opened the front door to the house in order to air it out.

Interview Continued: Daryl and Marta Kraemer

When Daryl looked around the house he recalled seeing clothes hung up in her closet. Rita only had metal hangers back then. Her closet was mostly organized but there were clothes and other items on the floor in the closet. Daryl described his mother as some what organized but she did not clean the house on a regular basis.

Marta said she recalled seeing Rita's suits hanging up in the closet. Marta said they were all nice and neat in the closet. Marta said Rita liked to look very professional at work. Marta did not recall seeing anything on the floor or anywhere else in the house that threw her off as if something was different.

Rita only had one propane wall heater in the house. This was the heater they had to turn off. It was very unusual to have the heat on at that time of the year. Daryl theorized that the person who killed his mother turned the heater on in order to cause his mother to decompose more rapidly, which would destroy evidence more quickly. (Note: When I checked the weather for that time of the year it averaged a high of 88 degrees and a low of 54 degrees)

Marta said when she saw Rita lying on the bed with one leg propped up she noticed Rita's purse was on the right side of Rita's body and Rita's wedding ring was on the nightstand next to her. Later, Marta and Daryl took a look at Rita's purse and it did not appear that anything had been taken and the contents of her purse had not been dumped out on the bed or anywhere else in the house that she saw.

Both Daryl and Marta not only saw Rita's purse and wedding ring in the bedroom with her, but they also saw jewelry, the keys to her Cadillac and other valuables in plain sight still in the house. Marta and Daryl both said it definitely was not a burglary or robbery, because the house was not ransacked and the property visible to them had not been stolen.

Interview Continued: Daryl and Marta Kraemer

Daryl said Rita had a dog which was a lab mix. The dog was very intimidating if you were to show up at her house alone. If Rita were to bring someone to the house with her then the dog would not become aggressive. The day Daryl found his mother dead he noticed the dog was running around outside in the desert. Normally when Rita slept she brought the dog in with her and when she went to work or went out for the day she would keep the dog outside. Daryl thought it was unusual that the dog was outside while Rita lay dead inside her house.

Marta and Daryl both said they did not know where Rita routinely kept her purse and car keys inside the house.

Alexander asked Daryl if he knew anyone who drove or owned a silver Ford Pinto back when his mother was killed. Daryl thought for a minute and said the only person he could remember that owned a Pinto was Doris Jackson and her Pinto was green.

Daryl said his mother's good friends were Doris Jackson, Frances and John Sullivan, and John Stowe.

Daryl heard John Stowe's son moved back to the east coast for some unknown reason after the murder. Daryl was suspicious because of the timing of the move, but then again Daryl said everyone was a suspect to him after his mother was killed and he did not look at anyone the same.

Daryl said Rita not only worked at the County Club but she also golfed and was in a woman's golf league. Rita had many friends whom she golfed with, but Daryl did not know any of their names.

Daryl also remembered his mother drinking and hanging out with people at the VFW (American Legion) in Lucerne Valley. Rita also possibly frequented an American Legion down in the Valley in San Bernardino County.

Interview Continued: Daryl and Marta Kraemer

Daryl only recalled the names of two neighbors who lived by his mother. They were Hank Millwee. Hank lived up the street and behind Rita. Hanks telephone number back then was 619-248-6087. Daryl also recalled Don Stowe who lived across the highway from Rita.

Rita lived in the main house on her property and there was a house to the rear. The guest house had not been rented out for about two years prior to the murder.

Alexander asked Daryl and Marta if they knew John Yablonsky. Daryl said he does not know John Yablonski but he knows George Yablonsky. Alexander showed Daryl and Marta a photograph of John Yablonsky. Daryl said John looks a lot like George. Alexander asked Daryl if his mother ever dated John Yablonsky. Daryl said not that he is aware of.

Daryl said Pam Romero was married to George Yablonsky. Pam had been married several times and used the last names of Romero, Smith, and Yablonsky. Today Pam uses the last name of Hardwick and at one time was married to Donny Hardwick. Pam and George had only been married for about a year before their marriage ended. Daryl heard George was violent toward Pam. Daryl said Pam will be a good source of information if we want to know more about the Yablonsky family.

Alexander asked Daryl if he knew what vehicles George Yablonsky owned or drove. Daryl said he could not remember.

Daryl said he drank with Pam and George Yablonsky on many occasions while at the bars and they took trips together. One trip they took together was to Colorado. Daryl never met John Yablonsky and did not even know he existed back then.

Daryl said George Yablonsky owned a door and window installation business. Daryl believes he first met George sometime in 1981. As Daryl thought back to 1985 he recalled George possibly drove a little pick-up truck. Pam and George married on or about 1984 and split up sometime after his mother was murdered. Daryl knew George was married to someone else before Pam, but he could not remember her name.

Daryl said he lived with his mother Rita from 1981 off and on thru 1983. The only vehicle his mother owned was the Cadillac. Daryl first moved to Lucerne Valley in 1979.

Daryl said his mother did like to bowl and she was possibly in a bowling league at one time or another. The only bowling alley that existed back then was the bowling alley on Highway 18 in Apple Valley. Daryl was unaware if his mother frequented any of the bars in Apple Valley but guessed that she may have frequented the Apple Valley County Club.

Back in 1985 Daryl said they were four large businesses in the Lucerne Valley area. They were Kaiser Cement, Plustofer, Pfizer, and the mines.

Daryl described the clientele at the Y-Café as younger than the Zodiac Bar. There seemed to more fights and problems at the Y-Cafe. Daryl described the Zodiac as having an older local crowd. Daryl described the Moose Lodge as where the "older people" would go and rarely was there ever a problem there.

Daryl said when he found his mother he recalled all of the doors were unlocked. When Daryl lived with his mother she did not lock up prior to going to sleep because it was a rural area. The only time she locked up was when she left the house whether going to work or elsewhere. Daryl also recalled Rita almost always closed the garage door prior to going to sleep or when she left the house. If she was home and not sleeping the garage door was typically open.

Daryl and Marta described the temperature inside the house when they found Rita dead as being in the high 80's.

Daryl said Rita moved into that house on or near 1978.

Interview Continued: Daryl and Marta Kraemer

We asked Daryl and Marta who we should talk to if we want to find out more about the Yablonsky family. Daryl said we should talk to Pam Hardwick. Pam and George never had any kids together but Pam would be a great source of information because she was a big gossip and routinely gathered information because that is the type of person she was back then. Daryl said he thinks Pam will be a "gold mine" of information.

Daryl said when he lived with his mother she was not a real late night person on Friday and Saturday evenings. His mother did go out to the bars but usually would return home by midnight. She was not the type of person who would close down the bar. On Sunday nights through Thursday nights she would go to bed maybe between 10:00 and 11:00 PM in order to get enough sleep for work.

Daryl said Pam Hardwick has three children. They are Harley Langford, Minnie Langford and Tony Romero. Daryl suggested that we don't talk to Pam unless we are willing to take the chance that information may slip out to others prior to a suspect interview. Daryl suggested that it would be better to talk to Pam after an arrest or suspect interview.

Daryl and Marta did not have any further information to provide at this time and their interview was concluded at approximately 1240 hours.

OTHER INTERVIEW - DEPUTY CHARLES FONVILLE (Victor Valley Station):

On Wednesday, 02/18/09, at approximately 1310 hours, Detective Rob Alexander and I interviewed Deputy Fonville at the Victor Valley Station. Deputy Fonville is very familiar with Lucerne Valley and its citizens. Fonville previously worked for Kaiser Cement from 1974 thru 1986, was a Reserve Deputy in Lucerne Valley from 1980 thru 1986 and later became a sworn full time deputy in 1986 and still is today. Deputy Fonville also knew Rita Cobb. The purpose of the interview was to find out what Deputy Fonville knew about John Yablonsky, Rita Cobb, and other residents in Lucerne Valley near the time of the murder.

Present for the interview was Deputy Fonville, Detective Alexander, and I. The interview took place in an interview room at the Victor Valley Station. The interview was recorded via an audio/digital recorder. Detective Alexander and I asked Deputy Fonville numerous questions and the following is a summary of his statement.

Fonville said he worked for Kaiser Cement in Lucerne Valley from 1974 until he retired in 1986. Kaiser Cement is now known as the Mitsubishi Cement Plant. Fonville became a Reserve Deputy in 1980 and was assigned to the Victor Valley Station. Fonville worked as a Reserve Deputy through 1986 before he was sworn in as a full time deputy on January 6th, 1986. When Fonville was sworn in as a full time deputy he maintained his assignment at the Victor Valley Station where he still is today.

Fonville recalled the last time he saw Rita Cobb was in either in 1981 or 1982. Deputy Fonville described Rita as a good woman who was always dressed nicely.

Fonville resided in Hesperia from 1974 thru 1992. In 1992 Fonville relocated to Lucerne Valley where he presently resides. Fonville has lived in the high desert since 1957. Fonville has many relatives and friends who also reside in the high desert.

Interview Continued: Charles Fonville

Fonville recalled he first met Rita Cobb in a bar in Lucerne Valley after getting off from work. Many people frequented the bars in Lucerne Valley after work as a way to socialize with one another. Fonville recalled three main bars in Lucerne Valley. The three main bars were the Zodiac Bar, The Y-Café Bar, and the Moose Lodge. Another local drinking spot was the VFW which was used by the war veterans.

The Zodiac Bar had one pool table inside and mostly catered to the locals in Lucerne Valley who were approximately 30 years old and older. The Y Café Bar was generally frequented by out of town desert racers, contractors and employees from the four major businesses in Lucerne Valley. This was a younger crowd than those who generally frequented the Zodiac Bar. There was also one pool table inside the Y Café Bar. The Moose Lodge was for members only. The Moose Lodge served beer and food and its members were tight with one another and were locals from Lucerne Valley.

The four major employers in Lucerne Valley in 1985 were Kaiser Cement who employed about 300 employees, Prifizer who employed about 175 employees, Hi-Grade who employed 15-20 employees and Plustofer who employed about 100 employees. The employees from these four business establishments were known to frequent the bars in Lucerne Valley after getting off from work.

Lucerne Valley did not have a high school or junior high in 1985. Students who were in 6th grade thru 12th grade were transported to the town of Apple Valley to attend school.

Fonville saw Rita numerous times in Lucerne Valley while driving around town. Fonville believed Rita may have been a realtor at the time. Rita was single and her son lived with her at one time possibly in 1980-1981. Fonville did not know Rita's friends or who she associated with. Fonville just mostly saw Rita in passing while in town.

Fonville knew Rita to be polite, but he never saw how she acted while intoxicated. Fonville estimated he spoke to Rita 4-6 times through the years while running into each other at bars in Lucerne Valley.

Alexander showed Fonville a photograph of Rita Cobb and her son Daryl. Fonville positively identified both Rita and Daryl.

Alexander then showed Fonville a photograph of John Yablonsky. Fonville said this person looked real familiar but he did not know his name nor did he know why this person looked familiar to him.

Fonville never saw Rita with any men nor did he know who Rita's boyfriends were. Each time Fonville saw Rita she was usually with her son Daryl.

Alexander asked Fonville if he knew George Yablonsky. Fonville said yes. Fonville met George Yablonski in the late 1980's at the Lyon's Club/Range. Fonville and George ran into each other several times while shooting guns at the range. Fonville recalled that George possibly had one son and one daughter. Fonville believes George still resides in Lucerne Valley and drove a small pick up truck back in the 1980's.

Alexander told Deputy Fonville that someone may have seen a small silver car parked at Rita's house during the time she may have been murdered. Alexander asked Fonville if he knew anyone who had a car like that. Fonville said he would have to think about that one.

Fonville said we should contact "Sherri" who was a bartender for the Zodiac, Y Café, and Moose Lodge. Sherri has a good memory and knew a lot of people back then and most likely still does today. Fonville said if we were to call John O'Rourke at 760-248-2200 he would be able to put us in touch with Sherri. John may also be a good contact as well.

Fonville did not have any further information to provide at this time and his interview was concluded at approximately 1426 hours.

OTHER INTERVIEW: DRAKE, FRANCESCA, AKA: SULLIVAN, MAIDEN: SOWALL

On 030209, at approximately 0730 hours, Detective Rob Alexander and I interviewed Francesca at her residence. The interview had been previously scheduled with her. Francesca was previously married to John Sullivan. The victim, Rita Cobb, had last been seen alive by Francesca and John, at the Sullivan residence. The purpose of the interview was to find out if Francesca had any new information and if she knew John Yablonsky.

Alexander asked Francesca numerous questions and the following was a summary of her audio recorded statement. Francesca said she was living with John Sullivan at Many Springs Ranch in Lucerne Valley. Rita Cobb and John had been friends, prior to Francesca meeting and dating John. Francesca lived about one mile away down the street from the ranch. Francesca knew Rita for about one year before she was murdered.

In 1985, there were three structures on Many Springs Ranch. There was a main house and two cabins. John and she lived in one of the cabins and the other two cabins remained vacant. Even before Francesca moved in with John, the two cabins had been vacant for many years. John and she were caretakers for the ranch and picked pistachio nuts during harvest season. Many Springs Ranch was approximately 40 acres in size. Ella (unknown last name) owned Many Springs Ranch back then. Ella paid John about $50.00 per week to maintain the property and as an added benefit he got to live there for free.

Pistachio harvest season was September through October. During harvest time, John and she mainly picked the pistachio nuts. Once in a while, Ella and her children would also help out. Ella did not have any commercial processing equipment so John and she had to do everything by hand.

When Ella arrived during harvest season, she stayed in the main house. John and she lived in the cabin closest to the main house. Cabin number two remained empty, unless they had guests overnight which was very rare.

Next to Many Springs Ranch was another ranch which harvested pistachio nuts. That ranch was also about 40 acres in size. Francesca believed there were two to four structures on that property at the time. From what Francesca remembered, Art Bishop owned the ranch next door to Many Springs Ranch.

Art had the commercial tree shakers to harvest the nuts and he also implemented the "you-pick" harvesting method. That meant people who wanted to purchase pistachio nuts would come onto the property, pick their own nuts, weigh them and then purchase them from Art.

Francesca believed Art lived in the main house on that property and there may have been two rental properties on his farm. She remembered an older lady named Dusty possibly lived in one of Art's rentals.

One time, Francesca rode her horse along a back trail north of the residence along the hillside. Francesca rode from Many Springs Ranch past Rita's house. Francesca described that area as rugged terrain and inaccessible in a vehicle.

John Sullivan knew Rita for about two years before Francesca moved in with John. Francesca recalled she moved in with John in June of 1983. Francesca had been living in Lucerne Valley at that time since 1981. Rita has been in the nursing field since 1979 and is currently in administration.

Francesca described Rita as a happy lady but she was a drinker. Rita previously had a boyfriend named Fred. Fred and Rita dated for a couple of years but broke up several months before Rita had been murdered.

Darrell was Rita's son. Darrell and Rita had a falling out before she was murdered. Francesca always felt bad for Darrell, because he and his mother had not talked much before she was murdered.

Rita was at Many Springs Ranch before she was found murdered in her house. Francesca did not recall Rita dating any other men around that time, except for Fred. Francesca did not know her that well. Many Springs Ranch was kind of a party spot at times. John and she had barbecues and invited many people over to drink and hang out at times. The people who were invited over were mostly John's friends. They had these types of barbecues maybe every other week or so. Francesca recalled John's close friends were Steve Roberts, Danny, and Bruce Nash. Bruce Nash is Francesca's brother. Cynthia Hooper was Bruce's girlfriend back then. Cynthia and she became very good friends.

John and she rarely went to the local bars to drink alcohol back then. Francesca heard that Rita frequented the local bars quite often and her favorite was possibly the Y Bar. Francesca did not hang out with Rita, unless John was with them.

Rita would hit on guys when she was drunk. Also while drunk, Rita was known to be belligerent. There were a couple of times when Rita even put her hands on people and would grab them or shove them around in an obnoxious manner. Francesca guessed that Rita liked younger men because Fred and John both dated Rita and they were both younger than Rita.

Alexander asked Francesca to recall the last night she saw Rita alive. Francesca said they were all drinking at Many Springs Ranch. Rita was feeling pretty good. Francesca recalled someone had been at the ranch earlier, possibly before Rita arrived, but she could not recall who it was. As Francesca thought about that night, she stated it was a long time ago and she was trying to remember but it was difficult. Francesca said John has a better memory for those types of things and he would most likely be able to assist us in remembering those types of details. At that time, Alexander handed Francesca her statement from 1985, in order for her to read it and refresh her memory. Francesca read her statement. Alexander asked her if it refreshed her memory. Francesca said it refreshed her memory a little bit. The one thing she did not recall saying was that Bruce Lee was at the property. Other than that, her statement looked correct. Francesca said other than the information in her statement she could not remember anything else today.

Alexander showed Francesca a DMV photograph of John Yablonsky which had his name on the photograph. Alexander asked Francesca if she knew John Yablonsky. Francesca said she knows the last name because it is a Lucerne Valley name. Francesca said she does not know John specifically, but she does know there is a Yoblonsky family in Lucerne Valley.

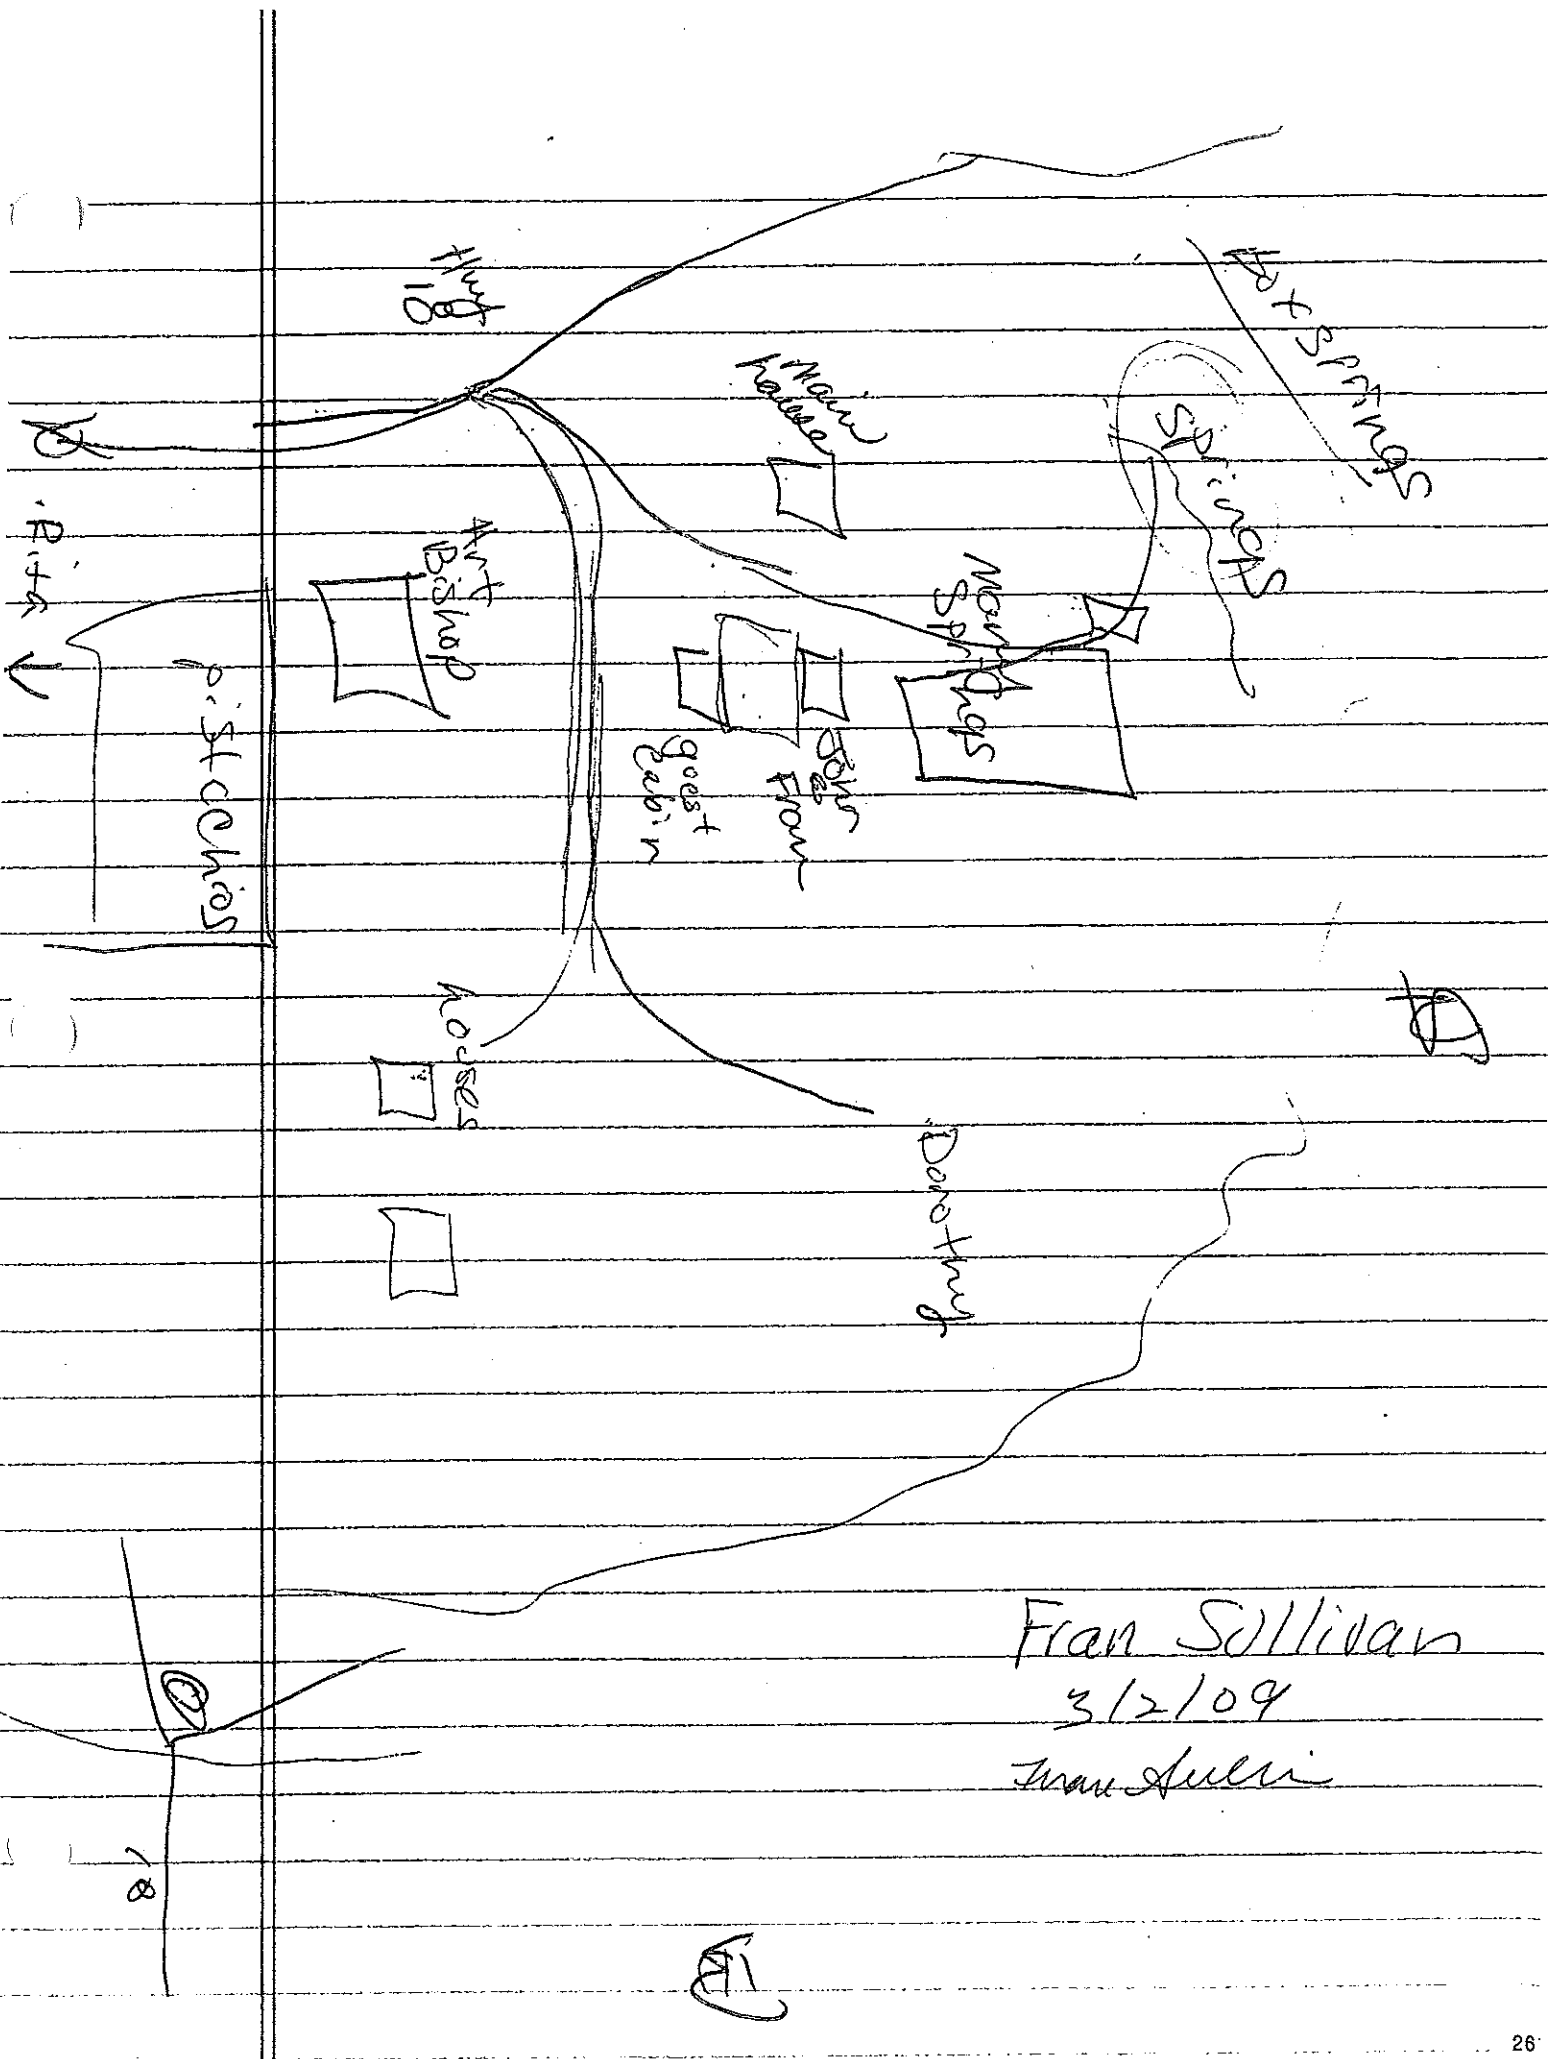

Alexander asked Francesca if she recalled John Yoblonsky or any other Yoblonsky's hanging out at Many Springs Ranch or the ranch next door back when Rita was murdered. Francesca said she does not remember this guy, John Yoblonsky, hanging out at either ranch nor any other Yoblonsky's. Francesca further stated John Sullivan may know the Yoblonsky families and we may want to speak to him.

I asked Francesca if she knows anyone who owned a silver Ford Pinto back in 1985. Francesca said that rings a bell but she will have to think about it. Francesca stated right now she could only recall that she owned a green Ford Pinto.

Francesca provided Bruce Nash's telephone number to us, in order for us to get a hold of him.

Francesca did not have any further information to provide and her statement was concluded at approximately 0840 hours.

OTHER INTERVIEW: YABLONSKY, MELODY, AKA WHITTENBERG

On 030809, at approximately 1425 hours, Detective Rob Alexander and I interviewed Melody at her residence, at the conclusion of the search warrant. Present for the interview was Melody, Alexander, and I. The purpose of the interview was to find out more about her husband, John Yablonsky. Alexander asked Melody numerous questions and the following was a summary of her audio recorded statement.

Melody said her maiden name is Melody Whittenberg. John and she married in 2000. They have a strong marriage and go through the normal every day problems, like any other couple. Melody has not observed anything unusual about John that would send up red flags. Melody considers her sex life with John as normal.

John and she met at a narcotics anonymous meeting in Long Beach, in the late 1990's. Melody knew John's brother, Brian Yablonsky, prior to John. Currently, John and she do not have any children together.

John was previously married to Alicia Smith for eight years. During that marriage, John told her that he (John) was addicted to methamphetamine, partied a lot and lived a loose lifestyle.

Melody said she can't believe John has been arrested for this. There have been no indicators he would do something like this and she never could have imagined he would have been capable of something like this.

John had previously convicted of a crime and served time in state prison. John broke into a judge's house and stole a bike. John was ultimately caught and that was what sent him to state prison.

John had also told her he had been married to Holly.

Alexander asked Melody what John told her on the way to the Signal Hill Police Station. Melody said nothing, he just said it was about Rita.

Melody said she really does not have any other information and is in shock over all of this. Right now she can't think straight and does not know what to do. Melody said if we need to ask her any further questions in the future, we can call her at any time and she will try to help us out.

On Monday, 030909, at approximately 1530 hours, Detective Robert Alexander and I interviewed John at his residence. The interview was conducted after the arrest of John Yablonsky. The purpose of the interview was to find out if John knew Yablonsky. Alexander asked John numerous questions and the following is a summary of his audio-recorded statement.

Sullivan moved to Lucerne Valley in 1976. Upon moving to Lucerne Valley, he lived at Sky High Ranch. In 1978, Sullivan relocated to Long Beach. After one year in Long Beach, Sullivan moved back to Lucerne Valley in 1979. In 1980, Sullivan was hired to look over Many Springs Ranch. Sullivan was the caretaker at Many Springs Ranch from 1980 - 1985.

Sullivan first met Rita Cobb through Art Bishop. Art Bishop lived next door to Sullivan. Art Bishop opened the pistachio farm adjacent to Many Springs Ranch. Sullivan was a handyman and did work around Rita's house from time to time. During that time, Rita and he became good friends. Sullivan described Rita as a very nice lady who liked to party and have fun.

Rita frequented Many Springs Ranch and visited with him and his girlfriend, Francesca, a couple of times per month. Rita usually visited on Friday or Saturday nights. Rita's house was about one mile away from Many Springs Ranch.

Sullivan recalled the last time he saw Rita. Rita arrived either Friday or Saturday evening in her Cadillac. Rita had a bottle of bourbon with her. Also at Many Springs Ranch, was Bruce Nash, Bruce's girlfriend, Cynthia, Francesca and he. While at the ranch, they all socialized and drank alcohol.

Sullivan recalled Rita had arrived around 8:00 p.m. After an hour or so, Rita ran out of bourbon and she asked Sullivan what else he had to drink. Sullivan offered Rita some beer, but Rita said she did not want any beer. Sullivan looked around the house and found some white lightening. Rita drank a small glass of white lightening and they continued to socialize. While outside, Sullivan recalled the weather being real comfortable.

Sometime around 10:00 p.m., Rita said it was time for her to go home. Sullivan and everyone else felt Rita was too intoxicated to drive so they insisted that one of them drive her home. Bruce got into the driver's seat of Rita's Cadillac and drove Rita home, as Cynthia followed behind in her vehicle. Sullivan remained at the ranch with his girlfriend, Francesca, when they all left.

On Monday, Sullivan went to a doctor's appointment in Apple Valley. When he returned to Lucerne Valley, he stopped at a market. While at the market, someone told him there were a lot of police officers at Rita's house. Sullivan left the market and drove to Rita's house. When he arrived at Rita's, there were police officers everywhere. Sullivan found Darrell at the scene. Darrell is Rita's son. Darrell told Sullivan his mother was dead.

From the time Rita had left Many Springs Ranch that Friday or Saturday evening up until Monday, when he spoke to Darrell, Sullivan had not spoken with Rita over the telephone or seen her for that time period.

When Bruce and Cynthia took Rita home, they did not return to Many Springs Ranch because they had also planned to go home. Sullivan could not recall what type of vehicle Cynthia and Bruce drove back then.

Alexander asked Sullivan if Rita rented out the back apartment behind her house. Sullivan said as far as he knew, she had not rented it out.

Alexander showed Sullivan a photograph of John Yablonsky which did not have any personal identifying information on it. Sullivan said he did not recognize the person in the photograph. Alexander asked Sullivan if he knew the Yablonsky family. Sullivan said he knew George Yablonsky and described him as a very nice person. Alexander asked Sullivan if George had any sons or daughters. Sullivan said not that he was aware of. Sullivan recalled that George Yablonsky and Rita's son, Darrell, had been friends at one time.

Alexander asked Sullivan if he knew who Rita had been dating around the time she had been murdered. Sullivan said Rita had been dating Fred, but they ended their relationship sometime before she was murdered.

I asked Sullivan if he knew who owned a Ford Pinto back then. Sullivan said that vehicle sounded familiar but he would have to think about it. I asked Sullivan if he knew who drove a tan colored Toyota pickup truck back then. Sullivan said that vehicle did not sound familiar to him.

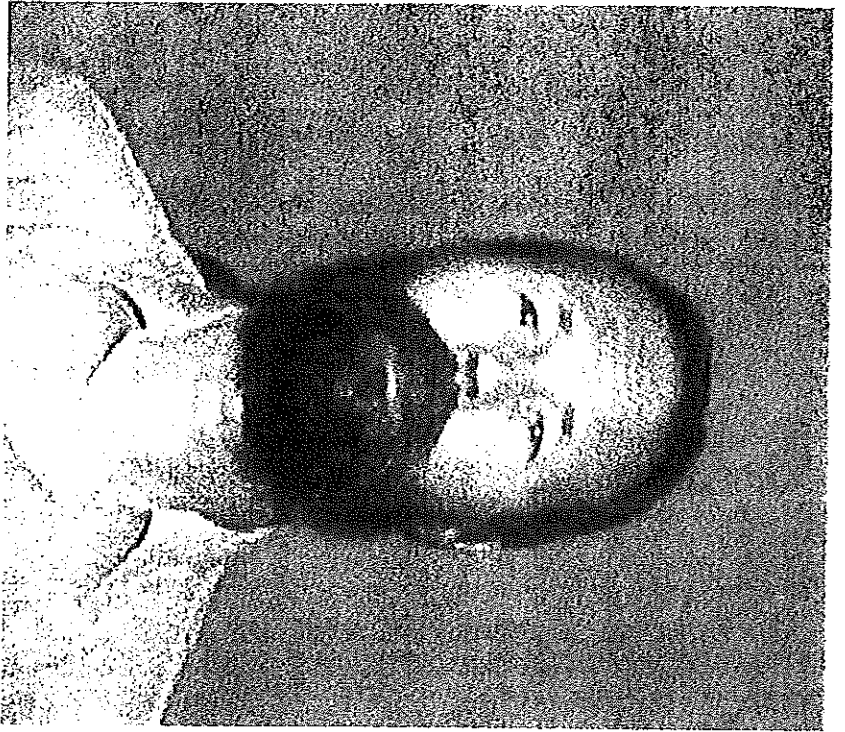

I asked Sullivan if he knew a female named Holly. Sullivan said he does not know that name.

Alexander asked Sullivan if he socialized at Rita's house. Sullivan said no. Whenever they socialized, Rita came over to Many Springs Ranch.

I asked Sullivan if he could recall when he first made repairs to Rita's house and when he last made repairs to Rita's house. Sullivan said he first started making repairs to Rita's house in 1981 and made the last repairs sometime in 1984.

Sullivan did not have any additional information at this time and his interview was concluded at approximately 1645 hours.

OTHER STATEMENT: Bruce Nash

On March 11, 2009, at approximately 1315 hours, Detective Robert Alexander and I interviewed Bruce at his residence. Bruce was at Many Springs Ranch with Rita Cobb when she was last seen alive. On March 8th, 2009 we arrested Yablonsky for the murder of Rita Cobb. The purpose of the interview was to find out if Bruce knew John Yablonsky and if he had any further information to provide since his last statement in 1985. We asked Bruce numerous questions and the following is a summary of his audio recorded statement.

Bruce liked Rita and described her as a fun lady to hang out with. Bruce met Rita through John Sullivan. Bruce hung out with Rita at Many Springs Ranch and at Rita's house. John was the care taker for Many Springs Ranch. Rita had a ping pong table at her house and they played one another from time to time.

Bruce last saw Rita when she arrived at Many Springs Ranch that Friday evening in 1985. Present at the Ranch were Rita, John Sullivan (Bruce's brother-in-law), Francesca Sullivan (Bruce's sister), Cynthia Hooper (Bruce's girlfriend) and him. Everyone was drinking alcohol except for Cynthia and Bruce. Rita was intoxicated and slurred her speech.

Bruce recalled that it was pleasant outside that Friday night. Cynthia and he drove to Many Springs Ranch in their green Ford Pinto station wagon arriving at about 8pm. Rita arrived in her Cadillac. Bruce could not recall if Rita arrived before or after Cynthia and him. While at the ranch Rita drank alcohol, possibly some White Lightening (190 Proof). Cynthia and he were sober. Rita generally drank wine and John and Francesca drank beer.

They all hung out together at the ranch until about 9 PM or 10 PM. Rita was good at holding her alcohol but that night she seemed more intoxicated than she usually gets. Rita was having a good time but was slurring her speech. Bruce was concerned for Rita because he did not think she was able to drive home safely. Bruce told Rita he was going to drive her home while Cynthia followed behind them. At no other time when they drank together in the past did Bruce ever have to offer Rita a ride home.

Interview Continued: Bruce Nash

Rita was adamant that she was fine and could drive herself home. When Bruce pressed her to allow him to drive her home she refused his offer. Rita even made the comment that she was thinking about going to the Zodiac Bar or somewhere else before going home. Bruce saw Rita drive away in her Cadillac and Cynthia and he drove home. That left John and Francesca at the ranch. Today Bruce could not recall what Rita wore that night.

Alexander asked Bruce to tell him about Rita's boyfriends, friends, social life, and career. Bruce said Fred Bedard and Rita dated for a year or so before breaking up. They broke up about six months before Rita was killed. Bruce did not recall Rita dating anyone at the time of her death. Bruce did not know what type of guys Rita preferred or what her social life was like. John Sullivan and Art Bishop (deceased) seemed to be Rita's good friends. Rita worked for the Spring Valley Lake Country Club as a secretary.

On Monday, Francesca, John, and he went into Victorville for some reason. When they returned to Lucerne Valley they saw police cars at Rita's house. When they stopped Daryl (Rita's son) ran to their car and told them someone killed his mother. Bruce put his arms around Daryl and comforted him. Daryl was quite distraught.

Alexander asked Bruce if he had any knowledge that Rita had rented her back house out at any time. Bruce said no. Bruce then recalled that Rita may have rented it out to Fred Bedard at one time or another.

Alexander showed Bruce a photograph of John Yablonsky. Bruce said he does not know John Yablonsky, but he does know a George Yablonsky. George and he rode horses together a long time ago. Bruce recalled George told him back then he was trying to get one of his sons into the family business. George introduced that son to him, but Bruce does not recall what he looked like. George was frustrated with his son because he was a flake, meaning he could not depend on him.

Rita had a personalized license plate of "ST James." James was the name of her deceased husband. Rita always said James was a Saint to her.

Bruce said he made some repairs to Rita's house once in awhile. One time he replaced the thermostat in her house. Bruce made the repair before Rita and her son Daryl had stopped communicating with each other.

I asked Bruce if he saw or spoke to Rita from the time he saw her leave the Ranch that Friday evening until the time Daryl told him Rita had been killed. Bruce said no. Bruce also indicated he had not received any messages from Rita over the weekend.

Bruce did not have any further information to provide and his interview was concluded at 1400 hours.

INTERVIEW: Linda Mitchell (mother of Holly Yablonsky)

On March 30, 2009, at approximately 1635 hours, I spoke with Linda Mitchell via telephone and digitally recorded the conversation. Linda is the mother of Holly Yablonsky. The following will be a summary of our conversation.

John and Holly met in high school and started dating. They got married and had children together.

Linda was not shocked to hear John Yablonsky had been arrested but the charge of murder was surprising to her. She believes back in 1985 John may have been capable of the crime but was never told information by Holly that he had murdered anyone. Stealing, lying and fraud were crimes John could be involved in that would not be surprising to her. Linda states her belief that John could have been capable of the murder charge is only a thought because of violence Holly was subjected to during the marriage. The thought is not based on fact.

Linda recalls Holly telling her John had been arrested in El Paso Texas for rape. As far as she knew nothing became of the charges. Holly also told her about "the thing in Germany" but she (Linda) did not know details.

John was very a controlling person and made Holly believe she could not do anything by herself. At one point in time, Holly and John lived with Linda which allowed her to see the way he treated her daughter. Holly almost acted as if she was a defeated person because John was very verbally controlling and abusive toward Holly.

Linda told me John broke Holly's nose and the crime was never reported. The incident occurred when they (Holly and John) were living in Lucerne Valley. One day Linda received a telephone call from Holly. Linda drove to Lucerne Valley and found Holly had a broken nose because her face had been slammed into a porcelain sink. Linda states that John slammed Holly's face into the sink.

After John was arrested for the murder of Rita Cobb, Linda spoke with Holly who confirmed that she and John lived in a small guest house located behind Rita Cobb's house. Linda did not recall ever visiting Holly and John when they lived in the guest house. Linda told me she would often drive to Lucerne Valley to pick up the baby (John Yablonsky Jr. or JJ) but because Lucerne was very desolate and there were many dirt roads she often met Holly at the local convenience store where the exchange took place.

John Yablonsky has a brother residing in Bakersfield California. JJ lives in a home next to George. Linda had a copy of JJ's birth certificate and was able to confirm his (JJ's) Social Security Number as 557-79-1716. Linda said she knew John Yablonsky had used his son's social security number because one day an investigator from the district attorney's office contacted her. He was investigating John for back child support and had located an address in Bakersfield for him. Linda states as far as she knows John never resided in Bakersfield only his brother George and JJ had.

During our conversation, Linda checked her records and found the passport(s) Holly had obtained for her and JJ back in the mid 1980's.

When John and Holly separated, Holly moved back home to Linda's house where she lived for about one year. After about one year, Holly moved to Canada and left the children with Linda. Ultimately, Holly filed for divorce and Linda went to court to get custody of the children which she was awarded.

- Linda Mitchell could provide no additional information
- I ended our conversation at 1800 hours

INTERVIEW: Holly Marie Brown (aka: Holly Marie Yablonsky)

On March 31, 2009, and April 01, 2009, I spoke with Holly Brown via telephone and digitally recorded each contact. The following will be a summary of both conversations.

Information: In the mid 1980's Holly was married to John Yablonsky and used his last name. She has since remarried and changed her last name to Brown. Many years have past since she and John were together. Holly could not remember exact dates but tried to relate events in their life to a certain year.

- In this report, when Holly provides a calendar date or year it is only an approximation used to reference time.

John and Holly met while she was attending Paramount High School in Paramount California. He was about 16 years old and in 11th grade. She was about 15 years old and in 10th grade. She recalls John was selling LSD paper sheets. The picture on the sheet was of "two beaver's fucking." They were attracted to each other, started hanging out and soon dated. John was attending Poly High School or a continuation school but did not attend school like he was required to do. Holly skipped school and would meet with John and other friends in a field where they would hang out and socialize.

Holly's mother (Linda Mitchell) lived in Lynwood California but they did not get along and often argued. Linda was very strict and the strict home environment was a source of their conflict so Holly went to live at her grandmother's home. Holly's grandparents would not allow her to stay out late or attend parties; they were also very strict and escorted her to and from school. She also had to be in the house when the street lamps came on.

Holly told me she resided between her grandmother's home and her mother's home. Holly was not attending school regularly and would often "ditch class."

Around 1980 or 1981, Holly was 15 years old and in 10th grade. She moved into John's mother's home (Betty Garcia) in Paramount and started living with him. Holly believes she might have just started 11th grade but was not certain of the exact year. At this point in her life, Holly occasionally drank beer and smoked pot. She did not like smoking pot because it made her sleep. John would get mad at Holly when she fell asleep because he felt that she was wasting his Marijuana. He would smack her around.

Holly recalls John was doing bad things like drugs and committing crimes. John liked to smoke pot and drink alcohol. He also used Angel Dust, LSD, Cocaine and Mushrooms. Additionally, John was also selling drugs and committing burglaries. Holly said John was always in trouble and used a lot of drugs. He also sold a lot of drugs such as sheets of LSD.

Sometime around 1981 or 1982 John and Holly got caught selling drugs (LSD Sheets) to an undercover police officer at Southgate Park in South Gate, California. John got out of jail and returned to his mother's home. Holly was released to her mother (Linda) and returned to her mother's home. John's mother (Betty) told him to leave California or he was going to jail for a long time. Betty gave him the choice of either joining the U.S. Military or going to jail; he chose the U.S. Army.

Within a short period of time Holly ran away to El Paso to join John. Holly explained that she was living with her mother Linda and ran away. John was already in El Paso. Betty assisted Holly by taking her to her mother's house. Holly broke into her mother's house then got her clothing and personal belongings. Betty took Holly to a bus station where she (Holly) caught a bus to El Paso, Texas.

Once in El Paso, Holly lived with John's brother and his wife. Holly recalls she was 17 years old at the time and a senior in high school. Holly states that she and John "ran away" from California because John was in a lot of trouble for selling drugs. John was in the U.S. Army and reported to El Paso for basic training at Big's Airfield.

Betty moved to Texas and started living where her son was stationed.

While living in El Paso, John was selling a lot of Marijuana to his friends. Holly and John were living off the army base and had rented a small apartment which was part of a quad-plex building. Holly explained that they lived in a building containing four apartments and rented one of the apartments within the building. While living in this building, John was selling a lot of Marijuana, mostly to his friends. Holly said she did not sell the drugs but would help John package it so he could sell it. Again, Holly said John would get mad at her if she was smoking the Marijuana and fell asleep. John would get mad because he felt that she was wasting his Marijuana.

John was selling "dime bags" of Marijuana but he was selling a lot of the bags. It was just the two (John and Holly) of them and they did not have children yet. Holly felt the apartment was being watched. She told John about her suspicions but John ignored her. One day, Holly heard a noise outside their apartment. Within moments there was a knock on the front door and then door was kicked in by the El Paso Police. The apartment was searched and during the search a small bag of Marijuana was found. Holly said it was odd but John had sold all his Marijuana and they only had one bag in the house.

John and Holly were arrested for felony possession and taken to jail. John told the police the drugs belonged to Holly so she ended up facing criminal charges for the drugs he was selling. During the court process, Holly had a lawyer who was able to get the felony charge down to a misdemeanor charge. When the case finished the lawyer was able to get court records to indicate John and Holly were arrested while having a party. During the party marijuana was found and it belonged to Holly.

I asked Holly if she was the one selling the Marijuana and she told me, "No." Holly explained that John was not afraid of being caught or afraid of anything. The way he operated was to place the blame on someone else for his activities. She told me John always shifted the blame to someone else when he got in trouble

While living in El Paso, John was arrested for rape. The only information Holly was told by John, was that the rape arrest involved a local hooker and the sex was consensual. Holly believes the rape happened after the drug arrest but she was not sure. She did not ask questions and he did not tell her much about the rape arrest. Holly said she knew better then to ask question because John would tell her to shut the hell up.

At that point in their relationship, John was not extremely physically abuse toward her yet but had smacked her around a few times when he became upset. Usually, John would get upset when Holly questioned him s so she knew better then to press him for answers. When she did ask questions John would punch her in the head or stomach and beat the shit out of her. Holly never called the police to report the beatings and never went to the hospital. She said it wasn't until later in their relationship that John did get excessively physical with her and was very abuse.

During their marriage John always slept around. They got into arguments about his promiscuity and she wanted answers but knew better than to ask questions. Holly believes while she and John were living in El Paso he was sleeping with other women. Holly on the other hand did not sleep around and remained faithful. She recalls how she contracted venereal disease such as Chlamydia and Crabs. Since she was faithful in their relationship, she knew he was messing around.

In 1982, Holly became pregnant. Around 1983 -1984, John was sent to Frankfurt Germany. While he was stationed in Germany, Holly gave birth at an airbase in Victorville, California. She was living at her grandmother's home in Paramount, California. Their son John Yablonsky Jr. (nickname of JJ) was born on August 22, 1983. John returned back to the United States for the birth but left shortly after JJ was born.

Holly said that she and JJ were scheduled to move to Frankfurt but never made it there. She was excited at the thought of traveling and living in a foreign country. Holly completed all the paperwork, got vaccinations and obtained passports for her and JJ. They were waiting for Holly to give birth. When it started to get close to her due date the doctors induced labor so she could have the baby. This was done so she could travel to Germany as scheduled.

I told Holly that I had spoke with John for many hours and he told me a different version of why she never went to live in Germany. I told her that John said she refused to go and military representatives went to the house where she lived and were trying to get her to board the plane but she refused. Holly told, "No, that was not true. We didn't go because he (John) ended up in jail!"

On an unknown day, just prior to Holly and JJ departing for Germany, she received a telephone call from John who said that he had got in some trouble and was in jail. John did not give many details about the arrest and said that she and JJ would not be coming to Germany as he did not know what was going to happen regarding his arrest. Holly was devastated and crying because her husband was in jail, in a foreign country, plus she did not know what was going on and did not know the details of his arrest.

John spent a couple of months in jail and was dishonorably discharged from the U.S. Army. When John he returned back to California he eventually told Holly that he had been arrested for rape in Frankfurt Germany and had been facing a 99 year prison sentence for the crime. Holly believes the rape was committed to a Germany national and not to a US Citizen. She believes the German Police arrested him but he was held in a military jail. She does not recall receiving mail from him while he was in Jail.

I asked Holly if John told her he was kicked out of the U.S. Army because he was arrested for drunk driving. She told me, "Not that I remember."

After being kicked out of the army, John returned to California. They (Holly, John and JJ) moved in with Betty (John's mother's) at her house in Perris California.

Around 1984 to 1985, John, Holly and JJ move to Lucerne Valley. John's father George Yablonsky was a finish carpenter and had a home in Lucerne Valley. They lived with George and his wife (Betty Yablonsky) for a short period of time then George found them an apartment. Holly said the apartment belonged to Rita Cobb and was a small, one bedroom rental located a few feet behind her house. Rita's house was located just off Hwy-18 which is the back way to Big Bear.

Living in the apartment behind Rita's house was John, Holly and JJ. Holly said John was a finish carpenter working with his father. While living at George and Betty's home they constantly fought regarding his drug use. John was never home and would be gone for many days. Holly suspected he was sleeping around and that during their marriage John was always sleeping with other women. Holly never caught John with other women but recalls how she came down with venereal diseases such as Chlamydia and Crabs. Since she was faithful in their relationship, she knew he was messing around.

Holly said Rita was a very kind lady, was nice to JJ and reminded her of a grandmother. She recalls something that she always felt was weird. Both John and Rita demanded that they have an intercom connected between Rita's home and the one bedroom apartment. Holly never understood why the intercom was so important and to this day the intercom issue has her perplexed her. Holly feels the intercom eliminated her privacy and allowed Rita to hear all their arguments/fights.

I asked Holly if John ever had a relationship with Rita and she told me, "No." Holly said John was always chasing other women. She never saw Rita with a boyfriend or even socializing with friends. Holly never saw John and Rita flirting around and to her there was nothing to indicate they were ever involved in a secret relationship. Holly recalls Rita was a lot older than women John would have attempted to date but said he would sleep with any woman that had two legs.

I told Holly that when I spoke with John he told me back in 1985 he was working a lot of hours but came home every night to help her with the children and do the father thing. Holly said that was not true. She said John always said he was working and would be gone for days. He did not help her with the children and she suspected he was sleeping with other women.

I asked Holly about her drug use at that time and she told she was not using drugs. She managed to stay off drugs and keep her shit together. John was now using Crystal Meth along with other drugs. Holly said after Jasmine was born she was fed up with John, his drug use and his never coming home and sleeping around with other women. One day John came home and she confronted him about the drugs. She told him that if he could use drugs then so could she. After that day Holly started using drugs and ended up getting addicted to Methamphetamines.

John and Holly lived in the rental behind Rita's home for a few months then moved to another house on Fairlane Road in Lucerne Valley. It was now around 1985. The new house was located a short distance from Rita's home and was a pig sty and a total wreck. The road leading to this house looked like a river bed. They built a large porch of the front of this house and turned the garage into a bedroom. Holly recalls living at this home for a long time. She would recognize the residence if she saw it again.

While living at the Fairlane Road house Jasmine was born.

After Jasmine was born, Holly started using the drugs just like John was. Their relationship got worse. John kept her high all the time. If Holly did not want drugs he would force her to use them. He would disappear for days and return home. Holly felt isolated because she was 5 miles from town (Lucerne Valley) and 1 mile off the main road. They were living in the middle of nowhere and she had no friends or family living in the town. She had no transportation and didn't even know how to drive.

Holly said John was very controlling. He earned and controlled the money. He paid all the bills. He did the grocery shopping. Holly said if she needed tampons that John would write her a check so she could get them at the local convenience store.

I told Holly that John said he bought a Ford Pinto for her to use while they lived in Lucerne Valley. She told me that she couldn't even drive and he never bought a car for her use in the event the children needed to go somewhere. Holly said out of desperation she taught herself to drive when John was passed out drunk using the Toyota Truck George had bought John. John didn't even know she was teaching herself to drive.

Holly recalled once John was trying to teach her to drive. John had an old Chevy Impala and she was in the driver seat. They were driving on Hwy-18 and saw an object on the road. Holly and John both thought the object was a chunk of snow from a vehicle returning from the mountains. She drove over the object, which turned out to be a large rock. The rock ripped the gas tank from under the car. John was very upset and beat Holly profusely. That was the last time she drove a car while living with John Yablonsky.

Holly told me about an incident which occurred while living in the Fairlane Rd. home. John had two guns. One night he became upset because she was talking too much and would not shut up. John grabbed a double-barrel shotgun, placed the barrel into her face, and pulled the trigger.

Holly said there were other violent incidents while they were married.

I asked Holly if John ever told her or did she suspect that he was having a relationship with Rita. Holly said John was chasing every young thing in Lucerne Valley but she never suspected him of being involved with Rita.

Rita was a lot older than John and Holly. Holly recalls that while living in Lucerne Valley John was messing around with a girl younger than they were and Holly was about 21 years old at the time. Holly never saw John with a woman 30 years older than he was and it just didn't sound right that John would have been dating Rita.

I told Holly that Rita was murdered about 10 days prior to Jasmine being born and asked if she recalled John coming home around that time with injuries or scratches. Holly said John was gone for many days at time and used the excuse that he was working. She recalls he was even at the hospital when Jasmine was born. Again, he said that he was working.

She recalls that John insisted Jasmine be born on his birthday which was September 30th. Holly knew she had to have another c-section birth so she asked the doctor to deliver Jasmine early so the baby would be born on John's birthday. He (John) never showed up at the hospital and that's why Holly remembers that John was not at the hospital.

Around 1986, Holly, John and the kids moved back to the Long Beach area. A little while later John left Holly and the kids.

I asked Holly if she suspected him of committing any other rapes besides the one in El Paso Texas and the one in Germany. She told me, "No." Holly said she never suspected John of killing Rita either but the thought made her sick because Rita was good to JJ.

Holly recalls she felt something must have happened to John because right after Jasmine was born he became very angry toward her. She could never explain or relate why he became hostile toward her but things got so out of control after Jasmine was born Holly felt he was going to kill her because of the way he was acting.

INTERVIEW: Doris Evelyn Jackson

Information: During the investigation I was told Doris Jackson was best friends with Rita Cobb. I contacted Doris to learn about Rita and her personal life such as what Rita did, who she associated with and if she was dating anyone when she was murdered.

Interview: On April 09, 2009, at approximately 1825 hours, I spoke with Doris Jackson via telephone and digitally recorded the contact. The following will be a summary of our conversation.

Doris met Rita and her husband (unknown name) in 1977 when they first moved to Lucerne Valley. At the time, there was a group of 50-60 year-old's who frequently socialized together. Rita and her husband were friendly within the group and often met at the Moose Lodge and "Y" Saloon to gather, talk and socialize. After living in Lucerne Valley for a few years, Rita's husband died. Rita was always faithful to her husband and did not see other men while married.

Doris and Rita were not good friends because Rita was a very private person. Doris does not drink alcohol and only went to the Moose Lodge and "Y" Saloon to socialize with people who lived in Lucerne Valley. After Rita's husband died they (Rita and Doris) would see each other about once a month to have lunch. They were not best friends and Rita did not talk about her private life. Doris does not know who Rita dated or if she was even seeing anyone when she was murdered. They only had a casual friendship and were not that close.

Doris recalls Rita lived on Highway 18 in a small house just off the highway. Doris enjoyed fishing in Big Bear and would occasionally stop to visit Rita on the way home from her fishing trips.

In 1985, Doris was living in La Quinta California and received a telephone call from Rita who invited her to go to Canada. Rita asked Doris if she wanted to help her by driving part of the time. Doris agreed to go and they were gone about one week.

Doris recalls hearing rumors that Rita was killed on a Friday and was seen at the Moose Lodge and at the "Y" Saloon the night she was killed. Doris does not know if this was fact and said she only heard various rumors.

Doris said Rita was an alcoholic and could be mean when she was drinking.

I asked Doris if she knew whether Rita was dating anyone when was murdered, if she dated men older or men significantly younger than herself. Doris recalls Rita's husband might have been older than she was but she never saw Rita with a boyfriend. Rita did socialize and talk with men while at the Moose Lodge and "Y" Saloon. Doris states she knows nothing about Rita's dating habits because Rita was a very private person.

Doris only knew of one person who lived in the guest house located behind Rita's main residence. She recalls Rita's brother stayed in the guest house for a few days while visiting.

Doris was a real-estate agent who sold property in the Lucerne Valley area. Rita would often stop to talk with her concerning re-estate and would socialize. Rita never asked Doris about renting the guest house and as far as Doris knew no one lived or rented the guest house from Rita.

- Doris Jackson could provide no additional information
- I ended the conversion at 1850 hours

Jail Telephone Calls (03-23-2009)

On March 08, 2009, John Henry Yablonsky was booked into West Valley Detention Center (WVDC) for the murder of Rita Cobb. West Valley Detention Center is equipped with a telephone monitoring system. When an inmate makes an out-going telephone call, to friends or family, a recording is played to notify the inmate that his/her telephone calls are monitored and recorded; there is no expectation of privacy in a jail.

During the investigation, I listened to jail telephone calls made by John Henry Yablonsky, WVDC Booking # 0903341068. Telephone calls containing information regarding the murder case were locked and stored for use in court; telephone calls containing general chit-chat were not saved. A summary of each conversation was prepared and is printed below:

03/08/2009 @ 6:25:17 PM: John is calling Melody Wittenberg. He tells her he is at West Valley Detention Center, his charges and when he goes to court. He tells Melody the charges are bullshit. Detectives said his DNA was on the murder weapon, which is bullshit and not true. The recording stops in mid conversation. Alexander #A1672

03/08/2009 @ 6:27:40 PM: John calls Melody (his wife) they continue their conversation from the previous call. He asks her what the detectives were looking for during the Search Warrant. John states he told detectives the truth.

John talks to his father (George Yablonsky). He tells George that he was told his DNA was on the murder weapon which was bullshit. John states his father told him Rita was killed with a nylon or something.

John talks to his children (Joe, Kenny, Breanna and Jasmine). He tells them all he is innocent and does not know what to say. Alexander #A1672

03/08/2009 @ 6:56:02 PM: John calls Melody again they start to continue the previous conversation but the connection stops in mid-conversation. Alexander #A1672

03/09/2009 @ 3:27:46 PM: John calls Melody. They talk about court, to plead "Not Guilty" and to ask for a public defender. They discuss what his normal jail schedule will be and the cost of making telephone calls then decide to write letters.

(2mins 50sec) John tells Melody he had sex with Rita and that is all, he didn't tell the detectives about having sex with Rita because he would have been arrested. Melody tells John that if Holly is responsible for the murder he better tell the truth; he denies knowledge of Holly being involved in murdering Rita. John insists he didn't hurt Rita. General chit-chat. Alexander #A1672

03/09/2009 @ 3:54:19 PM: John calls his father (George Yablonsky) and immediately tells him he had been "messaging around" with Rita but didn't tell the police because he would have been arrested. John thinks because he was "messaging around" with Rita that's how the police got his DNA at the crime scene.

George mentions Rita liked to drink, was a strange lady and slept with anyone.

John denies to George that he killed Rita and explains this is one of his tougher challenges in life. John agrees to start writing his father. Alexander #A1672

3/11/2009/ @ 12:46:32 PM: John calls Melody but speaks with his mother-in-law again. He really wants to talk with his son Kenny. John wants Kenny to contact all his (John's) customers and request a letter of character. John has been moved to a segregated unit for his safety. Chit-chat Alexander #A1672

3/11/2009 @ 6:47:13 PM: John calls Melody, they discuss the expense of making telephone calls. John tells Melody he has been moved to a Protective Custody (PC) Unit, which he believes is unnecessary.

John believes everything has been blown out of proportion and he will be vindicated when everything comes out in court.

John asks that his brother contact all his friends from the "Inner-City Meetings" and from his phone book to get character letters on John's behalf. He wants hundreds of letters of character. John really wants a letter from Nancy and Kathy Bell; one is District Court Judge and the other has numerous letters from important people. They are from a job he did in Pacific Palisades, Ca. Alexander #A1672

3/13/2009 @ 7:44:41 PM John calls Melody. He is asking for telephone numbers for his brother Joe and children. He wants his children to know he is thinking of them, they will visit him soon. General chit-chat.

Melody asks if he is putting all the scenarios together for the past 20 years. She tells him to think about the last 20 years and to get his facts together then tell his attorney. Melody tells him that only he knows what happened and she did not know him back then, John agrees. Alexander #A1672

3/13/2009 @ 6:51:38 AM John calls Melody and tells her he can't wait to tell what happened and that he is just blown away by the whole thing. General chit-chat about jail life. Alexander #A1672

3/14/2009 @ 10:41:02 AM John resumes a telephone call that was cut short. He now talks to his son Joe and asks him to contact a big black lady (unknown name) at the meeting place. John wants the lady to contact everyone they know and have them write letters of character, which will be sent to the DA, the Judge and the defense attorney. He tells Joe to be the man he can't be right now and that if things don't work out he is willing to do all the time, so his family won't have to.

Attn: D. C. Britt

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Re: Request for Statistics, Arrests involving all Murder Suspects for the Year 1985.

Our Department is currently conducting an investigation into two Homicides involving two elderly single females. Both Homicides occurred in the San Bernardino County, Victorville area. Both female Victims were found nude in their residences. Both causes of death were ligature strangulation. Both females had their hands bound behind their backs and were lying on their respective beds.

From physical evidence collected at the crime scenes by the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Forensic Laboratories, it appears that both Victims were murdered by the same Suspect. Our trace evidence consists of semen, blood, hair, and latent fingerprints.

Our Department is respectfully requesting from the Arizona Department of Public Safety, all arrests of Murder Suspects occurring between January of 1985 and December of 1985, and if possible, blood typings for these arrested Suspects.

I would like to thank you in advance for your cooperation in this matter. If you need additional information on the physical evidence and/or method of operation in the murders, please contact Sergeant Robert Pepler, Detective Randall Knapp, or Detective William Bethke, San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, Homicide Detail at (714) 387-3577.

Dear Detective Bethke;

The Arizona Department of Public Safety (DPS) administers the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) program in Arizona and collects statistics from over 90 contributing law enforcement agencies. These agencies provide monthly totals of certain offenses and all individuals arrested, but do not provide copies of their reports or any investigative information. Because of this, we are unable to provide any specifics regarding cases or arrestees.

Attached is a list of agencies that reported arrests for murder in 1985. We have also provided their addresses, phone numbers and total number of arrests so that you can contact each agency directly for more specifics.

I hope that this information will be helpful in your investigation. If you have any further questions or require additional assistance, please contact me at (602) 262-8488.

Sincerely,

I ran a records check regarding the Los Alamitos suspect (Robert Mark Edwards/CII #A06751443). Edward's records showed he was arrested/in-custody at CDC on 12/10/85, until he was paroled on 12/12/85. On 11/27/02, I contacted the CDC Statewide Parolee Locator Service/OBIS (916-358-1847) and spoke to Record's Clerk Scott Johnson. Upon review of their records, Johnson confirmed Edwards was incarcerated from 12/85-12/86.

Based on this information, Edwards could not be a suspect in our murder investigation because he was incarcerated at the time of the murders.

DOB: 2-23-30VICTIM'S DESCRIPTION:

The victim was observed to be a WFA, 55 years old, 67 inches tall, 134 pounds. The victim didn't have any clothing on.

PERSONS PRESENT:

Persons present during the autopsy were Dr. SAUKEL, pathologist; JIM SEDGWICK, assistant; JEFF VENDETTI and TOM MOODY from Sheriff's Identification Division; and DON JONES from the Crime Lab.

INTERNAL EXAM:

The victim's body had a greenish tint to it with the face being black and showing advanced stages of decomposition. There was skin slippage throughout the body.

A sex kit was opened and at 1315 hours, Dr. SAUKEL did a vaginal swab and at 1320 hours did the pubic combings. Both of these items were turned over to DON JONES from the Crime Lab.

The victim had a full set of dentures with the upper dentures protruding from the mouth and the lower dentures were found underneath the body inside the body bag. Dr. SAUKEL then observed the clothes hanger that was wrapped around the victim's neck and observed that the clothes hanger had been wrapped around twice with the first being wrapped around and twisted on the right side of the neck and wrapped back around and twisted again on the left side. Dr. SAUKEL then removed the clothes hanger by using wire cutters and cutting it on the right side of the neck.

A piece of what appears to be toilet paper or kleenex was found stuck to the victim's chin and blood or body fluid. This was removed and given to DON JONES from the Crime Lab.

HISTORY OF DEATH: The history as obtained from the investigating officer, is that the subject was found at 1200 hours on September 23, 1985, by her son. She was nude, lying supine on the bed in her bedroom, with moderate decomposition changes. There was tissue paper over the mouth and a pair of white shorts over the paper, and a wire coat hanger twisted tightly about her neck. The house was locked and her son entered with a pass key. The room was in order with no evidence of violence. She was last known to be alive on the evening of September 20, 1985, at about 2330 hours when she was visiting friends. She had been drinking at that time and drove home by herself.

EXTERNAL EXAMINATION: The body is a moderately decomposed white female. The height is 67", the weight is 134 lbs., the hair is gray, the eyes are undetermined, the complexion is fair.

The conjunctivae are swollen with subcutaneous gas formation. There is slight hemolytic staining. There are no petechiae found in the conjunctivae. The corneae are clouded. The lips are markedly protuberant. The mouth is edentulous; upper dentures are partially extruded from the mouth. The lower dentures are in a bag under the head. The dentures are given to the crime lab.

The body is naked. There is a yellow metal watch on the left wrist with a yellow metal band. There are three woven metal bracelets on the right wrist, two are yellow metal, one is white metal. There is a yellow metal ring with a woven pattern on the fourth finger of the right hand.

LIGATURE: There is a ligature made from a wire clothes hanger which is wrapped around the neck. It is wrapped once around the lower portion of the neck with the ends wrapped around twice on the right anterior side of the neck, then the two ends are wrapped back around the neck with the ends wrapped 1½ times around each other. There is hair trapped beneath the ligature. The first turn around the neck is on the lower portion, the second is on the upper portion of the neck. The clothes hanger is 2 mm. in diameter. There is a woven metal chain broken in the mid portion on back of the neck. There is a ligature abrasion adjacent to the clothes hanger with dark brown discoloration of the skin. In some areas, the abrasion is somewhat dry, but most of it is soft and is approximately 4 mm. in diameter.

The body is moderately decomposed with marked bloating and green discoloration of the face. The tongue is protuberant. There is a marked odor of decomposition. There is bloating of the chest and abdomen with green reticularis and extensive areas of skin slip. This extends over the arms, with marked involvement on the left and moderate on the right. There is green reticularis of the upper right thigh and the entire left leg. At the left ankle this is more rose reticularis. There is very slight reticularis on the right ankle. There are scattered ecchymoses on the inner aspects of the right knee which varies from pale blue to tan-green. These are up to 2 cm. in greatest diameter. There is rose discoloration of the anterior-superior patella in an area 3.5 cm. in greatest diameter. There is early insect activity with maggots present around the neck and in the vagina. There are numerous insect eggs in the hair.

There are no injuries seen to the labia minora, labia majora or rectum.

There is some white tissue-type paper adjacent to the left side of the mouth. This is submitted to the crime lab.

The back has marked green discoloration with skin slip.

Rigor mortis is absent.

INTERNAL EXAMINATION: Body Cavities: There is marked decomposition of the internal organs with hemolytic staining of the tissues, liquefaction of the fat and interstitial gas formation. The pleural cavities each contain approximately 200 cc. of hemolyzed blood-tinged fluid. The peritoneal cavity is free of excess fluid or adhesions.

CARDIOVASCULAR SYSTEM: The heart is 210 grams and is normally formed. The epicardial surfaces show marked decomposition changes of the fat. The coronary arteries are thin, pliable, widely patent. The myocardium is tan-brown, markedly soft. The right ventricle endocardium has marked hemolytic staining. The valves are thin, pliable, normally formed. The aorta is intact with mild to moderate atherosclerosis.

NECK: There are fractures of both greater cornu of the hyoid, fractures of the superior and inferior left cornu of the thyroid cartilage, and a fracture of the cricoid cartilage on the left. There is a small amount of hemolytic staining adjacent to the left greater cornu fracture. The tissues otherwise have diffuse very mild hemolytic staining. The trachea and bronchi have hemolytic staining of the mucosa.

RESPIRATORY TRACT: The right lung is 630 grams, the left, 480 grams. The pleural surfaces are gray-tan to red-black, smooth and shiny, with slight anthracotic mottling. The cut surfaces of the lungs are red-purple, firm, and extrude large amounts of hemolytic fluid. The pulmonary arteries are free of antemortem thrombus or emboli.

GASTROINTESTINAL TRACT: The stomach contains tan-brown mucus. The mucosa of the esophagus, stomach and duodenum is autolyzed, but otherwise normal. The gastrointestinal tract is otherwise within normal limits.

PANCREAS: The pancreas has a lobulated tan-white cut surface.

HEPATIC SYSTEM: The liver is 990 grams and is normally formed. The capsule is tan-brown to tan-gray, smooth and shiny, with subcapsular gas formation. The cut surface is red-brown with focal interstitial gas formation. The gallbladder contains approximately 10 cc. of dark green-yellow bile.

GENITOURINARY TRACT: The right kidney is 130 grams, the left, 140 grams. The capsules strip with ease revealing a smooth, red-brown to red-black cortical surfaces. The cut surfaces show normal corticomedullary junctions with marked hemolytic staining of the tissues. The ureters are of normal caliber. The bladder is free of urine. The ovaries are atrophic. The uterus has a 1.5 cm. leiomyoma on the anterior wall and is otherwise atrophic.

SPLEEN: The spleen has a red-black capsule, is extremely soft and partially liquefied, and tears on removal from the body.

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM: The pituitary is of normal size. The thyroid is small with a red-brown cut surface. The adrenals are of normal size with bright yellow cortices.

CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM: The head has diffuse hemolytic staining of the deep scalp and subgaleal hemorrhage with slight edema on the posterior aspects. The skull is intact. The dura is without antemortem thrombus or neomembrane. The brain is markedly softened and green-stained. It has a pasty consistency. There is no hemorrhage found.

MICROSCOPIC EXAMINATION:

CARDIOVASCULAR SYSTEM: Sections of the myocardium show marked autolytic changes with almost total loss of the cellular outlines, extensive gas formation, and large numbers of bacteria.

RESPIRATORY TRACT: The lungs are markedly autolyzed with much of the tissue replaced by amorphous eosinophilic material. In some of the better preserved areas, the alveoli are of normal size.

PANCREAS: The pancreas is autolyzed, fibrosis is not seen.

HEPATIC SYSTEM: The liver is markedly autolyzed. The normal lobular architecture appears intact. The portal triads appear normal.

GENITOURINARY TRACT: The kidneys are markedly autolyzed, with only faint outlines of the glomeruli and tubules present; these appear normal. Section of ovary is markedly autolyzed, but appears atrophic. Section of the uterine nodule shows a benign hyalinized leiomyoma.

Pap stain of a vaginal swab shows mild autolysis of the epithelial cells, with large numbers of bacteria present. There are a moderate number of sperm heads present.

SPLEEN: The spleen is almost totally autolyzed.

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM: The thyroid is extensively autolyzed. The adrenals appear to be of normal size. Section of adrenal gland is totally autolyzed.

CENTRAL NERVOUS SYSTEM: Section of cerebral cortex is autolyzed with no identifiable features.

REPORT ON THE EXAMINATION OF PHYSICAL EVIDENCE
SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT #1

To: Gene Rogers, Captain
Specialized Detective Division
San Bernardino Sheriff's Department

Attention: Sergeant D. Baker

Following is the report of the Crime Laboratory giving the results of the examinations conducted on evidence received from your office. This examination has been made with the understanding that the report will be used for official purposes only.

FRANK BLAND, Sheriff

by Philip M. Kellitt
Anthony Longhetti 11-20-85
Laboratory Director

Requesting Agency	SBSD/Specialized Detective Division	Victim	Cobb, Rita
Type of Investigation	Homicide (01)	Suspect(s)	-----

Evidence and Source:

See the previous report dated September 30, 1985, for a description of Items A and B.

RESULTS AND CONCLUSIONS:

The blood from Cobb was serologically grouped as follows:

ITEM/DESCRIPTION	ABO	SECRETOR	EsD	PGM ₁	PGM ₁ sub	PepA
B-4e: blood from Cobb	O	Yes	2-1	1	1+1-	1

No semen was detected on the following items:

- A-2: various clothing from east side of bed
- A-3: panties from east side of bed
- A-13: blue pillow from north corner of bed
- A-14: blue pillow from beneath head
- A-17: white shorts used as gag

LABORATORY REPORT
November 18, 1985

LR 44659

Semen was detected on the vaginal swabs (Item A-11), and numerous stains were detected on the felt pad (Item A-18) which were categorized A-18a through A-18g. These items were grouped as follows:

ITEM/DESCRIPTION	SPERM DETECTED	SOLUABLE ABH ANTIGENS	INSOLUABLE ABH ANTIGENS	EsD	PGM ₁	PGM ₁ sub	PepA
A-2: vaginal swabs from Cobb	Yes	None	H	NR	NR	NR	NR
A-18a: stain on felt pad	Yes	None	B and H	1	1	1+1-	1
A-18b: stain on felt pad	Yes	None	B	Incl	1	1+1-	1
A-18f: stain on felt pad	Yes	None	B	Incl	1	1+1-	1
A-18g: stain on felt pad	Yes	None	B	Incl	1	Incl	1

Incl=Inconclusive

NR=Not Run

The appearance and the grouping of the stains A-18a, A-18b, A-18f, and A-18g indicates that these are neat semen stains, probably from one ejaculation.

Based on these results the following conclusions are reached:

- 1) there is insufficient information on the semen on the vaginal swabs (Item A-2) to make any statement about the semen donor.
- 2) the results of the stains on the felt pad (Item A-18) indicate a semen donor who is an ABO type B nonsecretor, PGM₁ 1+1-, EsD 1, and PepA 1. This combination of types occurs in approximately 0.26% of the white male population.

NOTE: due to similar modus operandi this case is cross referenced to LR 44452, DR 1331490-07, (Victim: Brooks, Helen). It is noted that semen stains in that case also indicated an ABO type B nonsecretor which occurs in approximately 2% of the white male population.

DISPOSITION OF EVIDENCE:

All evidence (Items A and B) will remain on file for one year, after which it will be destroyed unless the Laboratory is otherwise notified.

FROM D. C. BAKER, Lieutenant
Homicide Detail

TO BILL BAIRD, Director
Sheriff's Crime Laboratory

SUBJECT REQUEST FOR EVIDENCE EXAMINATION

The following five homicide cases need immediate attention. The field investigation has slowed, and in some cases stopped, awaiting lab results. I believe that the examination of evidentiary items in these cases can give homicide investigators direction.

These cases have been prioritized as follows:

PC 187 DR 1432619-01 LR 45860
GARY PETERSON case

On 12/5/86, our detail investigated the murder of Gary Peterson in Reche Canyon.

Evidence collected from the crime scene was submitted to the lab for examination on 12/5/86, and on 3/9/87, a suspect, Thomas Garcia, was arrested for his murder. A sex kit was obtained from Garcia and submitted on the same day (see attached copies).

Can the lab process the sex offense kit obtained from the victim and compare to the suspect's sex kit?

Can seminal, blood, and fecal stains collected from the victim's residence be typed and compared to the suspect?

Can the stain on the victim's coat be typed and compared to the suspect?

PC 187 DR 1436317-02 LR 45988
WENDY OSBORN

On 2/1/87, Wendy Osborn's body was found in Chino Hills. She had been raped and strangled.

On 2/9/87, James Bland was arrested in San Diego for a similar crime in Riverside County.

On 2/16/87, debriefing was held involving Homicide, Crime Lab, I.D., and CCD regarding things to be done. A list of about 70 projects was compiled and distributed.

Can the substance staining Wendy's pubic hair be identified and typed?

March 16, 1987

Can the hairs found on Wendy's body and clothing be compared to Bland's?

Can hair recovered from Bland's Toyota be compared to Wendy?

A white powder or dust was recovered from the Toyota and Wendy's body; are they the same, and what is it?

Can evidence recovered in our case be compared to the evidence in Riverside's case? Is there like evidence in both Osborn and Ho?

Can the grease recovered from Wendy's body be compared to any grease on any tools that have been recovered?

PC 187

ARTHUR MERIDETH

LR 45743

On 10/31/86, the victim's body was found near the SFRR tracks in Muscoy. The victim had a front-to-back cut in the scalp and a side-to-side cut in the same location. Grease was recovered from the wounds, and grease was recovered from the train; both have been submitted to the lab.

Can the two grease samples be compared for metal content or typing to ascertain if the victim made contact with the train?

PC 187

RITA COBB

DR 1331036-07

LR 44659

PC 187

HELEN BROOKS

DR 1331490-07

LR 44452

On 7/5/85, Helen Brooks was found raped and murdered in Apple Valley.

On 9/23/85, Rita Cobb was found dead under similar circumstances in Lucerne Valley.

Blood workups by the lab indicated similar and like characteristics with the suspect's blood.

In August, 1986, the blood of a subject named Billy Pope was submitted for comparison. Has it been done? If so, what are the results? If not, then when can we expect results?

Following is the report of the Crime Laboratory giving the results of the examinations conducted on evidence received from your office. This examination has been made with the understanding that the report will be used for official purposes only.

Evidence and Source:

See previous reports dated September 30, 1985 and November 18, 1985 for a description of Items A and B.

On February 5, 1986, Detective R. McCoy delivered the following evidence to the Laboratory:

Item C: one blood vial from SANDERS, Joe

On September 16, 1986, Detective R. McCoy delivered the following evidence to the Laboratory:

Item D: saliva sample from POPE, Bill

Item E: one blood vial from POPE, Bill

On September 17, 1986, Detective R. Knapp delivered the following evidence to the Laboratory:

Item F: one sex offense kit (#6619) from KRAEMER

F-1: EDTA blood sample

F-2: saliva swabs

On September 24, 1986, Detective R. Knapp delivered the following evidence to the Laboratory:

- Item G: one sex offense kit (#6616) from WHITESIDES
- G-1: EDTA blood sample
- G-2: saliva swabs

SULTS AND CONCLUSIONS:

The standard blood samples were grouped as follows:

Item and Description	ABO	Secretor	EsD	PGM ₁ sub	Pep A
C: NaF blood from SANDERS	O	NR	NR	NR	NR
E-1: EDTA blood from POPE	B	non secretor	1	1+ 1-	1
F-1: EDTA blood from KRAEMER	A	secretor	5-1	1+	1
G-1: EDTA blood from WHITESIDES	AB	secretor	1	1+	NR

NR = not run

If these samples the blood from POPE (Item E-1) is the only sample which matches the semen donor profile developed from the semen stains on the felt pad (Item A-18). It should be noted that POPE was originally interviewed because the Department of Justice sex offender file indicated his blood type as an ABO B non-secretor PGM₁ type 1+1-.

DISPOSITION OF EVIDENCE:

On March 18, 1987, Item B was released to Jeff Smink, Identification Division.

All other evidence (Items A, C through G) will remain on file for one year, after which it will be destroyed unless the Laboratory is otherwise notified.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT #3

REQUESTING AGENCY: SBSD/Specialized Detective Division
TYPE OF INVESTIGATION: Homicide (01)
VICTIM: Cobb, Rita
SUSPECT: BACKOFF, William

Origin and Source:

See previous reports dated September 30, 1983, November 18, 1985 and July 3, 1987 for a description of Items A through G.

On August 10, 1988 Detective B. McPhail, Sheriff's Special Detective Division, delivered the following items to the Laboratory:

Item H: Three cigarettes (H-1, H-2, and H-3) identified as having been smoked by William BACKHOFF

RESULTS AND CONCLUSIONS:

The cigarette butts from BACKHOFF, as well as the cigarette butts from the crime scene were examined in an attempt to determine ABO/secretor status. The following table lists the results of that examination:

Item & Description	Amylase level	Soluble ABH antigens	Result
A-20a: "Virginia Slim" cigarette butt with lipstick	High	A, H	A secretor
A-20b: "Marlboro cigarette	Moderate	A	A secretor
A-20c: unsmoked "Benson and Hedges" cigarette	Moderate	Inconclusive	Inconclusive
A-21 : "Benson & Hedges" cigarette	High	H	O secretor
H-2 : "Benson & Hedges" cigarette from BACKHOFF	High	A, H	A secretor
H-3 : "Benson & Hedges" cigarette from BACKHOFF	High	A, H	A secretor

Conclusions:

- 1) BACKHOFF, as an ABO A secretor, does not match the semen donor profile developed from the semen stains on the felt pad (Item A-18) from the crime scene.
- 2) Comparison of the ABO/secretor type of the cigarette butts at the crime scene to the blood types of the individuals in this investigation can be broken down as follows:

Item & Description	Consistent with
A-20a: Virginia Slim (note: lipstick)	KRAEMER, BACKHOFF
A-20b: Marlboro	KRAEMER, BACKHOFF
A-20c: Benson & Hedges (not smoked)	no information
A-21 : Benson & Hedges	Cobb SANDERS (unknown secretor status)

EVIDENCE

See previous reports dated September 30, 1985, November 18, 1985, April 3, 1987, and August 23, 1988 for a description of Items A through H.

On February 8, 1990 Detective Mabry delivered the following to the Sheriff's Central Property unit:

Item I: ACD reference blood sample from Warren Van Voorhis

The following items are also retained:

lyophilized, soluble proteins; A-11, A18a, A18b, reagent control
extracted DNA; A-11 (E1,E2), A-18a (E1,E2), A-18b (E1,E2) reagent control (E1,E2),

EXAMINATIONS

The following evidential samples were extracted for DNA analysis:

Item A-11: vaginal swabs from Rita Cobb

Item A-18: two semen stains (A-18a and A-18b) on felt pad

Each sample was differentially extracted to separate non-sperm cell DNA from sperm cell DNA. Microscopical examinations were made for the presence of spermatozoa. Recovered DNA was amplified for the DQA1, PM(LDLR, GYPA, HBGG, D7S8, and GC), and D1S80 genetic loci using the polymerase chain reaction (PCR). The DQA1 and PM were typed using immobilized, allele specific probes; the D1S80 was typed using electrophoresis followed by silver staining. The detected alleles were then compared to the DQA1, PM, and D1S80 types of the following reference samples:

Item C, R2356: reference blood sample from J. Sanders
 Item E-1, R2357: reference blood sample from Bill Pope
 Item F, R2358: reference blood sample from Daryl Kramer
 Item G-1, R2359: reference blood sample from Gary Whitesides
 Item I, R2360: reference blood sample from Warren VanVoorhis

Additionally, the following evidential samples were examined by RFLP-DNA analysis using HAE III restriction enzyme and five single-locus probes (YNH24 for D2S44, TBQ7 for D10S28, MS-1 for D1S7, pH30 for D4S139, and LH1 for D5S110) to generate a DNA profile:

Item A-11: vaginal swabs from Rita Cobb (non-sperm and sperm fractions)
 Item A-18b: semen stain on felt pad (sperm fraction)

RESULTS

Microscopical examinations revealed the presence of spermatozoa on slides of extracted samples from the vaginal swabs (Item A-11) from Cobb and the two areas of the felt pad (Items A-18a and A-18b). Due to the relatively low amount of DNA recovered from the stain on the felt pad, Item A-18a, it was not typed for a PCR-DNA profile at this time. The non-sperm fraction of the other felt pad stain (Item A-18b) also was not typed. Table I lists the alleles detected in the vaginal swab extracts and the felt pad sperm fraction.

Table I

Alleles Detected in Evidential Samples

Item and Description	DQA1	LDLR	GYP A	HBGG	D7S8	GC	D1S80
A-11: vaginal swabs, non-sperm	1,2,2 (4.1)	B	A	A	AB	C	18,24
A-11: vaginal swabs, sperm	4.1	AB	A	BC	AB	AC	18,24
A-18: felt pad, sperm	4.1	AB	A	BC	AB	AC	18,24

() = weak results

The reference samples were first compared to the evidential samples using the D1S80 results. Those reference samples which were not eliminated by D1S80 were then compared to the evidential samples using the PM+DQA1 results. The typing results for the reference samples are listed in Table II.

Table II

Types of Reference Samples

Item and Description	DQA1	LDLR	GYPA	HBBG	D7S8	GC	D1S80
C: Sanders	NR	NR	NR	NR	NR	NR	24,31
E-1: Pope	NR	NR	NR	NR	NR	NR	18,26
F: Kraemer	1,2	B	AB	A	A	AC	18,24
G-1: Whitesides	1,1,3	AB	AB	A	A	AC	24
I: VanVoorhis	NR	NR	NR	NR	NR	NR	24,31

"NR" = no results because not tested

A five probe, RFLP-DNA profile was developed for each of the samples listed in Table I. Because of the PCR-DNA elimination of all five reference blood samples as sources for the semen on the vaginal swabs and felt pad, no RFLP profiles were developed for the reference blood samples.

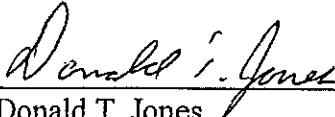

CONCLUSIONS

The PCR-DNA and RFLP-DNA profiles for the sperm fractions of the vaginal swabs from Cobb and the stains on the felt pad indicate both these samples are from a single semen donor. Sanders, Pope, Kraemer, Whitesides, and VanVoorhis are eliminated as possible semen donors for these samples.

The RFLP and PCR DNA profile for the semen donor is found in less than 1 in a billion Caucasians, less than 1 in a billion Hispanics, and less than 1 in a billion Blacks.

DNA profiles for the evidence in this case will remain on file. If other suspected semen donors are found, please submit their whole blood samples (purple top tubes) to the laboratory for comparative analysis.

PRIORITY ASSIGNMENTS
FOR CRIMINALISTICS EVIDENCE EXAMINATIONS

Because we receive more cases than we can work, we have always found it necessary to prioritize certain types of casework. The goal was to focus our efforts and resources where they were most needed. Today, the reasons for prioritization still exist and we are continuing the process.

You will receive notification of the status of your evidence after you submit it to the Laboratory. When the case is reviewed and assigned by a supervising criminalist, that supervisor will also complete the priority form below. The form will then be returned to you by the same method you receive your laboratory reports (pick up or mail).

The prioritization process is only applied to criminalistics cases. Criminalistics examinations include impression comparisons, firearms and toolmark comparisons, serology analyses, trace evidence examinations, etc. Not subject to prioritization are alcohol analyses, controlled drug analyses, toxicology, or requests for field investigations.

PRIORITY DESIGNATION

Priority 1:

Cases assigned this highest priority will usually have a due date. The due date, which may change depending on court dates and other factors, is the date that technical examinations will be complete. A written report will be completed after this date.

Priority 2:

Cases assigned this priority will not have a due date assigned but will be worked as time becomes available.

Priority 3:

This is our lowest priority. Cases with this priority will not be analyzed unless circumstances change.

Should you have any questions regarding this memorandum or priority assignments you receive, please ask for the assignment supervisor at the following telephone number: (909) 387-2200

EVIDENCE

See previous reports dated May 28, 1992; June 1, 1992; and May 15, 1995 for a description of Items A through F.

On April 29, 1999 the reference blood sample for Alva Henderson (R0691) was retrieved from a set of research blood samples in the Central Property freezer.

The following items are also retained:

BC 9942022246

reference blood swatch from Alva Henderson extracted DNA: R0691

EXAMINATIONS

A request was made to compare the reference blood DNA profile of Alva Henderson to the semen donor, DNA profiles developed in the following two homicide cases:

DR 1331490-07; victim Helen Brooks; LR 44452
DR 1331036-07; victim, Rita Cobb; LR 44659

The reference blood sample (R0691) from Alva Henderson was extracted to isolate the DNA. Recovered DNA was amplified for the DQA1, PM (LDLR, GYPA, HBGG, D7S8, and GC), and D1S80 genetic loci using the polymerase chain reaction (PCR). The DQA1 and PM loci were typed using immobilized, allele-specific probes; the D1S80 locus was typed using electrophoresis followed by silver staining. The DQA1, PM, and D1S80 types of this sample were then compared to the previously reported PCR-DNA results in the above mentioned cases.

RESULTS

Table I lists the alleles previously reported in the sperm fractions of the evidential samples examined in the Helen Brooks case, LR 44452. Table II lists the alleles previously reported in the sperm fractions of the evidential samples examined in the Rita Cobb case, LR 44659. Table III lists the PCR-DNA profile for Alva Henderson.

EVIDENCE

See previous reports dated September 30, 1985; November 18, 1985; April 3, 1987; August 23, 1988; June 1, 1999 (LR 71635); and May 27, 1999 (LR 53993) for a description of Items A through I.

The following items are added to BC 9842018029 extracted DNA: A-23, A-23 control; A-24; reagent control; extraction control

(EXAMINATIONS)

The following evidential samples were screened (ortho-tolidine) for the presence of blood then extracted for DNA analysis:

Item A-23: blood on east doorjamb to hall
A-24: bloodstain south doorjamb bedroom

The amount of human DNA recovered was estimated by yield gel analysis and slot blot hybridization to a human DNA specific probe. Recovered DNA was amplified for the DQA1, PM (LDLR, GYPA, HBGG, D7S8, and GC), and D1S80 genetic loci using the polymerase chain reaction (PCR). The DQA1 and PM loci were typed using immobilized, allele-specific probes; the D1S80 locus was typed using electrophoresis followed by silver staining. The detected alleles were then compared to the previously reported DQA1, PM, and D1S80 types of the following reference samples:

Item A-11: Rita Cobb (non-sperm fraction of vaginal swabs)
R2356, C: Reference blood sample from J. Sanders
R2357, E-1: Reference blood sample from Bill Pope
R2358, F: Reference blood sample from Daryl Kramer

R2360, I: Reference blood sample from Warren VanVoorhis
LR 71635, R4535: Reference blood sample from Gregory Randolph
LR 53993, R0691: Reference blood sample from Alva Henderson

Additionally, the detected alleles were compared to the DQA1, PM, and D1S80 types of the following reference samples:

LR 44452, C-1: Reference blood sample from Leo Gavil
 LR 44452, R2325: Reference blood sample from Richard Vaught
 LR 44452, R2326: Reference blood sample from Donald Feeny

 LR 44452, R2330: Reference blood sample from Ricky Fenstermaker
 LR 44452, R2331: Reference blood sample from Frank Francis

RESULTS

A presumptive screening test (ortho-tolidine) was positive for blood on the sample from the east doorjamb (Item A-23) and the sample from the south doorjamb (Item A-24). Human DNA was isolated from both of these stains. Table I lists the alleles detected in these blood stains. The PCR-DNA typing results for the reference samples are listed in Table II.

CONCLUSIONS

Human blood is present in both the stain (Item A-23) on the east doorjamb to the hall and the stain (Item A-24) on the south doorjamb of the bedroom. The PCR-DNA profiles for both these stains match each other and are the same as Rita Cobb. This PCR-DNA profile is found, at random, in

1 in 27 thousand Caucasians,
1 in 160 thousand Hispanics, and
1 in 610 thousand Blacks.

The PCR-DNA profile from these bloodstains does not match the previously reported semen donor profile (see report dated February 26, 1998) nor does it match J. Sanders, Bill Pope, Daryl Kramer, Gary Whitesides, Warren Van Vorhis, Gregory Randolph, Alva Henderson, Leo Gavil, Richard Vaught, Donald Feeny, Raymond Schalk, Thomas Gavel, Allen Scherill, Ricky Fenstermaker, or Frank Francis.

Furthermore, J. Sanders, Bill Pope, Daryl Kramer, Gary Whitesides, Warren Van Vorhis, Gregory Randolph, Alva Henderson, Leo Gavil, Richard Vaught, Donald Feeny, Raymond Schalk, Thomas Gavel, Allen Scherill, Ricky Fenstermaker, and Frank Francis are all eliminated as the source for the semen on the vaginal swabs (Item A-11) from Rita Cobb and the semen on the felt pad (Item A-18).

I GOT 400 PAGES OF INSANE MISTAKE AFTER MISTAKE BY THIS INVESTIGATING DEPARTMENT. HOW MANY PEOPLE ARRESTED IN THESE CASES SINCE '97

SHOWS HE WAS RELEASED 2 DAYS AFTER ARRESTS WHICH JOHNSON CONFIRMED. WHO THE HELL IS WRONG WITH DATE DOESN'T COINCIDE WITH DATE PEOPLE AND HOW DID THEY MAKE DETECTIVE ED GREA THEN ESPINOZA MAKE A STATEMENT THAT CUTS DUDE OFF THE ? HOOK ? ? ?

I AM GOING TO WRITE THIS REPORT MARK EDWARDS TO SEE IF HE CAN BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MURDER. I MAY NOT BE ALLEGGED TO SEND HIM MAIL, WELL SEE BUT KEEP THIS COPY AND GIVE IT TO SANDERS

I ran a records check regarding the Los Alamitos suspect (Robert Mark Edwards/CII #A06751443). Edward's records showed he was arrested/in-custody at CDC on 12/10/85, until he was paroled on 12/12/85. On 11/27/02, I contacted the CDC Statewide Parolee-Locator Service/OBIS (916-358-1847) and spoke to Record's Clerk Scott Johnson. Upon review of their records, Johnson confirmed Edwards was incarcerated from 12/85-12/86.

Based on this information, Edwards could not be a suspect in our murder investigation because he was incarcerated at the time of the murders.

BECAUSE DET. ESPINOZA MADE A MISTAKING STATEMENT ON DATES OF INCARCERATION THEY IGNORED HIS SUSPICION. HE'S ON DEATH ROW FOR MULTIPLE MURDERS OF EXACT SAME CRIME SCENE OR VIRTUALLY IDENTICAL AS

TYPE OF INVESTIGATIONS: Homicide (01)
VICTIM(S): COBB, Rita
SUSPECT(S): UNKNOWN
CASE AGENT: Ortiz
INVESTIGATING AGENCY: SBSD - Specialized Detective Div.
TYPE OF REPORT: DNA - STR (45)
DATE OF REPORT: January 13, 2003

EVIDENCE

For a description of Items A through I, see previous reports dated September 30, 1985, April 3, 1987, August 23, 1988, February 26, 1998, June 1, 1999 (LR 71635), May 27, 1999 (LR 53993) and November 30, 1999 (LR 44452).

EXAMINATIONS

The extracted DNA from the following evidential sample, previously examined, was typed using STR DNA analysis:

Item A-11: Vaginal swabs from COBB

This was accomplished with the amplification of thirteen (13) STR (short tandem repeat) loci plus the Amelogenin locus by the Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR) utilizing the Profiler Plus™ (Amelogenin, D8S1179, D21S11, D18S51, D3S1358, vWA, FGA, D5S818, D13S317 and D7S820) and the COfiler™ (Amelogenin, TH01, TPOX, CSF1PO, D3S1358, D16S539, and D7S820) kits purchased from Applied Biosystems. The PCR products from the Profiler Plus™ and COfiler™ kits were then analyzed on an ABI Prism® 310 Genetic Analyzer (an automated capillary electrophoresis instrument using laser induced fluorescence detection) to determine the STR DNA profiles.

RESULTS

The Profiler Plus™ STR results for the questioned item are presented in Table I. The COfiler™ STR results for the questioned item are presented in Table II.

CONCLUSIONS

ITEM A-11: VAGINAL SWAB FROM RITA COBB

Non-sperm fraction DNA:

The STR DNA profile obtained from the non-sperm fraction of the vaginal swab (Item A-11) is from a single, female donor.

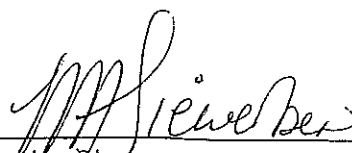

Sperm fraction DNA:

The STR DNA result obtained from the sperm fraction of the vaginal swab (Item A-11) is indicative of a mixture of two individuals. The primary STR DNA profile is from a single, male donor. This primary STR DNA profile can be expected to occur, at random, among the following number of unrelated individuals:

Less than 1 in 6 billion Caucasian males (calculated as 1.9×10^{14})
Less than 1 in 6 billion African American males (calculated as 1.1×10^{16})
Less than 1 in 6 billion Southwestern Hispanic males (calculated as 3.2×10^{13})

The secondary or minor contributor to this STR DNA result is consistent with the non-sperm fraction STR DNA profile.

The primary STR DNA profile for the sperm fraction DNA extracted from the vaginal swabs (Item A-11) from Rita COBB was entered (as "44659 A-11 E2") into the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS) to be searched against other casework profiles and the convicted offender database. The submitting agency will be notified in writing if a matching STR DNA profile is found during this search.

ASSIGNMENT:

On 05/02/05, Lt. Mike Lenihan advised me he had received a telephone call from Mike Safarik from the FBI's Criminal Profiling Unit (phone 703 632-4342) Safarik was inquiring about the murder of Rita Cobb and Helen Brooks. Both women were murdered in 1985, in the high desert (refer DR# 1331036-07, H# 100-85-Cobb and DR# 1331490-07, H# 68-85 Brooks). Safarik had read the VICAP profile on the two cases that was done in 1987 and discovered that a person named William Backoff had been identified as a potential suspect.

He further discovered there was semen located at both crime scenes and wanted to know whether or not a match had ever been made on the suspect. I read some of the lab reports (LR# 44659 -Cobb and LR# 44452 - Brooks) and a genetic DNA profile was obtained on both of these cases from semen left by the suspect. I was unable to locate a document indicating wheatear or not there were two different suspects or the same DNA profile was found at both murder scenes.

I contacted Don Jones at the Sheriff's Crime Lab. Jones was the DNA analyst who did the work on both of these cases and was familiar with them. Jones told me the genetic profiles on the murder cases were from two separate suspects, therefore eliminating the possibility that the same suspect killed both women.

I asked Jones about William Backoff and his DNA profile. There was a DNA profile that was done on Backoff from some cigarette butts brought to the crime lab by Sergeant Brian English. It was at that time I discovered that William Backoff was a fictitious name for Gregory Randolph. Randolph was a Deputy Coroner for the San Bernardino County Coroner's office and raised suspicion by English about his possible involvement in this murder because Randolph was rumored to have several photographs of elderly murdered homicide victims at his residence.

Further, Randolph at some crime scenes displayed what could best be termed as "bazaar behavior" by his actions and verbalizations to English. English observed Randolph throw away a cigarette butt at one time and English took the cigarette butt to a lab so that a profile could be taken from it and compared on these murder cases. The reason the name William Backoff was used was because Randolph was an employee of the Coroner's office and English did not want anybody to know, including the Sheriff's Department's lab that they suspected Randolph maybe a suspect in this case.

Randolph died in 1999, and a reference blood sample was taken from him at his autopsy and a genetic profile was again taken from Randolph's blood sample and compared to both Cobb and Brooks, in a lab report dated June 1, 1999 (LR# 71635). This lab report again confirms that Randolph was not the semen donor on either of these cases.

OTHER INTERVIEW: GEORGE YABLONSKY & BETTE MURIE

On Monday March 9, 2009 at approximately 1700 hours Detective Rob Alexander and I interviewed George Yablonsky and Bette Murie. Alexander previously set up an appointment to speak with George. George is the father of John Yablonsky (suspect). The purpose of the interview was to let George know what was going on and at the same time obtain background information on John Yablonsky. Alexander and I asked George and Bette numerous questions and the following is a summary of the audio recorded statement.

Bette said back in the 1980's she was a hairdresser in Lucerne Valley and Rita was one of her clients. After Rita was murdered she was contacted by a private investigator about 1 year later. The private investigator told her he was hired by Rita's son Daryl. The private investigator contacted her because he found some checks that Rita wrote to her (Bette). Bette explained to the Private Investigator that Rita wrote her those checks because she was Rita's hairdresser.

Bette said she was out of town when Rita was murdered. She found out Rita had been murdered when her boyfriend George Yablonsky telephoned her.

George said when his son John Yablonsky was a baby they lived in Long Beach, California. George's wife and the mother of John was Betty Cook. Betty and he were married from 1960-1970 when they divorced. After they divorced George moved to Lake Arrowhead and Betty maintained custody of their children. Their children were George Jr. (DOB 1961), John (DOB 1963), and Kinney (DOB 1964).

Bette and he had been addicted to narcotics back then and were going through some rough times. Allegedly Bette had been supplying drugs to their young children during that time frame.

Interview Continued: George Yablonsky

When John turned 7 or 8 years old John came and lived with George in Lake Arrowhead. Bette maintained custody of George and Kinney. When John turned 10 years old he moved back with his mother for a while. While John lived with his mother George relocated to Lucerne Valley.

While George lived in Lucerne Valley his son John came and lived with him. John was about 14-16 years old and was currently in high school. George had married Pam Hardwick at that time. George estimated John had been living with Bette for approximately 4-6 years from the time John had last lived with him in Lake Arrowhead.

John had been getting into trouble in high school and relocated back to Bette's house sometime in his junior or senior year.

Sometime after high school John enlisted into the army and was stationed in Texas. During that time John married Holly. John and Holly's first son was named John Jr. AKA "JJ."

While John and Holly were in Texas John had called George. John told George that he had been accused of raping a female but the charges were later dismissed. John also told George that he was playing pool with that female and they made a bet. The bet was that if John lost to her he would pay her $100 and if she lost to him they would have to go back into a back room and have sex. John told George that she lost and they ultimately had sex in a back room. Some how a Pimp got involved in the deal and things went wrong. John denied to George that he ever raped her.

Later while in the military John was stationed in Germany after John Jr. had been born. Holly had been staying with George for a while because she did not relocate to Germany with John. George had taken Holly to the hospital numerous times because she was pregnant with their second child. Holly gave birth to their second child who they named Jasmine. When Holly gave birth to Jasmine John and Holly had been living together at a residence on Fairlane Rd. in Lucerne Valley. John and Holly's residence was near a lady who raised wolves for a living.

Prior to John and Holly moving to the Fairlane residence John and Holly lived with George at this residence we are presently speaking at. John and Holly lived with George for a while before they moved into the Fairlane residence. The Fairlane residence was in shambles. While John and Holly lived at the Fairlane residence John did a lot of work to the property in order to fix it. Living inside the Fairlane residence was John, Holly, John Jr., and Jasmine.

Alexander asked George and Bette if they recalled John and Holly residing in the studio apartment in Rita's house. Both of them thought about it for a while and both stated it sounded familiar but they weren't entirely sure they had lived there. George said he recalled doing some work to Rita's house but he could not remember what the exact work was.

While in Lucerne Valley John worked for George. George owned a business installing doors and windows. George co-signed for a vehicle so John would have transportation. The vehicle was a tan 1978 Toyota pick up truck which had a regular cab. John made the payments to George and then George made the payments to the bank. This was John's work truck. Alexander asked George and Bette if they recalled John owning a Ford Pinto in the 1980's. Both of them stated they did not recall John owning a Pinto. Alexander then said John had told us during the interview he purchased the Ford Pinto for Holly so she could get around town. George and Bette then stated that did sound familiar to them and that could be quit possible.

Interview Continued: George Yablonsky

After Holly and John lived at the Fairlane residence for quite some time they relocated to Holly's mother's house in Long Beach. While they resided in Long Beach John stopped making the truck payments to George so George repossessed the truck from John. George and Bette estimated Jasmine was about 1 years old when John and Holly relocated to Long Beach to live with Holly's mother.

George and Bette both stated that they could not believe John killed Rita. They both stated that John had been addicted to narcotics during that time and was going through some bad times due to his drug abuse but that was not the type of person he was. George said his son has made a lot of mistakes in the past but nothing like this. John was a thief but he had never known John to get violent with anyone. Both of them guessed if John had in fact did this it could not have been the real John and the real John meaning he had to be under the influence of drugs at the time.

George and Bette did not have any further information to provide at this time and their interview was concluded at approximately 1830 hours.

FORD PINTO: Possible suspect vehicle

Information: On September 26, 1985, Det. McCoy spoke with Diane Flagg. Diane told McCoy she recalled seeing a silver colored Ford Pinto parked at Rita Cobb's home on Friday (09-20-85) or Saturday (09-21-85). There was no additional information in the supplemental.

- Refer to Neighborhood Contact dated 09-27-1985 by Det. McCoy

On January 29, 2009, Det. Myler queried DMV Records on vehicles registered to John H. Yablonsky. DMV Records have John H. Yablonsky as owning a 1978 Ford Pinto with California license plate #2DYD884 and VIN #8T11Y139413 assigned to the vehicle.

On February 02, 2009, I contacted SanCat, Auto Theft Task force, and requested they run the VIN through NCIB (Insurance data base) for information regarding the vehicle. The VIN was entered into the NCIB Data Base with the following result:

- 1978 Ford Pinto, 2-door, Hatchback unknown color. Additionally, there was no record of the vehicle being involved in a collision or being salvaged/scraped.

I contacted California DMA and asked for a Certified History of VIN #8T11Y139413. I spoke with "Kathy" who told me the vehicle was last registered in 1988 to John Yablonsky and there was no further record(s) for this VIN. She told me the records were too old and there was no additional information.

I contacted Dep. Sahagun of the Lucerne Valley Station and asked that he drive to 9884 Trade Post Rd. in Lucerne Valley. This address is the last known address of George Yablonsky the father of John Yablonsky. Sahagun did as requested and confirmed George still lives at that residence. Sahagun also told me he did not see a Ford Pinto on the property but there was shed and a barn on the property. It is possible the Ford Pinto is in the shed or barn.

VIEW YABLONSKY PROPERTY; for Ford Pinto

Information: On September 26, 1985, Det. McCoy spoke with Diane Flagg who recalled that on either Friday, September 20, 1985 or Saturday, September 21, 1985, she saw numerous cars parked in front of Rita Cobb's home. Flagg remembers seeing a silver colored Ford Pinto parked on Rita's property.

In January 2009, I contacted the California Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) and asked them to query their archive records for vehicles registered to John Yablonsky. I requested they provide a copy of all records of every vehicle registered to John Yablonsky (past and present records). About 2-3 weeks later, I received records that John Yablonsky owned a Ford Pinto in 1985 and the vehicle was still registered to him.

- Refer to DMV records

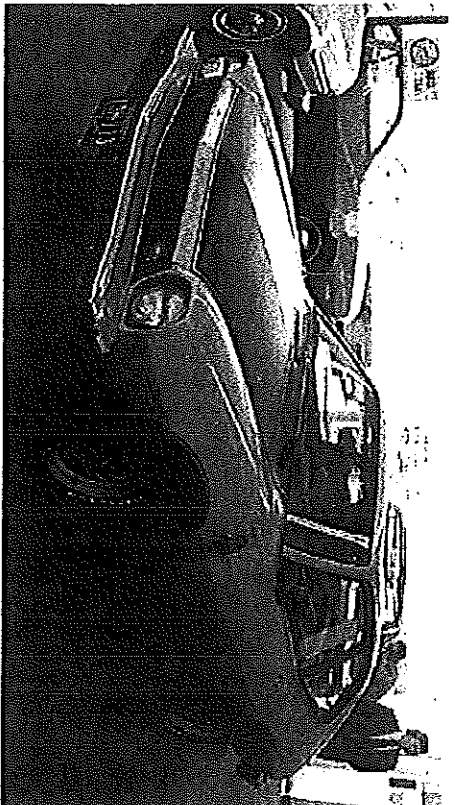

Follow up: After learning John Yablonsky owned a Ford Pinto, I contacted SanCat Auto Theft Task Force and asked them to research the VIN for the Ford Pinto and provide me with any information such as make, model, color...etc. I was told their vehicle records would not provide information such as color.

I queried various law enforcement data bases and found George Yablonsky, the father of John Yablonsky, still lived in Lucerne Valley on Trade Post Road. I contacted Dep. Buchanan from the Lucerne Valley Station and asked him to look on the Yablonsky property for a Ford Pinto.

Buchanan did as I requested. He found the gate open/unlocked and walked around the property but did not find a Ford Pinto. He looked in the front yard, backyard, in the garage and shed but did not find a Ford Pinto.

- To date there is no record of the vehicle being salvaged or junked. I do not know where it is located.

The 1976 Ford Pinto was the first to break from the look established in 1971.

There was more bright trim, too. The headlight bezels were newly chrome plated, and a strip of polished aluminum ran between them at the forward edge of the hood. Block letters on the hood identified the Pinto as a Ford.

From the marketing standpoint, there were a few more alternatives for buyers of Ford's subcompact. Dealers started to promote the Pinto as an "import fighter."

For those looking to really drive on the cheap, there was a new Pony MPG sedan. By shaving $130 off the standard four-cylinder sedan's $3,025 base price, the Pony buyer received about as bare-bones of a car as the government would allow to be sold. Inexpensive cloth seats, black rubber floor mats, and a more economical 3.00:1 axle came standard. (The 3.18 axle was now standard on all other four-cylinder Pintos, all of which were known as MPGs).

Going in the other direction, a special Stallion edition of the Pinto also appeared this year. As with the 1972 Sprint, this rather attractive package resembled similarly trimmed Mustangs and Mavericks. Features included silver paint with blacked-out grille, window frames, and headlight surrounds. A matte-black finish was also applied to the hood and cowi.

The Stallion was topped off with a pair of black sport mirrors; special logo decals on the fenders; forged aluminum wheels shod with A73313 raised-white-letter, wide-oval tires; plus a special handling suspension. This package added $283 to the base hatchback's $3,200 base price.

There were a couple of other minor variations that were new for the year. The V-6 was now available in the two-door sedan, and a Squire version of the Runabout was added. It included a wide band of imitation-wood trim on the bodysides, plus bright side-window and drip-trail trim.

Pinto sported some very interesting color combinations, especially in its interiors, with a Ford-exclusive vinyl-weave fabric available in one of four colors, or several choices of a nylon-based plaid pattern. An interesting innovation was the use of a vinyl half top that covered only the area ahead of the rear roof pillar.

No major mechanical innovations were announced for '76, except that the base four was boosted to 92 horsepower at 5,000 rpm and the optional V-6 to 103 horsepower at 4,400 revolutions.

Within a generally improved automobile market in 1976, Pinto production perked up. A total of 290,132 -- an increase of nearly 30 percent -- were run off for the model year.

1977 Ford Pinto

Even though Henry Ford II had promised no annual changes just for the sake of change, the 1977 Ford Pinto did receive an attractive facelift. Up front, a narrower chrome-plated plastic grille composed of six rows of rectangles sat between vertically bisected parking and turn-signal lamps. The grille ensemble was cantled back toward the top between similarly angled body-color headlight buckets that looked almost like the "frenched" lights on customized cars of the Fifties.

Sedan and Runabout taillights were redone for the first time, enlarged with a sectioned red plastic lens, plus a white inset lens for the back-up lights.

The 1977 Ford Pinto may have looked better after a facelift, but it also cost more.

An improved electronic ignition system called DuraSpark now brought Pinto engines to life. Power, however, was down slightly in both; the four now made 89 horsepower at 4,800 rpm, and the six generated 93 horsepower at 4,200 rpm.

Horsepower may have been going up and down from year to year, but one thing was rising steadily: prices. The car that Ford exec Lee Iacocca had initially wanted to sell for no more than $2,000 now cost at least $3,000, even for a stripped-down Pony sedan ($3,099). At the high end, a four-cylinder station wagon now started at $3,548, and Squire equipment added $343 to the bill.

Another option open to wagon buyers was the Cruising Wagon, a $416 package that attempted to turn the Pinto hauler into a miniature version of the custom vans that had become quite the rage in the Seventies. The package started with a filler panel for all rear-side windows. A portholelike "bubble" window was added toward the rear on each side.

Remaining exterior touches included a choice of several colorful bodyside tapestripe selections, color-keyed dual racing mirrors, front spoiler, and polished aluminum wheels. Inside, a carpeted cargo area extended to the sidewalls in the rear compartment.

Even with escalating prices, Pinto buyers were still in the market for a few extras for their motoring pleasure. In addition to several sound systems including AM/FM with eight-track players and air conditioning, Ford offered a whole treasure trove of accessories.

New this year for the sedan and Runabout was a pop-up glass sunroof that could be removed altogether. Runabouts could be given an even airier look via a solid-glass rear hatch that cost just $13. (One extra that failed to come back to the Runabout this year was the Squire trim option.)

Interiors were rather snazzy with plaid cloth and striking color combinations in vinyl, featuring plush Ruffino leather-like graining, or special stitching patterns. Available on both the sedan and Runabout were bold accent-stripe decor groups, one of which even resembled the look of the red and white Ford Torino seen weekly on the Starsky and Hutch television series.

Television also played an important role in promoting the Pinto, not only through commercials, but by appearing in a number of series. Few regular viewers of the original Charlie's Angels can forget Kate Jackson's orange and white Runabout.

Despite the improved looks and celebrity rub-off, Pinto sales were starting to fall victim to the growing reports of explosive rear-end collisions. Ford touted improved cushioning of all fuel tanks and the massive recall efforts it was launching, but this failed to build consumer confidence.

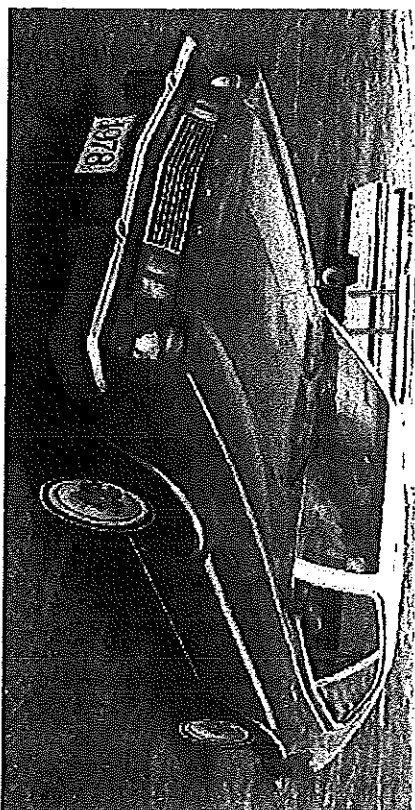

Resale value of used Pintos was affected as well, falling far below the established curve for other cars in its class. Just 202,549 of the Ford subcompacts rolled off the assembly line this year, the fewest yet for any season.

1978 Ford Pinto

So close in looks were the 1978 Ford Pinto models to the previous year's cars that sales literature actually recycled a number of '77 photos. About the only cosmetic news was the shuffling of a few exterior colors and changes to a couple of the appearance packages.

The 1978 Ford Pinto was virtually the same as the 1977 model.

Most notable was a new Rallye edition available for sedans and Runabouts. It featured black window trim, gold tapestripping, a front spoiler, sports mirrors, and four-spoke styled-steel wheels with trim rings. Also, a sedan delivery version of the Pinto wagon was added during the year. Between the body's metal side panels sat a full-length flat cargo floor. Available options included a rear-window security screen.

Except for some slight revision of horsepower ratings, the 1978 Pinto was unchanged from 1977. The four now made 88 horsepower (a loss of one), while the V-6 generated 90 horsepower (a decline of three).

Probably the most dramatic change for this season was in pricing. While the starting price of an entry-level Pony sedan was just $40 higher than the year before, other models were boosted by about $400 or more.

Continuing bad press and the growing influence of import competitors continued to erode the Pinto's customer base. Production slumped below 190,000. While demand for sedans actually rose a bit, wagon orders declined by 34 percent. As a result, the Runabout was the most-popular Pinto for the first time since 1972.

1979 Ford Pinto

When the 1979 Ford Pinto opened its model year, it was apparent that the car was in its waning days. In an attempt to give the now eight-year-old design a little more market appeal, a front-end redo was mandated.

A front-end makeover for 1979 wouldn't be enough to save the Ford Pinto.

Rectangular headlights, the use of which had been growing on American cars since the mid Seventies, finally found their way onto the Pinto. A wide grille of chrome-plated plastic with four rows of fine squares filled the center of the car, while a new bumper adorned with black-plastic rub strips and cushioning vinyl guards at the ends was employed. The hood and front fenders were reshaped, too. At the rear of sedan and Runabout models, large, unframed, red plastic taillight lenses graced the back panel.

On the inside, there was a redesigned instrument cluster. In place of the two round pods that had formerly housed all necessary gauges since '71, the new dash featured square gauges: speedometer on the right, fuel gauge and engine-monitoring warning lights to the left.

Entry-level Pinto buyers now had an expanded choice of models when a Pony edition of the station wagon was added to the lineup. Those who had a little extra cash to lavish on their Pinto had other options.

A new "European-inspired" ESS package for the sedan and Runabout came with silver paint and black accents around the window trim, dual racing mirrors, back panel, and bodyside moldings. The grille and headlamp buckets were charcoal colored. Styled steel wheels and a front stabilizer bar completed the external portion of the package (though Runabouts were also equipped with the all-glass hatch).

Interior appointments kept the performance theme alive with a leather-wrapped steering wheel and shift knob, plus an instrument cluster with a tachometer, ammeter, and coolant-temperature gauge.

The Cruising Wagon continued with several different stripe kits available. To capitalize on the eye appeal of this package, a similar setup was newly offered for the Runabout. Like the Cruising Wagon, the $330 hatchback package included blackout trim in all the usual places, multicolor bodyside stripes, white-painted styled-steel wheels, a sport steering wheel, and the gauge package.

It's not surprising that most print advertising for the Pinto featured models well under the age of 30. Even the Squire, a family vehicle, showed young couples with toddlers beside the car.

However, as much as marketing tried to shore up the product, outside factors were taking their tolls. Hefty awards from civil juries and word of memos from inside the company that appeared to put financial decisions ahead of human life were damning. Then, too, prices continued to rise.

Still, there was a slight increase in 1979 Pinto production, topping at 199,018 cars. For the first time since 1971, when it had a production head start on the Runabout, the basic two-door sedan was Pinto's popularity leader.

As the Seventies came to a close, America was a nation in turmoil. Inflation was running rampant, accelerated during the latter half of 1979 by another fuel crisis that sent the price of gasoline to more than a dollar a gallon in most places. Domsday investors ran the price of gold to $800 an ounce as militants in Iran's Islamic revolution stormed the U.S. embassy in Tehran and took Americans hostage for well more than a year.

There were still Cold War tensions, too. President Jimmy Carter announced a U.S. boycott of the 1980 Summer Olympics in Moscow to protest the USSR's invasion of Afghanistan.

There was little joy in Detroit amid all these events. It seems that Henry Ford II summed up the American auto industry's feelings when he said, "The U.S. industry is facing an economic Pearl Harbor."

Behind his comment was the fact that due to what many felt were too-liberal trade agreements, a growing share of the auto market was being gobbled up by Japanese manufacturers. Their cars had come to the fore among the imports during the Seventies, growing to 26.7 percent of the total market, and had contributed to a $40 billion combined loss from American carmakers.

In late 1978, Lee Iacocca was sent packing from Ford Motor Company for what many feel were the disastrous memos about the Pinto gas-tank debacle that led to his desk. Not only was Henry Ford II unhappy with the huge amounts paid in fines and punitive damages, but he realized how this negative news could affect all aspects of the family business. It was no secret that Henry and Lee didn't see eye to eye anymore, and, in the end, the man whose last name was on the building won out.

1980 Ford Pinto

The 1980 Ford Pinto was still in the mix when Ford unveiled that year's model lineup in fall 1979. With the front-wheel-drive Escort waiting in the wings, the Pinto was on its last go-round, so virtually no money had been allocated for updates. In fact, the biggest technical news of the year might have been the deletion of the V-6 from the options list; the 2.3 four would go it alone for '80.

Even in the Pinto's death throes, marketing was able to spruce up the little car with several appearance packages. Runabouts could be decked out with the striped and bespoilered Rallye Pack, the Cruising package, and the ESS option group. The Cruising Wagon returned, too, this time with a Rallye variant. To the end, the price-conscious could still get Pony versions of the sedan and station wagon.

The inflationary spiral of the national economy was clearly reflected in Pinto window stickers. Base prices had more than doubled in the car's 10 years on the market. Even a Pony sedan now started out at $4,117. The Squire station wagon was tagged at $5,320 before extras -- and there were almost always some of those added to the price.

Perhaps that explains why the the sedan again won the greatest share of Pinto orders, and why the wagon saw the lowest production count in its history with just 39,159 made. With the final 185,054 units produced for the 1980 model year, more than 3.1 million of the little ponies had come down the trail.

The Pinto Fire Controversy

One of the biggest continuing automotive news stories in the latter part of the Seventies dealt with tales of exploding Ford Pintos and the considerable awards civil-court juries were presenting to victims of accidents involving the cars. Was the Pinto fire controversy a lot of hype, or had Ford truly discounted human lives in order to save a few dollars?

As early as 1972, reports of explosions in low-speed collisions involving Pintos struck from the rear started to come in to the National Highway Safety and Transportation Administration. Accident investigations in many of the cases revealed that victims had few, if any, trauma injuries as a result of the impacts, but had burned to death when the cars exploded into flames. Some had been trapped inside the cars due to the body buckling and doors becoming jammed shut.

By the 1973 model year, Ford may have already known the Pinto was a fire hazard.

Fire safety had been a major concern at Ford since the mid Sixties. Arjay Miller, then company president, had been involved in a fiery crash while driving his new 1965 Lincoln Continental. When traffic slowed unexpectedly, he was rear-ended by another car. The fuel tank started to leak and a spark sent the rear of the luxury car up in flames.

Fortunately, the driver's door wasn't damaged and Miller was able to get out relatively unscathed. He went on a crusade for safer fuel tanks, and worked with several suppliers for systems that would contain highly flammable gasoline and give motorists a wider margin of safety. He even testified before Congress about the importance Ford Motor Company placed on the matter. What went wrong with the Pinto, then?

Records indicated that Ford had first conducted rear-end collision tests on the Pinto in December 1970, months after it was already in production. Initially, 11 carefully coordinated crashes were conducted, and in all but three of them, gas tanks ruptured and often burst into flames. In the three tests that didn't result in fires, the cars had prototype safety devices that engineers had developed while working with suppliers.

Most effective was the use of a rubber bladder/liner produced by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. Despite rupturing the exterior of the tank, no fuel was spilled, and no fire resulted. It was estimated that the unit cost of bladders would have amounted to $5.08 per car.

The second method that had been employed was an extra steel plate attached to the rear of the car just behind the bumper, isolating the tank from direct contact during impact. It successfully warded off a blow at 30 mph, helping to keep the tank intact. No company cost analysis was done at the time, but experts felt that this part could have cost up to $11 per car to install.

Engineers found that the majority of the ruptures were caused by two factors: 1) the filler neck breaking off and allowing fuel to pour out, where it could be exposed to an ignition source; and 2) the tank being penetrated by contact with the differential mounting bolts and right shock absorber.

This is where a third successful fix had been devised -- a rather simple plastic insulator fitted on the differential that would keep the bolts from ever making contact with the fuel tank. Cost of this item was less than $1.

Several company memos presented as evidence during the civil trials revealed that these remedies were discussed, with the conclusion that to shut down production and retool would be too expensive. Most damaging to Ford were memos found and published by author/researcher Mark Dowie in the muckraking magazine Mother Jones that detailed a cost analysis of corporate liability in the event of having to compensate crash victims.

Experts calculated the value of a human life at around $200,000, while a serious burn injury was worth about $67,000. Using an estimate of 180 deaths and 180 serious burns, someone put on paper that the cost to redesign and rework the Pinto's gas tank would cost close to $137 million, while possible liability costs worked out to around $49 million.

Comparisons were drawn up between the Pinto and the imported Capri that was being sold by Lincoln-Mercury dealers. Both cars were of similar size and construction, but everyone agreed that the Capri's fuel tank was in a much safer location: up and away from the rear bumper, and less vulnerable in a rear-end collision.

Ford engineers argued that to place the tank any higher up in the Pinto would rob the trunk of already meager storage space, and that even a set of golf clubs would have a hard time being squeezed into the leftover space.

Ultimately, 27 people were determined to have been killed in rear-end-crash explosions involving Pintos. In one of the few cases brought to trial, a California jury awarded a boy who had been severely burned and disfigured a total of $126 million. The driver of the car had died from her injuries a few days after the accident.

When the memos regarding the liability assessments were entered into evidence, the case was as good as over. Even after a judge reduced the amount to $3.5 million on appeal, this was far more than the company had ever counted on paying. It was a real wake-up call for Ford, whose legal teams went to work to try and settle as many of the pending cases as possible out of court.

Matters were to get even more serious for the company. In 1978, Elkhart County, Indiana, Prosecutor Michael Cosentino called for a grand jury hearing in the case of three girls who had died in a Pinto collision fire. As a result of the grand jury findings, he filed criminal charges of negligent homicide against officials of the Ford Motor Company.

Once again, Ford's corporate legal machine went to work. It was found that the accident had occurred on a stretch of road that was notorious for being dangerous. Then, too, the driver of the speeding van that rear-ended the Pinto was in possession of alcohol and drugs, which were deemed to have contributed more to the accident than anything else.

Ultimately, the trial judge had to dismiss the criminal charges. However, this was another stern warning not only to Ford, but to all of American industry regarding its responsibility for product safety.

Finally, in September 1978, Ford issued a recall for 1.5 million 1971-76 Pinto sedans and Runabouts, plus all similar 1975-76 Mercury Bobcats, for a safety repair. Each car received a new fuel-tank filler neck that extended deeper into the tank and was more resistant to breaking off in a rear-end collision. A plastic shield was installed between the differential and the tank, as well as another to deflect contact with the right-rear shock absorber.

(While not totally immune from the hazards of rear-end collisions, station wagons -- with their 10 extra inches of rear-end sheetmetal and different configuration for the fuel filler -- were deemed far safer, and were not a part of the recall notice.)

Reflecting on the Pinto incident and Ford's attempts to control the damage at the risk of its public image, former Ford exec Lee Iacocca made this summation in his book Talking Straight: "Clamming up is what we did at Ford in the late '70s when we were bombarded with suits over the Pinto, which was involved in a lot of gas tank fires. The suits might have bankrupted the company, so we kept our mouths shut for fear of saying anything that just one jury might have construed as an admission of guilt. Winning in court was our top priority; nothing else mattered. And of course, our silence added to all the suspicions people had about us and the car."

The Ultimate Ford Pinto

It just seems like some people can't leave well enough alone, especially with Ford products. Look at what Carroll Shelby did with the Mustang, or how Bill Stroppe juiced the Bronco. Then along came a tame little subcompact, and some people even tried to build the ultimate Ford Pinto.

At first, it only had a simple four-cylinder engine that was economical and easy to maintain. Who could put any real zip in this little pony? It would take another legend from the world of Ford motorsports to come up with that answer.

One of the most-successful dealerships in marketing the Pinto was Huntington Ford, in Arcadia, California. Huntington sold more than 400 of the little compacts in its first year, and nearly another 550 in the car's second season.

In 1972, the dealership's sales manager, Jack Stratton, approached owner Clare Hoke with an idea to make the Southern California agency the world headquarters for Pinto performance. To accomplish this goal, the talents of well-known Ford performance master Ak Miller were called upon.

After a few months of secret design, testing, and development, Huntington Ford announced that a new super Pinto had been born and was ready to be marketed. Its name was Pangra.

Immediately recognizable from the outside, this new mini muscle car wore an aerodynamic front clip that extended its length by a full 10 inches.

Huntington Ford offered the Pangra in four versions, and kit number 1 consisted solely of the fiberglass front end including the hood, fenders, cowl, and pop-up headlights.

Kit 2 included all of the appearance pieces plus Recaro high-back buckets seats, a package of Stewart-Warner gauges, plus visually appealing custom console and dash trim. Also supplied was a set of cast and machined "mag-shot" wheels riding on the top-line "fat" tires of the day, 175HR13s up front and 185HR13s to the rear.

The third package took all the aforementioned equipment and added to it a Spearco "Can-Am" kit that employed shortened coil springs up front, heavy-duty stabilizer bars at both ends, and a full set of Koni shock absorbers.

Then there was Kit 4: everything, plus a Spearco turbocharger fitted to the same 2.0-liter ohc four-cylinder engine that served hundreds of thousands of factory-stock Pintos in naturally aspirated form.

How did this horse of a different color measure up to the competition? At the time, Motor Trend had also commissioned its version of a "super" Pinto, plus it got its hands on a pair of Porsches -- a base 914, with a 1.7-liter flat four-cylinder, and a 914-S, with its larger 2.0-liter engine. In 0-to-60-mph runs, the Pangra averaged 7.5 seconds. The best any of the others could do was 10.5 seconds from the 914-S.

Of course, the Pangra did have a few advantages, such as an estimated 285 horsepower from an engine otherwise rated at about 86 horsepower in stock trim. From the factory, the Porsche 914-S delivered 91 gross SAE-rated horsepower. In handling, the Pangra's upgraded suspension and meaty rubber produced tremendous grip. MT writers said the car "clings like Saranwrap."

The test results weren't necessarily a function of the axiom that "you get what you pay for." The estimated cost of the Pangra, delivered in Arcadia, was $4,600, while even the basic Porsche 914 was listed at $5,300, and the S version required another $288.

By the end of 1974, with the introduction of stronger engines and further restrictions on altering factory emissions systems, the Pangra faded from view. Unfortunately, there are no accurate records of how many of them were produced.

The Birth of the Ford Pinto

The 1971-1980 Ford Pinto was another of Ford's "pony" cars. Dozens of accounts have been written to commemorate Lee Iacocca's foresight in pushing for production of the Mustang, the sporty compact that started the ponycar craze in the mid Sixties. However, there was another "pony" car during his tenure at Ford, and Iacocca is less freely associated with the birth of the Ford Pinto. Perhaps he would prefer it that way.

Like the Mustang, this car was a marketing success in a new field. But along the way, it had to weather some distinctly bad publicity that the Mustang did not. This other "pony" — Ford's fourth product line to follow the equine theme — was the subcompact Pinto.

There was nothing really fancy about the Pinto. Its main goals were to provide reasonable comfort and adequate performance for modern freeways while being economical to buy and maintain. By all accounts, Iacocca watched over the birth of this car closer than he had with the Mustang, and was determined that it would not cost a penny more than $2,000, nor weigh an ounce more than 2,000 pounds.

Ford started toying with the idea of a domestically produced smaller compact in the mid Sixties. As early as 1967, there had been some consideration of an 85-inch-wheelbase car powered by something with less than six cylinders. Iacocca, then executive vice president in charge of Ford's North American Vehicle Operations, argued that between the Volkswagen from Germany and the rising tide of Japanese compacts, these imports would soon capture the entire subcompact market in the United States, and Ford should produce a car to meet these foreign challengers head-on.

After the successful launch of the Mustang and an upswing in sales, many felt Iacocca was next in line for the presidency at Ford. However, when Arjay Miller left the post in late 1967 to become Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors, Henry Ford II surprised nearly everyone in the industry when he went outside the company to General Motors and brought over Semon "Bunkie" Knudsen. This created tension between the Iacocca camp and those who got into Knudsen's corner. Cold shoulders were commonplace on the upper floors of the big "glass house" in Dearborn.

Adding to the ill feelings was the fact that Knudsen was completely out of sync with Iacocca's plans for a small domestically built car. According to the new president, Ford would get by just fine by concentrating on the current full-size, mid-size, and compact offerings. In Knudsen's view, Ford was already ahead of the game with the 1970 Maverick, due out in early '69 as a replacement for the aging Falcon.

However, Iacocca argued that confronting the imports directly was the best course. His little "G-car" might have been a little too small, but something smaller than Maverick was going to be necessary. That need only intensified after reports came in that the other U.S. automakers were planning to field smaller-than-compact cars.

Iacocca's persistence paid off and in January 1969, Henry Ford II gave his approval for Ford's first domestic sub-compact. This defeat, plus continuing pressures from other areas of the company, led to Knudsen getting the word from HFI that his efforts as president were "just not working." In due time, the presidency was Iacocca's.

(By some accounts, Knudsen did have a substantial role in the Pinto project. In an interview published in the April 1994 issue of Collectible Automobile®, former Ford stylist Bob Thomas recalled the process this way: "My design turned out to be the exterior for the Pinto. I was amazed at the package for the Pinto ... After they showed this model, Bunkie picked it -- and that was it. Of course, Knudsen didn't get any credit for the Pinto because shortly afterwards he left, not by his own choice.")

Bringing the Ford Pinto to Life

With the OK given in 1969 to move ahead on bringing the Ford Pinto to life, a release date in less than 20 months, September 1970, was set. Heading up the program, code-named "Phoenix" -- ironic, as it would turn out -- was Frank G. Olsen, an experienced engineer who had worked on several other projects, including the Mustang and the upscale Ford Fairlane and Torino.

In an article published by the Society of Automotive Engineers, Olsen laid out the published objectives from the "Phoenix Green-Book" that set up the schedule and developmental steps for the project. Among the goals was that the car would present superior appearance, passenger comfort, amenities, ride, handling, and performance.

In February 1969, a 32-man group, including the chief engineers from all areas of Ford's manufacturing division, went on a three-day shakedown cruise of cars already in the market that the new little Ford would be broaching. These included two Fiats, the 850 and 124; the Volkswagen Beetle; Opel Kadett; Toyota Corolla; and, from England, a Vauxhall Viva and a member of the company's extended family, a Ford Escort. Their goal, according to Harold Freers, Ford's chief engineer, was to come up with an "Americanized compact."

Each test car was rated in a number of areas to determine where the focal points of Ford's entry should be. It was generally agreed that Volkswagen would be the overall main target. In terms of quietness, Toyota was considered tops, while the Fiat 850 was deemed most comfortable. The team also agreed that for ride and handling, the Opel couldn't be beat.

Using unitized construction, an area where Ford had plenty of experience, new ways were sought to make the package as light as possible, yet still retain rigidity. Starting with a stamped under-body platform, the structural members and outer sheetmetal were uniformly welded together.

According to Ford, this would improve hood, decklid, and door fit, thus reducing rattles, squeaks, and leaks from wind, rain, or dust. A "halo" ring held the bodysides in place, cutting down on weight, while providing additional rollover protection.

This development didn't happen overnight. Almost from the moment that Pintos started to hit the test track, major flaws began to appear. "Hardly a week went by when we didn't need the body engineers. We went through a number of redesigns to make it pass," Freers told Motor Trend.

Most of the structural-integrity problems centered on making the body solid and stiff, while using as little material as possible. Some of these problems were solved with new ways of using the front cross members, the rear end, and even the dashboard as a unifying source.

A major hurdle to overcome was containing passenger-compartment noise. At the time, high-dollar Lincoln sedans carried a total of 140 pounds of sound-absorption material. Mavericks had just 28 pounds of the stuff, and with a target weight of a quarter-ton less for the upcoming subcompact, only 12 pounds were available.

A new process of heat-curing vinyl sealing material was one of the innovations used with the Pinto. This custom-formed plastic bond was applied to the full length of the outer panel seams and joints to help cut noise. Plastic was used extensively in the Pinto to cut down on both weight and cost, such as a number of interior components as well as the front grille.

Engineers tending to passenger comfort managed to stretch the cabin to its absolute maximum, allowing for six-and-a-half-footers to easily enter and exit. All dashboard controls, the gearshift lever, pedals, and gauges were laid out for easy control and monitoring. Servicing was also a priority, as the main cluster housing the speedometer plus fuel, oil, and electrical monitors could be removed in just a few minutes with the use of a simple screwdriver.

Probably the most important ingredient for the Pinto recipe would be the drivetrain. Looking to existing products from Ford's European operations, two likely candidates were found that would fill the bill.

There was a little inline overhead-cam four-cylinder known as the Kent engine. Introduced in 1959, it had already proven its durability in a number of British models, starting with the Anglia. Its basic design had started at just under one liter for use in Anglias, but had grown rapidly for use in Consuls and Zephyrs, eventually hitting 1.3 liters for use in the Cortina by 1962. A couple of years later, displacement had grown to 1.5 liters, and there was still room to go.

As the horsepower race of the Sixties continued in England, though at a much slower pace than in America, the Kent engine received another boost in displacement, to 1.6 liters in 1967, and was aimed primarily for the Cortina GT models. So durable was the little Kent that its basic design served as the basis for engines used in Colin Chapman's Lotus road and race cars.

The engine's proven qualities made it a natural for Ford's new American-built subcompact car. As used in the Pinto, it was rated at 75 horsepower at 5,000 rpm, with torque measured at 96 pound-feet at 3,000 revs. Induction came through a single-throat carburetor with an automatic choke for simplified operation. Cross-flow cylinder heads improved power by virtually eliminating the combustion chambers. Dubbed the Pinto 1600 (for its displacement in cubic centimeters), this would be the base powerplant.

Knowing that Americans love power under the hood, engineers went shopping for a slightly larger engine that could be offered as an option. This time it was Ford of Germany that supplied the goods, another overhead-cammer with a proven racing heritage in Europe, the 2.0-liter "Cologne Four." It made 100 horses at 5,600 rpm, and was considerably stronger than the base engine, generating 120 pound-feet of torque at 3,600 rpm. It, too, had a cross-flow cylinder head with larger valves and ported manifolds.

Power was conducted through another proprietary component, a smart little four-speed gearbox based on a similar unit that had been successfully used by Ford of Britain for many years. Both engines would be equipped with the stickshift as standard equipment, but a Cruise-O-Matic three-speed automatic was available to those who opted for the 2.0-liter engine.

Expectations for the Pinto

One of the most important demands for the Ford Pinto was that it provide superior handling, and here again Ford engineers worked miracles to meet the expectations for the Pinto.

Steering was by rack and pinion. While this was still a relatively new feature for most U.S. drivers, it had become the standard of production overseas.

Using a ratio of 22:1, a compact steering wheel of just 15 inches in diameter provided a sports-car feel. Combined with the light weight of the car, there would be no need for power assist.

To smooth out the ride, a combination of short and long A-arms were employed in an independent suspension that was effectively a downsized replica of those used in other domestic Ford products. Coil springs were mounted between the lower A-arm and spring-pocket projections in the upper cross member. Double-acting shock absorbers were mounted inside the coil springs and were easily accessible for replacement, which met another design goal.

The rear axle and suspension were very contemporary, starting with the use of 46.5-inch-long multileaf semielliptical springs mounted to rubber-insulated anchors that helped reduce vibration and road noise. Staggered shock absorbers were used to counteract wheel hop, plus assist with acceleration and braking. Braking was accomplished via a quartet of nine-inch drums equipped with self-adjusters. Optionally available were front disc brakes, a requirement when the larger engine was ordered.

Initial plans called for the Pinto to be issued in three distinctive body styles: a two-door sedan, a "three-door" hatchback, and a two-door station wagon. However, as production neared, and continuing problems with body rigidity plagued the design and engineering teams, it was decided that all efforts to correct the problems for launch would be concentrated on the base sedan.

Sitting on a 94.2-inch wheelbase, overall length was just 163 inches. The car's basic design featured a proportionately longer hood with a fastback rear design featuring a short decklid that started at the base of the rear window. Pinto came standard with 6.00X13 black-sidewall bias-ply tires, though optional selections included whitewalls and radials. Extra-cost flipper-type rear-quarter windows provided better ventilation, and comfort, for rear-seat passengers.

The front-end design featured a simple chrome-plated plastic grille filled with vertical slats. At the far ends were combination park and turn-signal lights. Keeping costs at a minimum, only two headlights were used, mounted on the leading edge of the front fenders. A simple chrome-plated blade bumper capped off Pinto's face. Rear-end styling was simple, too: a flat panel with taillight assemblies straight out of the 1970 Maverick catalog.

Many within Ford, including Henry Ford II, made references to the Pinto being the rebirth of the car that had really made a name for the company. It was for that reason that "Model T Black" was selected as the name for one of the Pinto's available colors.

However, if basic black was not to your liking, there were 14 other colors, including some rather wild selections. Vivid "Grabber" colors were borrowed from the Maverick and Mustang lines. They underwent a name change for the subcompact, though; for example, Grabber Blue became Pinto Blue.

Pintos were painted in a six-step process that began by dipping entire bodies in a primer solution. An electrostatic charge allowed application of paint with better adhesion, finish, and durability. Color-keyed all-vinyl seat trim covered the two front bucket seats and the rear bench seat.

In autumn 1970, Pinto was one of several new subcompacts on the market in the U.S. AMC released the Gremlin a few months earlier as a 1970 model. Chevrolet unveiled its new Vega just a day before the Pinto made its debut. Chrysler, meanwhile, was relying on so-called captive imports, the Mitsubishi-built Dodge Colt and Hillman-derived Plymouth Cricket.

Still, the Pinto appeared to be right on the mark, making creative force Lee Iacocca a proud father. Shortly after the Pinto's stellar release, Henry Ford II made this papa of horsepower and sales the company president.

On September 11, 1970, one week before the rest of the '71 Fords were released, the public got its first look at Dearborn's little foal. Showrooms weren't exactly mobbed by crowds just to see the new Pinto, but sales did take off at a brisk pace, considering just one model was available. By the end of 1970, a total of 86,680 Pintos had already rolled off the assembly lines. By comparison, only 24,295 Vegas made it off the line by December 31.

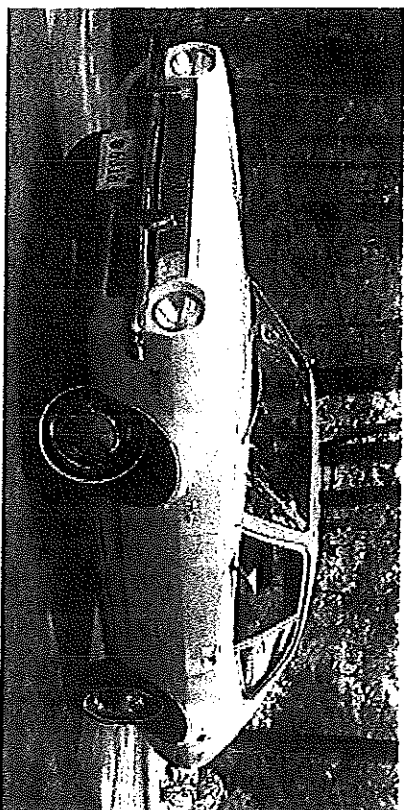

However, in all fairness, one has to remember that there was a 67-day strike that crippled all General Motors plants starting on September 15, just before the new models went on sale.

1971 Ford Pinto

Sales of the 1971 Ford Pinto kept piling up in the car's early days. On January 18, 1971, less than five months after its introduction, the 100,000th Pinto was delivered to one Marco Ojeda at S and C Motors in San Francisco, California.

Performance was better than buyers expected when the Ford Pinto hit the market as a 1971 model.

What made this news so special was that California was one of the hottest markets for imports, yet Pinto was winning customers there at an unprecedented rate. By January 1971, California dealers were reporting sales of Ford's new subcompact equal to 17.8 percent of all import sales.

Helping to make the Pinto a success was that it hit its price target. In base form, the first sedans were listed at $1,919, undercutting both Lee Iacocca's desired price ceiling by $81 and Chevy's Vega by $171.

Gasoline was still very cheap and plentiful in 1971, and no one was required to post official fuel-mileage figures. However, Ford literature touted engineering tests of the base 1,600-cubic-centimeter engine and standard transmission that averaged 25 mpg in "simulated" city and suburban driving.

Initial customer reviews praised the car's operating economy, ease of entry and exit for passengers, and cargo-area access. Performance got better-than-expected marks, considering that many customers were coming to Pinto having previously experienced only V-8 or six-cylinder engines. After all, this was the first domestically produced Ford passenger car with a four-cylinder engine since 1934.

There were a few complaints, such as the plastic grille breaking when the hood was slammed, or one of the most serious problems: the inside door handles breaking off in a passenger's hand. Dealers soon learned to keep plenty of these parts on the shelves, and fleet owners of Pintos often ordered cases of door handles just to keep the cars on the road.

Ford encouraged salesmen to point out benefits of the Pinto compared with the Vega, Volkswagen, Toyota Corona, and Datsun 1600 sedan. Areas in which they claimed superiority were maneuverability, stability, and serviceability. For instance, a special publication to dealers pointed out that VW recommended that its owners change oil and lube the car every 3,000 miles, while Pinto owners could easily go twice that distance.

Ford even marketed a pair of tool kits for the Pinto, a beginner's set for $28.75, or the "master's" kit at $44.95. The latter included everything from wrenches, to ratchets, to gauges, and even a torque wrench. In theory, you never had to bring the Pinto back to the dealership for servicing. One of the most popular promotional items Ford used was a little service key that not only acted as a screwdriver, but provided measurements for proper gapping of spark plugs and points.

While the Pinto was an economical starter car, it did offer a wealth of accessories. Deluxe interior-decor packages, full wheel covers, exterior dress-up kits, (which could include a vinyl roof), and a variety of radios could be found on the order form. The 2.0-liter engine added $50 to the total. With this larger engine, it was possible to add air conditioning and, for $175, Cruise-O-Matic.

Even a Rallye appearance group was marketed, featuring most of the decor-package items plus blacked-out hood, taillamp bezels, and grille; Boss Mustang-style fender stripes; Rallye badges; front disc brakes; and AY8X13 black sidewall tires.

On February 20, 1971, the much-anticipated Pinto Runabout made its public debut at the Chicago Auto Show. Five days later, it went on sale, and, like the sedan, it was met with strong customer demand. Priced at $2,062, it was distinguished from the sedan by exposed chrome hinges for the liftgate and five decorative chrome strips on the back "door."

All other profiles and dimensions were nearly identical to the sedan. Pneumatic rams assisted in raising the hatch, and there was plenty of room when the back seat was folded down. This feature was also optionally available on the sedan, and provided up to 38.1 cubic feet of storage space.

Assembly of the Pinto was conducted at the San Jose, California, and Metuchen, New Jersey, plants, plus Ford of Canada's new St. Thomas, Ontario, facility. Production schedules were tight, and two shifts worked through most of the model year to keep up with the orders that were pouring in.

In its first year, 288,606 sedans and 63,796 Runabouts were produced, making for one of the best first-year launches ever, bested only by the Mustang in 1965 and the Falcon for 1960. What was even more surprising to Ford's marketing group was that the vast majority of buyers opted for the more-expensive 2.0-liter engine, and were also going for the automatic transmission on those cars by a better than 2-to-1 ratio.

Even Henry Ford II appeared to like the car. He was reportedly often seen tooling around the Detroit and Grosse Pointe areas in his specially painted Candy Apple Red Runabout fitted with custom wire wheels and a black leather interior.

Of course, not everything at Ford, nor with the industry as a whole, was rosy. More and more, the federal government was getting involved in what was built into America's cars, based on two keywords: safety and emissions.

In a 1971 special report to Ford dealers and salesmen, a personal message from Henry Ford II addressed 10 points of commitment the company was making toward the environment. It also pointed out all of the safety innovations Ford had pioneered, from its first safety packages in 1956 to the Tot-Guard child-restraint system first offered in 1967. It talked about protecting passengers with safety-designed instrument and dash panels, plus the use of low-profile impact-absorbing vinyl coat hooks.

However, this same publication discounted many of the claims made about what additional steps the car company could take regarding safety, and contended that vehicles were a relatively small contributor to air pollution. (An early driver-side airbag system was tested on the Pinto, but ultimately kept from production.)

In describing the Pinto to dealers and the press, the chairman stated that they shouldn't look too closely for annual changes as this would be a car like the Model T: It would remain basically the same throughout its run, only featuring improvements, and not altering its looks each year. Given the success of the 1971 Pinto, it is no surprise that the '72s were virtually identical.

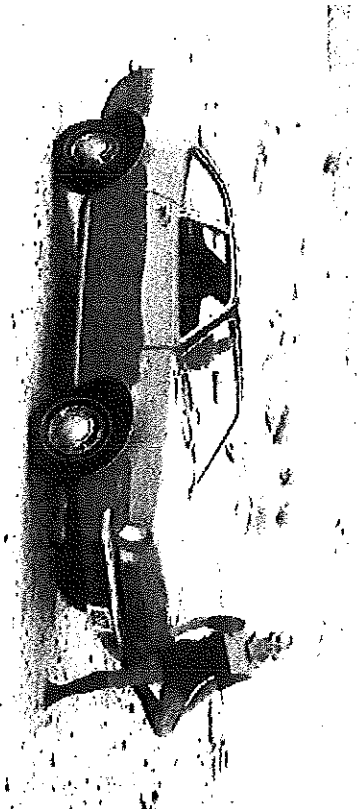

A few minor details were revised, such as relocation of the seatback release from the hard-to-reach center to the outer edge. About the only noticeable exterior change -- save for a couple of color changes, the availability of a sunroof for the sedan and Runabout, and decor-package decal options -- was an enlarged backlight for the Runabout's hatch.

1972 Ford Pinto

On February 24, 1972, the third member of the 1972 Ford Pinto family was unveiled with the addition of the station wagon. The basic body platform was shared with the existing sedan and Runabout, but the rear-quarter panels stretched this car to 172.7 inches, or nearly 10 inches longer than the other Pintos.

The 1972 Ford Pinto ascended into the Sprint family that also included Mustang and Maverick.

Ford claimed a total of 60.5 cubic feet of storage space accessible through a one-piece liftgate similar in engineering to the Runabout's rear hatch. An extra-cost item for Pinto wagons were the flip-open rear-seat windows, the only source of fresh air for those stuck in the back. Underhood, the 2.0-liter engine was standard, backed up with the four-speed manual transmission. Also standard on all Pinto wagons were front disc brakes.

While it was an attractive little two-door wagon in its base form, dress-up packages were available, including a decor group similar to those offered for sedans and Runabouts. Though not considered a separate model, the Squire version was very popular with the wagon set.

Borrowing a name that had been part of the Ford family for more than 20 years, the option applied a woodlike finish accomplished through the use of fiberglass framing around a rich, dark walnut appliqué, giving the compact wagon an air of snobbery. Interior fittings included plush padded bucket seats; embossed door panels; woodgrain appliques on the dash, shifter console, and steering-wheel center, and more.

One major change to hit the industry this year was in the method used to measure horsepower. Using a net figure based on engine power received at the rear wheels rather than the gross number generated unthethered on a test stand, the 75-hp rating of Pinto's 1.6-liter engine dropped to 54 for 1972, while a bigger 2.0-liter four went from 100 horsepower in 1971 to 86 in '72.

Ever since the Thirties, Ford had sought to invigorate slow springtime showroom traffic by offering something special for the season. For 1972, Pinto was bestowed the honor of being a member of a trio of Ford Sprint vehicles along with the Mustang and Maverick.

Pinto Sprint sedans and Runabouts were finished in white with blue hoods and lower body panels, wheels came with hubcaps and bright trim rings, and red pinstripe accents ran the length of the car. Stars-and-stripes shields were applied to the front fenders, giving these cars a very patriotic appeal. Interiors were done in white vinyl accented with blue and red.

Pinto prices saw moderate increases in 1972. Base sedans now started at $1960, while the Runabout was nudged up to $2,078. The first Pinto station wagons hit showrooms with a base price of $2,265 -- $20 less than the tab for the Chevrolet Vega Kamback wagon.

Production continued to climb. With a full model year at its disposal, the Runabout became the sales leader among Pinto buyers. A total of 197,920 hatchbacks were assembled, followed closely by 181,002 sedans. Being introduced late in the model year didn't stop the wagon from a good showing, with 101,483 examples produced.

After just two model years, almost 833,000 Pintos were on the road. American carmakers' entry into the subcompact field was starting to have an effect on the Japanese imports, as their market share dropped from a high of 15.2 percent in 1971 to 14.8 percent in 1972. This would prove to be just a temporary ebb in the tide, though.

For Pinto's upcoming third season, there would be some notable changes, mostly reflecting new safety mandates and the changing tastes of customers. The most obvious updates were energy-absorbing aluminum front bumpers to bring the Pinto up to a five-mph damage-resistance standard required by new federal laws. The new bumpers stretched lengths to 164.1 inches for sedans and 173.9 for wagons.

Pinto's exterior-color palette included five new colors. Forged alloy wheels and a handling package were options-list additions.

Prices continued to creep upward; the starting price for a two-door sedan finally inched past $2,000. Now it was the wagon's turn to take advantage of a full production year. Though it was the priciest member of the Pinto family, the wagon would prove to be the most-popular body style, establishing a pecking order that would last for several years in which demand for the wagon would be followed by the Runabout and then the sedan.

Across the nation, Ford dealers were having a field day selling the little Pinto. Several special and regional editions were created by local agencies, but probably none were as potent or as expensive as the Panga, produced by Huntington Ford in Arcadia, California. It provided plenty of muscle for the subcompact set, and might be considered the grandfather of today's sport-compact "tuner" cars.

With a full head of steam, Pinto went into the 1974 model year sitting on top of the world. Before long, though, the market was in turmoil.

1973 and 1974 Ford Pinto

The 1973 and 1974 Ford Pinto were on the market at a turbulent time. In October 1973, war flared once again in the Middle East. Key Arab oil-producing states, angered by Western support for Israel, raised prices and eventually orchestrated an embargo by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

In the U.S., gas prices leapt from around 30 cents a gallon to well more than half a dollar. Shortages at fuel pumps led to lines of up to a mile long as motorists began to panic, afraid of going to sleep with the fuel gauge in the old buggy below the three-quarters-full mark.

With an energy crisis gripping the U.S., the economy-minded Pinto sold in huge numbers in 1974.

Overnight, the sale of big gas-guzzling V-8s came to a screeching halt, while more and more new-car shoppers started to look for something economical to drive. A saving grace for Ford dealers was the Pinto. With its advertised 20-25 mpg, this was far ahead of the big Galaxies and LTDs that were lucky to see 12 miles from the same amount of fuel.

Sales of full-sized Fords dropped like a rock in 1974, from more than 854,000 the previous model year, to about only 461,000. In early 1974, President Richard Nixon signed into law a new national speed limit of 55 mph in an effort to conserve fuel. For Pinto owners, this, too, was a relief, for while the little subcompact could go faster, it did quite well at the lowered highway speeds.

Ironically, just when the gas crunch started to hit, Pinto's biggest news for 1974 was the addition of a new, larger-displacement optional engine. Unlike the previous Pinto powerplants, this new engine was designed and produced in America, at Ford's Lima, Ohio, engine facility.

An all-new design, this 2.3-liter overhead-cam four-cylinder was rated at 85 horsepower. With its introduction, the slow-selling 1.6-liter four was discontinued, putting the 2.0-liter engine in as the standard powerplant.

Surprisingly, the new engine was rated at one horsepower less than the base engine, but was said to produce more torque and deliver better gas mileage. By the end of the year, most Pintos would carry the 2.3, which added $52 to the base price.

Exterior design saw only minor changes, apart from hefty new bumpers that coincided with the arrival of federal five-mph impact standards for rear bumpers. The addition of the new bumper system, base-engine upgrade, and added sound insulation throughout the car had boosted the weight of a Pinto sedan from 1,949 pounds in 1971 to 2,372 pounds in '74 — more than 21 percent. Prices continued to go up, too.

While the sale of the high-profit big Fords took a nosedive for 1974, Pinto seemed to reign supreme. Overall, 544,209 of them came off the line, another new high-water mark that brought total Pinto production to within a stone's throw of 2 million cars.

But not everything in the Pinto's world was rosy. Reports started to surface in both company memos and the press about a serious problem with rear-end collisions that resulted in fiery explosions and deaths. Talk of lawsuits began to fly, and some serious secret research was launched to find out what corporate liabilities might exist.

1975 Ford Pinto

When the 1975 Ford Pinto went on sale on September 27, 1974, there was a lot more emphasis on the plucky little subcompact. Externally, they were almost duplicates from the previous season, despite fractional gains in wheelbase to 94.7 inches for the wagon and 94.4 inches for the others. Internally, it was a different story as the little car became even more "all-American."

Gone from the lineup was the 2.0-liter engine, replaced by the 83-horsepower 2.3-liter four. Pinto further upped the power ante with a new V-6 engine. Patterned after a similar engine produced in Italy by Lancia, Ford's version displaced 2.8 liters. Officially rated at 97 net horsepower, it used an 8.0:1 compression ratio, with a two-barrel Holley carburetor on top.

With 60-degree banking, uniform alternate firing, and high-center mounting of the camshaft that contributed to the light weight of the valvetrain, its smoothness of operation was surprising. The engine's basic design would be used in a number of Ford products for more than 25 years. The V-6 was available only in the Runabout and wagon, and required the newly redesigned SelectShift Cruise-O-Matic transmission. For the first time, Pinto buyers could opt for power steering and brakes when the V-6 engine was ordered.

By summer 1974, the national fuel emergency had come to an end. Oil was being transported to the United States at full volume, and gas prices came back down a few pennies, so Americans once again felt they were getting a bargain. Still, fuel mileage remained very important to a large number of drivers. To entice them, Ford cooked up MPG versions of the Pinto and Mustang II.

Equipped with the four-cylinder engine, manual transmission, the new catalytic converter emissions device (which allowed engines to be returned for better efficiency), and a 3.18:1 axle ratio in place of the 3.40 gears standard in other Pintos, the MPG had a government rating of 34 mpg on the highway, 23 mpg in the city. (Swapping the four-speed stick for an automatic earned a 30/21 highway/city rating.)

Advertising for the late-arriving MPG models used huge print to tout their highway-mileage and base-price figures, both of which compared favorably — of course — with a list of foreign and domestic rivals. All three Pinto body styles were offered with MPG equipment.

Prices also reflected the improved models, taking the cost of Pinto up closer to, and in some cases, higher than the slightly larger Maverick. The sedan started at $2,769; the Runabout sold for $2,984 in base form; and the wagon tab began at $3,094. Those ordering the new V-6 were asked to pony up another $253 for it; the automatic transmission cost $202.

My name is Daniel Christman, and I have been employed by the City of El Paso as a Police Officer for the past 7 1/2 years. On the night of July 15, I was working unit 261 along with my partner Roy Reaves, when at about 11:21 PM we were dispatched to the Washington Lounge located at 4607 Dyer in reference to an aggravated rape that had just occurred there. While enroute to the scene, officers were advised to be on the lookout for a W/M, 6', 160 lbs, with sandy blonde hair, wearing a light colored t-shirt with writing on the front, and blue jeans. The subj. was last seen running north on Dyer, headed towards the William Beaumont area. We arrived at the bar within a few minutes and met with the compl. in this case. I then learned that the described subj. had entered the bar, at which time the compl. approached the subj. and asked him if he wanted something to drink. The subj. told the compl. that he did not want anything to drink, and the subj. did not want to buy the compl. a drink either. During this time, I learned from K-9-8 (Albertsen) that he had a subj. matching the description of the subj. wanted, and that the subj. would be returned to the bar for a one on one confrontation. Upon the units arrival at the scene, the compl. came outside and identified the subj. as being the person who raped her in the ladies room of the bar. The subj., who was then identified as JOHN HENRY YABLONSKY, W/M, 13 YOA, DOB 9-30-63, 6", 150 lbs., short blonde hair, wearing a light colored t-shirt with the word Harley printed on the front, and blue jeans, was then advised of the charges against him, and officer Albertsen then handcuffed him and placed him in the back of our patrol car. Once this was done, I then notified the Northeast desk as to the situation. I then called for unit 269 (Tarango) to come to the scene and assist us in the investigation, and I also requested ID&R to respond to the scene. Upon officer Tarango's arrival, I then advised him to take the compl. to Sierra Medical Center for the examination, and maintain any evidence he could obtain. Officer Albertsen by this time had taken the subj. to Sierra for his examination. I then awaited the arrival of the ID&R unit, and upon its arrival I informed Det. Judd as to the situation. Det. Judd then processed the scene. While at the scene, I happened to talk with the following witnesses: #1 Joseph Gilpin currently staying at the Beverly Crest hotel on Dyer, #21, and who just arrived in town and is waiting for a new duty assignment at Ft. Bliss, Texas, who stated that he observed a W/M, blondish hair, wearing a light colored t-shirt run from the bar after the rape took place; #2 Ok Son Davenport, 6415 Leavell, Ft. Bliss, who stated that she observed the subj. enter and leave the bar; #3 Son Hwa Keif, 4313 Sagittarius, 321-3A21, who also saw the subj enter and leave the bar. On the evening of July 15, 1982, I was working as unit K 9-3 when at approx. 11:21 PM,
 The police dispatcher assigned unit 261, Officers Christman and Reeves, to a rape that just occurred at 4607 Dyer. The subject was described as a W/M, 6'0", 160#, with sandy blonde hair and wearing a light colored T-shirt with writing on the front and blue jeans, last seen running north on Dyer St. I began in that direction to assist in trying to locate the subject and at the intersection of Dyer and Hayes, I located the listed subject who matched the description. This intersection is approx. four blocks north of 4607 Dyer. I then advised the subject of the incident and asked if he would return to the bar for a possible identification. The subject stated that he had not been at that bar and would be willing to accompany myself back to the bar. I drove the subject to that location where the compl. identified the subject as the person who had raped her. At approx. 11:29 PM, I advised the subject ~~that~~ that he was under arrest and I advised him of his Miranda Warning. The subject was handcuffed and placed in the patrol vehicle. I then spoke to Richard Morris of 4813 Sagitaruis 821-3421 569-2621, who stated that he had observed both the compl. and subject leaving the bathroom area together and that the subject had immediatly went to the main front door and left the bar. As the subject left it was then that he learned that the compl. was raped.

At approx. 11:42 PM, I transported the subject to Seirre Medical Hospital where an examination was conducted. The subject was then taken to Central Station where the re: Evidence collection, latent processing, photographs; Subject: John Yablonsky

On last date the Undersigned was dispatched at 11:49 to 4607 Dyer on a rape. On arrival He met with Officers of Unit 261 Christman and Reaves who advised the following: The Compl. is an employee of the bar (Washington), and had been smoking a cigarette with the subject, and sitting at a corner table on the east side of the bar. The Complainant went to the rest room and had been followed by the subject, who raped her twice at knifepoint. The subject then left and was arrested a couple of blocks away by Officer Albertson. The Undersigned noted that there were wadded up tissue paper on the floor of the bathroom as though someone had cleaned up afterwards, also a Marlboro cig.. In the ashtray on the table were two Marlboro cigarettes, one with lipstick. The following photos were taken:

- 1- Showing the front of the bar.
- 1- Showing from the door inside.
- 1- Showing the table the subject and compl. had been sitting.
- 1- Showing the location of the ladies room.
- 2- showing the interior of the ladies room.

The Undersigned processed the table for latents with no latents found. The restroom was processed with two latents found on the top and sides of the sink, one on the right and one on the left. No latents were located on the toilet where one assault had taken place, nor on the walls. The latents on the inside of the doors were smeared. The 3 cig. butts were taken as evidence as well as the toilet paper and later turned into the property office with a chain of evidence. At the office the subject was brought in for photos by Officer Albertson, and 4 color photos were taken showing the four sides of his clothing. The exposed film was turned into the photo lab. The latents to the latent examiners to compare with the subject.

NATURE OF INJURY:

Narration to Crime: Suspect - John Henry Yablonsky

My partner, Officer Y. Long #5399, and I, were dispatched to 400 W. Broadway to contact Lori Amaro, regarding an Emergency Restraining Order, call #1380.

The victim, Amaro was seated in the front lobby of the reception area. She was emotionally distraught and was hesitant to talk about the incident. She had a 1/2" laceration on her right inner forearm. She complained of soreness to her genital area. Amaro told us the following:

Officer Y. Long, and I, are the first to be told of the incident. At approximately 0001 hours on 10/9/96, she and her two year old daughter were inside her bedroom watching television. Her bedroom is located on the north side of the residence. Her bedroom door was closed. The front door and the front security door were closed and locked. Her son was asleep in the room adjacent to her room. His room is located just west of Amaro's bedroom.

Amaro heard the dogs barking in her backyard. She didn't think much of the dogs barking since the dogs apparently barked all the time. Her two year old daughter was asleep. The suspect, Yablonsky, opened her bedroom door and entered her room. He said, "We need to talk." Amaro was frightened when she saw Yablonsky inside of her room. She presumed he had entered through her son's broken window. The window had been broken a week ago by Yablonsky. Yablonsky did not have any business being inside her house. Amaro asked Yablonsky "What are you doing, and what are you doing here?" Yablonsky replied, "You will have to do what I want. I am addicted to you. I am fucked up. I've gone too far to turn back." Amaro asked Yablonsky what he meant by fucked up. He did not answer.

Yablonsky and Amaro were in an emotional relationship from May to October of 1996. They lived together for two months from September to October. They had broken up three weeks ago.

Yablonsky told Amaro, "I will kill you if you don't do what I want." Yablonsky then reached behind his back with his right hand and retrieved a taser. Amaro recognized the taser as hers. Yablonsky had taken her purse, containing the taser, from her truck. He had borrowed the truck in the past. Yablonsky held the taser straight up and down. He turned it on and used it to intimidate Amaro. Yablonsky was standing approximately three feet from Amaro. Amaro was shocked and scared. She believed that Yablonsky would use the taser on herself and her children. She feared for her safety and her children. Yablonsky pushed Amaro in her chest area with his left hand, causing her to fall on the bed on her back. Yablonsky told her, "I will do what I want and I'm in control." He straddled Amaro's thighs with his knees. Amaro said, "I don't trust you. I cannot believe I was going to marry you. Everything was a lie." Yablonsky proceeded to use his left hand to pin Amaro's hands above her head. Yablonsky then ripped Amaro's underwear by the side in an upward motion. Amaro felt the underwear rip. She felt a burning sensation on her thigh. Yablonsky threw the underwear somewhere inside the bedroom. He then pulled Amaro's tank top over her head. She felt pain on her ears from the force Yablonsky used to pull the tank top over her head. Yablonsky said, "I am going to fuck you up if you don't do what I want." Amaro told Yablonsky, "I will do whatever you want, just don't hurt my baby."

Still straddling Amaro, Yablonsky took his shirt off. He then took his pants off one leg at a time. This kept Amaro from getting herself free. Yablonsky took his loose fitting pants and boxer off at the same time. He had an erection. (Yablonsky is circumcised).

Yablonsky penetrated Amaro's vagina with his fingers. It is unknown to Amaro which hand and the number of fingers Yablonsky had used. Amaro believes that Yablonsky was trying to stimulate her. Yablonsky then penetrated her vagina with his penis. He was between her legs. Her legs had already been spread when she fell on the bed. Yablonsky ejaculated inside Amaro's vagina. While Yablonsky was penetrating Amaro, he was kissing her face and neck area. He then stuck his penis into her mouth to stimulate an erection.

Yablonsky had straddled Amaro's upper body and had grabbed the headboard with both hands. He was on top of Amaro and used both hands to force her legs to spread open. Yablonsky again penetrated her vagina with his penis. He ejaculated again and said, "I love you. I know that we are separated and I am not good for your life." This was the last conscious awareness of Amaro. She did not remember what happened afterward.

Amaro's ten year old son told her that Yablonsky had offered him a ride to school. Yablonsky was running to the car and said, "I am in a hurry." Yablonsky dropped off the son at school and told him, "I probably won't see you anymore. Your mom won't be in control anymore." This was confirmed by her son when I talked to him on 10/9/96. At approximately 1430 to 1500 hours, Amaro received a telephone call from Yablonsky. He told her that he would be at her house to pick up his belongings. Amaro told Yablonsky to stay away from her family and her house. She also told him that she would call the police if he stepped into her property. She stated, "Stay away. You cannot do this stuff." Yablonsky told her that he would be at her house at 1700 hours. He was going to pick up his things and he was going to get what he wanted, no matter what.

Amaro stated that Yablonsky had nothing at her house. He did not have anything at her house that belonged to him.

At approximately 1700 hours, Yablonsky came to Amaro's house. Amaro's ten year old daughter called the police. Amaro saw her necklace around Yablonsky's neck. She then realized that her wedding ring was missing from her finger. Amaro believes Yablonsky took her jewelry from her after the second penetration. She also believes he had taken her other ring from her jewelry box located in the bathroom.

The police arrived and they retrieved her jewelry from the glove compartment of Yablonsky's car. They gave Amaro her jewelry back. They told Yablonsky to leave the property and that he would be arrested if he came to her property in the future. Amaro told the officers she was threatened. She did not tell them she had been raped.

Yablonsky admitted to taking her jewelry.

Amaro told us Yablonsky had physically assaulted her in the past. That the police been to her residence approximately eight to nine times in the past two months for Domestic Violence.

Amaro told my partner, and I, that Yablonsky drove an 86 to 88 Toyota Hatchback. It has a sunroof with four doors. The color is silver.

Amaro was taken to Long Beach Community Hospital for a medical examination. S.A.R.T Nurse Kinrade, Kathy administrated the medical examination inside Exam Room #3. She gave me an 8" x 11" envelope containing the rape kit with evidence. (See evidence).

My partner, and I, drove Amaro to her house. My partner, Officer Long recovered a taser gun from Amaro's Living Room. He also recovered a piece of clothing from the bathroom. The clothing was worn by Amaro on 10/9/96. It was the clothing that was forcibly removed from her by Yablonsky. (See evidence).

LONG BEACH POLICE DEPARTMENT INCIDENT REPORT

Amaro was given a Sexual Assault/Domestic Violence Form. She was advised regarding confidentiality to which she requested confidentiality. Amaro was also given a copy of a Report Receipt. Both forms were explained to her.

Amaro stated that she would contact Long Beach Police Department when the underwear which had been torn from her by Yablonsky was recovered.

Yablonsky is believed to frequent be at Inner City Fellowship Hall. This is located at 5881 Cherry Av.

Filing Officer can testify to the contents of the above report.

Narrative

While working West Division patrol as Unit 4C3, I (Officer P.Valenzuela # 6170) was dispatched to 2465 Linden Avenue, regarding a criminal threats report. Call # 1341

Upon arrival I contacted Victim Stephanie Raddatz and Witness Steve Updike.

Raddatz told me the following; She and her friend Updike hired suspect Yablonsky to do some work at the home she recently moved into approximately one month ago. Raddatz and Updike found Yablonsky's handyman ad in classified section of the Press telegram published on Wednesday 07/09/08.

Raddatz had some type of arrangement with Yablonsky where he would provide some workers to help move furniture into her home. Due to some miss communication between Raddatz and Yablonsky the move did not go planned.

Yablonsky insisted the Raddatz pay one of his workers a full day's pay, even though he did not help her move.

Raddatz and Updike then talked to Yablonsky about the miss understanding and Yablonsky got very upset. Yablonsky told Updike "Don't blame me if something happens to your house."

Raddatz and Updike took the statement as a threat to burn or possibly vandalize her home.

Raddatz wished prosecution and was given a report receipt along with temporary restraining order information.

 VICTIM: Amaro, Lori CALL#: 1755
 SUSPECT: Yablonsky, John BOOK#: 5014951

The defendant John was arrested after he was identified as a person who forced his penis inside of victim Amaro against her will.

I, C. Ridgle, #5334 was dispatched to 5881 Cherry Avenue regarding victim Amaro, Lori, who had called the Police on her ex-boyfriend named Yablonsky, John who had forced his way into her home and raped her a couple of days ago.

While en route, I was informed by the Police dispatcher that John would flee if he saw a uniformed Police Officers in front of this location. I was assisted by Officers D. Goodman, #5311 and A. Anast, #5325, Officer D. Kofoed, #5259, Officer J. Serenil, #5641, and Officer M. Coble, #5434 who responded to set up a perimeter around this location to apprehend John.

I arrived, and briefly talked to Lori who told me about an incident that had occurred a few days ago with John. Lori said John has been following her and threatening to beat up her family and friends about the police being informed of him raping her. I later learned a police report had been filed regarding John being a named suspect on a rape report. See further read DR#960239715.

Lori pointed John out in a group of people who had gathered in a social hall at a meeting. John was standing at a podium, and he appeared to be talking to the group of people about social problems. John made eye contact with Officer Coble and myself, while we stood at the back door waiting to arrest him. After John finished his speech, I made a hand waiving motion to John to meet us outside the building so that we could talk rape.

John walked outside and briefly talked with us about Lori being raped. We placed handcuffs on John and I informed him that he was being investigated of rape.

LONG BEACH POLICE DEPARTMENT ARREST REPORT

Officer Coble detained John, while I continued to interview Lori about her being raped. Lori insisted that John was going to harm her if he was released from our custody.

I then took custody of John and transported him to the Long Beach Police Station to be booked.

We arrived at the station, I briefly talked with John to find out if he wanted to tell me his side of the story about this incident. John agreed. I then walked John to the jail interview room, where I read him his Miranda Rights per PD 1000.008. John stated, "YES" to both waiver questions.

John said Lori and he have been living together for approximately five months, recently Lori became sick, and she had been intentionally starting arguments. For no reason Lori was upset at him for sleeping on the couch after they had an argument a few weeks ago. A few days ago, before this incident occurred, Lori started to argue over stupid things. John felt that their relationship was going down hill, and thought it would be best for him to break up, to avoid a physical fight with her. John wanted out of the relationship, so he left Lori a note telling her that he wanted to end their relationship. John later went over to Lori's home to remove his belongings out of her home, while she was at work. Days later, Lori realized that John was serious about their break up and she did not want him to go over their minor problems.

A few days later, he spent all weekend talking about their problems, and getting back together. John said Lori consented to sexual intercourse and they later on ended up getting back together. John said after he moved back in with Lori, they began to fight again. He talked with a few friends who had encouraged him to leave Lori because she appeared to be acting deranged. Later on, he looked around in search for a place for he and his children to live.

On 10/09/96, Lori was gone to work, he went back to move his belongings, his baby's clothes, and his tool's out of Lori's home. He went back to retrieve his car from Lori, who had been driving it since their relationship. He left a note inside her car informing her he was going to go because he was tired of arguing with her. While on his way home, Lori had paged him approximately twenty times. He called her and she told him that she had left her dancing costume inside the back of his car. Lori told him that she needed her costume, and if he was a real man, he would bring her costume back to her and they could talk their problems out. John drove back to her home to talk to her about their problems. They talked and she told him she wanted one final kiss before he left her. Lori kissed him. After the children went to sleep, they went into the bedroom, and Lori started to remove his clothing off of him, while at the same time he removed her clothes off of her. John said he performed "oral sex" on Lori and she performed "oral sex on him". They did continue and later had sexual intercourse. Lori insisted that everything was going to be okay, and they were going to get back together. They fell asleep in each other's arms, woke up the next morning and he left a note for her. John informed Lori thanks for showing him that there is still sparks within their relationship and for her to have a nice day because he loved her.

The next day, John had called the police because Lori had threatened him and he wanted to remove his furniture out of her home. Lori refused to let John get his furniture out. He left and never contacted her again. John sat in his chair in an interview room and concluded his story. I felt John had nothing else to say, and he remained quiet. I finished this interview.

John was booked as charged and not questioned any further about his arrest.

SERVICE OF SEARCH WARRANT

On March 8, 2009 at about 1109 hours, we served a search warrant at the location. The initial contact was digitally recorded and downloaded to the case file.

We knocked on the front door at the residence. Melody WITTENBERG, John YABLONSKI'S wife answered the door and allowed us inside. I gave WITTENBERG a copy of the search warrant and asked her, her elderly mother and WITTENBERG'S daughter, Helena WITTENBERG to sit at the kitchen table while we searched the location. At the conclusion, I gave a search warrant receipt

SEARCH

I assigned each detective a room to search and instructed them to identify each item of evidence to me so I could collect it. Detective CANNON photographed the items collected. I assigned each room a "series number" to assist with identifying the items we collected. I collected the items and later turned them over to Detectives MYLER and ALEXANDER.

SERIES 100- LOVING ROOM/FAMILY ROOM

SUPERIOR COURT DISTRICT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF SAN BERNARDINO

IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION) OF THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF) CALIFORNIA FOR AN ORDER) AUTHORIZING THE RELEASE OF ALL) MILITRAY RECORDS AND ALL MILITRAY) ARCHIVE RECORDS FOR:))))))	Case No. 1331036-07 APPLICATION (U N D E R S E A L)
---	----------------------------	--

John Henry Yablonsky

DOB: 04-09-1963 or 04-09-1965

SSN: 555-19-4760 or 551-19-1760 or 551-19-4766

CII: A07244737

The person I am interested in has used many different names such as:

1. John Henry Tablonsky
2. Joseph Aaron Yablonsky
3. Timothy Michael Lange
4. John Yablonsky

Detective Robert B. Alexander, a Detective for the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, Homicide Detail hereby applies to the Court for an Order (1) authorizing the release of all United States Military Records associated with John Henry Yablonsky using one of the names, dates of birth and Social Security Numbers listed above. (2) authorizing the release of all United States Military Archive Records associated with John Henry Yablonsky using one of the listed Social Security Numbers found during investigation of this case; upon oral or written demand of agents of the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department. In support of this application, he states the following:

1) I am a detective for the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department and am requesting an Order authorizing the release of all United States Military Records or Military Archive Records and the disclosure of all information regarding John Henry Yablonsky, the above listed person.

2) I certify that the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department is conducting a criminal investigation of Murder and Rape in connection with possible violations of PC-187 Homicide and PC 261 Rape. It is believed information involving the above named person is relevant to the ongoing criminal investigation being conducted by the above-named agency.

AFFIDAVIT

On Monday, September 23, 1985, the body of Rita M. Cobb was found dead inside her home in Lucerne Valley California. The body was found nude, on her bed and she appeared had been strangled to death.

On Tuesday, September 24, 1985, an Autopsy was conducted by Dr. Irvine Root of the San Bernardino County Coroner's Office. Dr. Root examined the body and obtained a vaginal swab from the victim. Dr. Root determined the cause of death to be "strangulation, minutes." Detectives from the homicide detail spoke with numerous people but after all leads had been exhausted the case went cold and unsolved. All evidence was stored at San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, Central Property Storage.

In 1990, Det. Mabry requested a laboratory analysis for semen on the vaginal swab (sex kit, Item #A-11) recovered during the autopsy. 1998, a DNA profile was developed from the sex kit and the evidence was stored.

In 2003, the extracted DNA was typed using STR DNA analysis. The major male STR DNA profile was from a single donor expected to exist in less than 1 in 6 billion Caucasian Males. This sample was entered into the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS).

In October 2008, John Henry Yablonsky was arrested by Long Beach Police Department for an unrelated crime. A sample of his DNA was obtained because there was no DNA sample on file for Yablonsky. The sample was submitted for analysis and his profile was entered into CODIS.

In January 2009, a DNA hit / match was made to the STR DNA profile developed from the sex kit recovered during the autopsy of Rita Cobb. The DNA match was to John Henry Yablonsky. A criminal history for John Henry Yablonsky was obtained. In 1982, Yablonsky was arrested for Sexual Assault / Aggravated Rape in El Paso Texas.

In 1984, Yablonsky was discharged from the US Army. We are attempting to obtain Army records at this time. Yablonsky has family living in Lucerne Valley California and his father (George Yablonsky) frequented the local bars where the victim Rita Cobb would often go to relax and socialize.

In October 1996, Yablonsky was arrested for rape in Long beach California.

San Bernardino County Sheriff's Homicide Detectives are requesting the release of all military records in an attempt to locate additional victims of sex related crimes.

MILITARY RECORD REQUEST

On February 03, 2009, I contacted the National Personal Records Storage and requested all United States Military Records on John Henry Yablonsky. I spoke with the records clerk on the general request telephone line. I provided the name(s) Yablonsky has used as well as the known Social Security Numbers.

I was told John Henry Yablonsky served in the US Army from 1982 to 1984 at which time he was discharged. There was no further information provided.

On February 26, 2009, I contacted the National Personal Record Storage and was told to submit a Court Order for the records and the records would be provided.

3) Applicant further requests that this Order and Application be sealed until otherwise ordered by the court, and that National Personal Records Storage and any other affected companies shall not disclose the existence of the Court Order, the request for records, or any information regarding the investigation to any other person, unless or until otherwise ordered by the court.

WHEREFORE, it is respectfully requested that the Court grant an Order to release all stored records for John Henry Yablonsky, the above listed person.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Subject: RE: Yablonsky records

Det. Alexander

Sorry about the delay. I am still waiting for the German Police to get back with any records.

There is NO record of Yablonsky being titled in an Army Rape investigation. Only victims and subjects would be found in the databases that far back.

If the victim was a German national, there may be unsolved cases with the German Police.

He is titled in 3 other cases:

1983 Ft. Bliss, TX 0587-81-10014-47993

Housebreaking, Forgery, Larceny

On 6 June 83, Yablonsky entered the unsecured billets of Victim and stole a personal check. Yablonsky forged the victim's signature and made the check out to himself in the amount of $25.00

Disposition: Administrative Discharge AR 635-200, Chap 13, effective 28 Feb

This is the same disposition for all three cases

Chapter 13

Separation for Unsatisfactory Performance Section I General 13-1. Policy A soldier may be separated per this chapter when determined that he/she is unqualified for further military service because of unsatisfactory performance. (See chap 13-1) This reason will not be used if the soldier is in entry-level status, except as provided in paragraph 11-3c.

1984 Gelnhausen, Germany MIF Report 84-MPC217-7394D On 11 Feb 1984, Yablonsky was involved in a traffic accident and determined that he was driving under the influence of alcohol

Disposition: AR 635-200, Chap 13, 28 Feb 84

1984, Gelnhausen Germany CID report 0181-84-CID197-86392 Possession and Use of Marijuana (hashish)

Between Sep 83 and Feb 84, Yablonsky on 10 separate occasions bought and used hashish which he purchased from a service member. Yablonsky admitted to the offense.

Disposition AR 635-200, Chap 13, 28 Feb 84

Another fine example of military justice. I will update you soon on the German Police side. Hope this helps.

INTERVIEW: YABLONSKY, JOHN

On Sunday, 03/08/09, at approximately 0915 hours, Detective Robert Alexander and I made contact with John Yablonsky in the front yard of his residence. We walked up to John and asked him if we could talk to him. We explained to John that we were detectives and we were following up on a case. We also told John we had some photographs we would like him to look at. We asked John if it would be okay to sit down with him, in order to show him the photographs and ask him some questions. John said absolutely, and invited us into his house.

When we entered the residence, John, Alexander, and I sat down at the kitchen table. Alexander told John that we are following up on a case that we have been working on for two or three months and we have talked to about thirty people so far. Alexander told John through those interviews we were told that he (John Yablonsky) lived in Lucerne Valley in the 1980's. Alexander continued to tell John we were trying to talk to everyone who lived in Lucerne Valley in the 1980's, in an effort to get additional information about the case we were investigating. Alexander told John it was a homicide case. Alexander told John we would like to show him some photographs to look at, to see if he could help us out.

Alexander showed John a photograph of Bruce Nash. John did not recognize Bruce. Alexander showed John a photograph of Angela Neete. John did not recognize Angela. Alexander showed John a photograph of Rita Cobb. John said, my wife and I used to rent from her when we had our kid. (Note: When John was handed Rita Cobb's photograph his hands trembled and he looked visibly shaken.)

John said he lived in Lucerne Valley for about five or six years, after he got out of the military. John estimated he lived in Lucerne Valley from 1984 - 1991.

John's father, George Yablonsky, lived on Trade Post Road in Lucerne Valley. John worked for his father.

Alexander asked John to tell him about Rita. Alexander said we are investigating Rita's murder. John said, yeah, that's what I heard. John said Rita had a front house which she lived in and rented out her back house. Holly and he rented Rita's back house for approximately eight months.

John really did not know Rita that well because he only rented from her. It was just a business relationship as landlord and tenant. John did not know any of Rita's friends, nor did he know who she was dating back then.

While Holly and he rented Rita's studio apartment, John knew Rita to be living alone.

I asked John if he had been interviewed at any time during this investigation. John said he had been interviewed by a private investigator sometime after the murder, but not by any detectives.

I told John we were missing information from the report and that we would be interested in any help he would be able to provide us. Alexander asked John if he could draw the two houses which were on Rita's property. Alexander handed John a piece of lined paper (Labeled #1). John drew a line, indicating Highway 18 and then he drew two boxes off of Highway 18. The box closest to Highway 18 John labeled "Rita's house" and the box behind Rita's house, he labeled "rent." This was the house Holly and he rented behind Rita's house. Holly and he are no longer together because they split up approximately fifteen years ago.

While Holly and he lived in Rita's back house, he did maintenance work for Rita because he was a handyman.

Alexander asked John if Rita had been murdered when he (John) was living in the back house. John said no.

Holly and he lived in Rita's back house for six to eight months. Later, Holly and he moved out of Rita's back house and moved into another rental house on a dirt road. John used a second piece of lined paper and drew two lines (Labeled #2). One line depicted Highway 18 and the second line depicted the second rental house he moved into. John placed an X on the line where the second rental was located, after moving away from Rita's rental house.

John saw Rita periodically on the weekends when he was not working. He recalled Rita belonging to the Moose Lodge back then.

Alexander asked John if he had any further contact with Rita after Holly and he moved from Rita's back house. John said no, he only saw her from time to time at the market or the gas station. John recalled Rita asked him (John) on occasion if he could come over and fix some things in her house. John remembered fixing a sticking door, a bathroom faucet and some other little things. It wasn't very often and this was when he had already moved away from her rental house.

Alexander asked John if he knew who Rita's friends were. John said he did not know her like that.

After Holly and he moved out of Rita's back house, she did not rent it out again. Rita had turned the back house into a storage area.

While John resided in Lucerne Valley as a kid, he attended Apple Valley High School, because Lucerne Valley did not have their own high school. For fun, John and his friends rode dirt bikes and went to an arcade in town. His father (George) also had horses and he would ride them.

John did not complete high school at Apple Valley High School. Prior to finishing Apple Valley High School, he relocated to Long Beach and lived with his mother.

John remember his father (George) telling him Rita had been murdered. John recalled being in the process of moving from Lucerne Valley to Long Beach when his father (George) told him Rita had been killed.

John described Rita as a very decent and polite lady.

When John initially discharged from the military he moved to the Long Beach area. John could not find any employment in Long Beach so he moved to Lucerne Valley and worked for his father.

While renting from Rita, the following people lived in her back house: Holly, his son, John, Jr., and him.

John met Holly in high school in Long Beach. John believes Holly currently lives in Canada. John has not had any contact with Holly in a very long time. When Holly and he split up, things did not go well and he described it as not a good story to tell. After they broke up, Holly got into drugs and he (John) got into drugs. It was a very bad time in his life.

Alexander asked John what else he could tell us about Rita. John said she was a real nice lady. He had heard so many things about how she had been killed. Alexander asked what type of things he heard. John said his dad (George) said something about Rita being killed with a nylon or something like that.

Alexander asked John if Rita dated men her age, older, or younger. John said he recalled Rita was with one Hispanic guy about her age who he (John) had met on one occasion. Other than that, he does not know her personal life like that.

Alexander asked John if had heard any other things about how Rita had been killed. John said, my father just told me something about a nylon. John said he pretty much just kept to himself and really did not know too many people in Lucerne Valley. John did not go to the Moose Lodge or Lion's Club back then. John recalled Rita may have hung out at the Moose Lodge and VFW. Those locations were bars where people socialized. The Lion's Club has a gun range and his father (George) is in charge of the range.

Alexander asked John what his job was while in the military. John said he was assigned to work on a nuclear missile, while in the military. Later, John was assigned to air defense because the Hercules missile was phased out. When the missile was phased out, he was retrained for his new job. John received his training in Ft. Bliss, Texas. John was in the military for five or six years. His first enlistment was for three years and then he enlisted a second time. John's last assignment was in Frankfurt, Germany. Ultimately, after receiving this assignment, he discharged from the military before his time was up.

Holly and he had been married while he was in the military. When John was stationed in Germany, Holly did not move there with him. This caused a lot of stress for him which ultimately led to him being discharged early.

Jasmine, his daughter, was born after Holly and he moved out of Rita's back house and while they were in the second rental house. They lived at the second rental house for many years before relocating back to Long Beach. Jasmine was born at St. Mary's Hospital in Apple Valley. Holly and he had been living in the second rental house for about nine months, when Jasmine had been born. John could not recall the name of the dirt road Holly and he rented their second house at, after Rita's back house.

I asked John if he knew what Rita's normal schedule was. John thought Rita was retired. John worked from sun up to sun down, working all the time, so he did not what Rita's normal routine was. Alexander asked John who Rita socialized with or what type of socializing events she went to. John said he did not know. I asked John if he ever partied with Rita. John said no. Alexander said, so it sounds like it was just strictly a landlord/tenant business relationship while you, Holly, and your son lived their. John said yeah, she did not watch my kid or anything like that and I'm not aware of Holly hanging out with Rita, and I was always gone at work. If someone needed to watch John, Jr. then John would have his father (George) baby sit.

We asked John if he could point us in the direction of who may have been responsible for Rita's murder. John said the only guy he could think of was the one Hispanic guy he saw Rita with one time who he described to us earlier in the interview. This guy wasn't a troublemaker; he was just someone who he saw talking to Rita while at the house.

Rita normally parked her Cadillac inside the garage. John had a tan colored Toyota pickup truck back then that he used for work.

Alexander asked who else could we go talk to in Lucerne Valley that would have information. Alexander said, if you were us, who should we go talk to. John said, I would not even know. John said he could not even remember half the names of the people who lived out there.

I asked John if he owned a Pinto back then. John said he did. It was a blue Pinto he purchased for Holly, in order for her to have transportation to get around town. After Holly and he split up, he sold the Pinto to a car lot in Long Beach which later went out of business.

Alexander handed John photographs of the witnesses who had been interviewed during the initial investigation. The photographs depicted a photo of the person back then and today. John looked through all the photographs and did not recognize anyone. As John looked at the photographs, he stated he did not hang around Rita like that and did not know her friends. Alexander told John that these were photographs of people who were interviewed and not necessarily her friends. Three of those photographs which we thought were important were of John Sullivan, Francesca Drake, and Daryl Kraemer. John said he did not know any of the people in the photographs.

I asked John if guys came over to Rita's house all the time while Holly and he rented from her. John said, just the guy that I told you about earlier and his brother. Alexander told John we were just trying to get a basic overall idea of who Rita was, who she hung out with, what her normal activities were, and who her boyfriends were. Alexander told John you are the first person we have interviewed who lived on Rita's property, so you should be able to help us out.

John saw a flyer on a bulletin board at one of the stores in Lucerne Valley where Rita put an ad out to rent her back house out. John then paused and said maybe his father (George) told him about Rita's rental. John recalled maybe his father (George) and Rita running around in the same social club because they were similar in age.

John said Rita hung out at the VFW, Moose Lodge and the Lion's Club. Alexander asked John if he hung out at those places. John said he hung out at the Y-Bar.

I asked John if he had ever bumped into Rita at any of the bars. John said no. Alexander asked John if he ever drank alcohol with Rita. John said no. Alexander said, you didn't drink with Rita at any of the bars or on her property. John said no. John stated Rita was quite a bit older than him.

Alexander asked John if he had anything in common with Rita. John said no.

Alexander asked John, when did the private eye start coming around asking questions about Rita's murder. John said maybe about five or six months after the murder.

I asked John if Rita was a party girl. John said no. John described Rita as a very nice lady. Alexander asked John if Rita was a nice lady when she was drinking alcohol. John said he did not socialize with her like that so he does not know.

I asked John if Holly was a stay-at-home mom while he and Holly rented Rita's back house. John said yes. I asked John if Holly may be able to help us out more, since she stayed at home. John said maybe but she lives in Canada right now.

Currently, Holly's parents live on Abbott Road. Holly's mother is named Linda Mitchell.

Alexander asked John if he ever had a relationship with Rita, if they were ever intimate. Alexander said, we don't know who she dated or what her habits were, so it's important for us to ask you. John nodded his head no and said no. I said, John, if you were intimate with her, let us know. John once more nodded his head no.

I told John it was an embarrassing question to ask him if he had sex with Rita, but we have to ask those questions. I asked John if he and Rita had ever gotten into a physical fight with each other. John said no. I asked John if Rita had ever attacked him. John said no. I asked John if Rita had always been kind to Holly. John said yes. I asked John again if Rita and he ever partied or were intimate with one another. John said, I don't even think we drank a beer together. I said, John, you and Rita never kissed? John nodded no. I said, you guys never had sex? John again nodded no and quietly said no.

Alexander asked John if Holly and he had a marriage where they did not see any other people outside their marriage. Alexander asked John if that was their type of thing to have sex with other people outside their marriage. John said no.

I asked John if he had a key to the rental. John said yes. I asked John if Holly and he had a key to Rita's house. John said no. Alexander asked John if Rita had a pass key to Holly and his apartment. John said no.

I asked John if Rita had any pets. John said Rita had a dog but he could not remember what type of dog.

Alexander handed John a third piece of paper (Labeled #3): John drew Highway 18 and Highway 247. John put the following labels on the hand-drawn map: Big Bear, pistachio farm, Rita's house, wolf breeder's house, and John's second rental house. John also placed a box with an X in it at the bottom of the road on Highway 18 where the road started to go past the wolf breeder and to John's second rental. John said there was a two-story house at this intersection. John said he used to buy his weed from this guy in the two-story house.

John said, what a trip, I thought you guys solved this thing a long time ago. I asked John why he had not ever come forward to speak with any detectives since he lived in Rita's back house. John said he had nothing to offer. I told John that, because he lived in Rita's rental property, that was important.

Alexander said he would like to talk about this case in more detail and would like to go to the police station to talk some more. Alexander further explained that some of the things we wanted to talk to about may be a little embarrassing and we would like to go to a more private location. Alexander asked John if that would be okay. John said, where do you want to go. Alexander said how about the Signal Hill Police Department. John said okay, let's go. John said, am I a suspect in this or what. Alexander said you know, we're still investigating this thing and sometimes we need to ask some personal questions.

John walked over to his wife, Melody, who was in their bedroom. Melody and John walked out of the bedroom together. John told Melody that we wanted to talk to him back at the station because they were trying to solve Rita's murder. I told Melody that John had never been interviewed by detectives back then and he (John) had lived behind Rita's house at the time of the murder and it was important to interview him and clear him, if he did not do it. Alexander told Melody we would like to sit down and talk to him because there are other questions we would like to ask. Melody said she could give John a ride up there to the police station and we said yeah, that would be fine.

Melody, John, Alexander, and I walked out of the house. John and Melody got into their white Ford Expedition which was parked in their driveway. Melody drove while John sat in the right front seat.

We followed behind John and Melody as they drove towards Signal Hill PD. We turned off the recorder at approximately 1035 hours.

At approximately 1046 hours, we arrived at Signal Hill PD and we turned the audio recorder back on to continue interview. Melody and John parked their vehicle in the public parking lot in front of Signal Hill PD. We parked a couple of parking stalls away from Melody and John, also in the public parking area.

Melody asked us for our card and telephone number and stated she was going to return home. Melody said to just give her a call when we were finished. John, Alexander, and I walked into the lobby at the Signal Hill Police Department. We were met by a corporal who escorted us in. The corporal offered us an interview room in the detective bureau which we could use. The detective led us back to the detective bureau where we sat down in a cubicle which was designed as an interview room. The cubicle had four walls, one door, and no roof. John sat down at the table in the interview room, closest to the door. Alexander and I sat across the table from John furthest from the door. The interview room had a camera system set up in it which recorded video and audio.

As we walked into the detective bureau, we walked past an officer whom John was familiar with. John previously pointed out the house across the street from the Signal Hill Police Department where he lived at, prior to moving to the house where we interviewed him at.

John said while en-route to Signal Hill PD, he called his father and told him about our investigation. John said that his father (George) told him (John) that Rita's son, Daryl, had been arrested for this murder. Alexander told John that was not true.

Alexander told John we would like to go over what he told us earlier and get a little bit more detail and as much information as possible about the investigation. Alexander told John he was appreciative that he (John) came down here to talk to us. Alexander told John he was free to leave at any time and he was not under arrest. Alexander said he was happy that he decided to come down here and talk to us. Alexander asked John if he knew how to get out of here. John said yes.

(Note: The time on the digital recorder reflected one hour, thirty-one minutes, approximately when we sat down in the interview room at the Signal Hill Police Department to continue the interview.)

Alexander asked John if he could start with where he first lived when he was a child and move forward from there. John said his parents split up when he was young. His mother's name is Betty Jo. They split when he was ten years old. His mother lived in Lynwood, Compton, and Southgate and moved to other areas throughout his childhood. His mother introduced him to drugs and his father introduced him to alcohol. He would drink beers with his dad at age fourteen and while living with his mom, she had given him drugs which he ingested.

Interview Continued: John Yablonsky

While in Lucerne Valley, John initially lived with his father on Trade Post Road, until that house burned down. After the house burned down, they moved to another residence on Rabbit Springs Road in Lucerne Valley. Once his father completed construction on the Trade Post residence, they moved back to Trade Post. His father got sick of him because he was messing up and eventually he moved back in with his mother in Long Beach at the age of fifteen years old.

While living with his mother, John would smoke marijuana with her. His mother ingested PCP and pills.

John then moved back to his father's house on Rabbit Springs Road at the age of sixteen. His dad was still in the process of rebuilding the house on Trade Post Road. His father currently lives at Trade Post Road.

Up to the age of sixteen years old, John had only been smoking marijuana and drinking alcohol. Sometime after that, he started using methamphetamine.

John recalled when he lived with his father the first time, then was sent to his mother's house for about nine months, he returned back to his father's house in his junior year. After his junior year, John moved back with his mother in Paramount and attended Paramount High School for his senior year. John quit halfway through his senior year in high school and therefore, never graduated. John found a job for a company who made Roll-a-matic mops at a factory. Later, John found another job at a machine shop making computer doors. John was good with his hands because he worked with his father in the construction field for some time.

Usually before work, John smoked marijuana and at times, ingested acid. John described himself as becoming more and more addicted to narcotics as he aged. John described himself as having an addictive personality.

John met Holly in high school. They used to sit on the school bleachers and smoke marijuana together. Originally, John didn't like Holly because he liked Holly's friend. Holly's friend had a boyfriend so he hung out with Holly and got to know her better.

At age eighteen, John got into some trouble in Lynwood. John purchased some replica "Black Beauty" pills. John would buy a thousand of them at a time and sell them at school for a dollar apiece.

One time, John and his friend tried to sell some of the pills at a park. While at the park they were busted by some undercover detectives. John turned some people in who were selling some PCP and the police released him. When they released John, he went straight to Texas and joined the ARMY. John's older brother, George, had already been living in Texas and was already in the ARMY.

John's siblings in order are George, John, Kenny and Brian. Kenny lives in Alisa Viejo, Brian lives in Huntington Beach and George lives in Bakersfield.

John joined the ARMY while in Texas at the age of eighteen. When John joined the service, his brother went into the ARMY and worked on a nuclear missile system. John went through basic training and then he was trained to be a Hercules missile crewman. Later, John was phased out of that job and he was retrained on the Chaparral Surface-to-Air cruise missile support system. The second job was not as technical as his first job. The first job he held a top secret clearance, to work on the nuclear missile.

When John was released from the military, he moved in with his mother in Long Beach. John got into trouble at that time for breaking and entering a house. When he went to court, they brought up his 1982 drug trafficking charge from his arrest in the park. Up until that time, John thought he was never going to be charged for that crime.

John joined the ARMY in February of 1982. John was in basic training and job training for about six months total. John was stationed at Ft. Bliss, Texas, to start off. John worked at Ft. Bliss, Texas, for about eight months and then he got orders to go to Europe. John planned everything with Holly and they got ready to go after everything was set up. When John got set up in Germany, he called Holly and started to get everything set up for her to relocate to Germany with him. While in Germany, John got his housing, received his training and everything was in place for Holly to come there, but she just did not want to. Ultimately Holly decided not to move to Germany and this devastated John.

John remembered his transfer to Germany had been delayed for a while, because of the birth of his son. His son was born on August 27, 1983. John was supposed to be in Germany just around that time period, but they gave him two extra weeks at home to spend with the family before being flown to Germany.

John first went to Frankfurt, Germany, to do his processing. In processing, they teach you the German culture and language so you could live there with little to no problems. From there, he was transferred to Bodamon (unknown spelling). John was in Bodamon for about nine months. After John got everything set up for Holly, she told John that she was just not available anymore.

While in Germany, John got into trouble a couple of times. John had wrecked a car and they got him for drunk driving. John was on 24 hour guard duty at the barracks when he received a telephone call at about twelve o'clock one night. One of his partners called from a club and said he needed a ride home. John went to the club and picked him up.

John was on his way back to post, coming off a mountain road when he hit some black ice and wrecked his BMW. John was stone-cold sober at the time and some German nationals drove by and gave them a ride back to post. While on the way back to post, John had them stop at a market and he bought a couple of beers and drank them.

When John arrived back at his post he told the MP's that he had wrecked his car and they asked if he had been drinking. John said no. The MP's said he was lying because they could smell the alcohol on his breath. This resulted in John getting into trouble. In the end, he got reprimanded for a DUI and drinking while on duty. He received forty-five days restriction and was busted down a pay grade.

By this time, John had lost his interest in the ARMY because he got into trouble and he missed his wife, Holly. They saw that he was having problems and therefore asked him if he wanted to discharge and go home. John said yeah. John was a really good soldier up until that point and they could see a difference in him, like it was night and day. John got out of the ARMY with a general discharge. John recalled it was maybe 1984 when he had discharged, but he had called his father before that, to make sure it was okay to go stay with him.

Once John was discharged and returned home, he telephoned his father. His father told him that there was no work right now and that he could not take him in anymore. John stayed with his mother-in-law, Linda Mitchell and Holly. Linda lived on Abbott Road at the time.

When John was unable to find work, he asked his father again if he could relocate up there with him. His father finally said yes, so Holly and he moved up to Lucerne Valley, after living with Holly's mother, Linda, for about six months.

John said he's trying to figure out why his whole life story is pertinent to this investigation. Alexander said, oh, we're trying to get to that. John said well after we left Linda's house, Holly and I lived with my dad for maybe four to six months. It was Holly, John Jr. and him. When Holly and he moved in, it was on Trade Post Road. Somehow a rental came up at Rita's back house. John went up to Rita's house and spoke with her. Rita told John how much the rent was and what the deposit was. John thought maybe the rent was $500.00 and maybe the deposit was $100.00 or $200.00. John was making about $8.00 an hour at that time, working from sun up to sun down. John agreed to the terms and rented Rita's back house.

Holly and he lived in Rita's back rental for about nine months. Another rental house came up with a guy he used to go to school with. This friend told him this house was available for rent if he wanted. John drove over to the house and checked it out and later called the owner. The house was uninhabitable but John was interested. The owner said the rent would be $100.00 per month and John said okay. Holly and he moved in and John started fixing the house up. About six months later, the owner showed up and could not even recognize the house, because of the amount of work John put into it. John believed he moved into this second rental around 1986.

Jasmine was born September 30, 1985. Jasmine had been born about a year after they moved out of Rita's rental. Holly and John had lived in the second rental for about five months before Jasmine had been born. John agreed it may have been around April of 1985 when he moved out of Rita's back rental. Holly and he lived at the second rental until Jasmine was about a year and a half old.

John first lived at his dad's house for about six months, when Holly and he relocated to Lucerne Valley. They only had "JJ" (John Jr) at the time. They moved to Rita's back rental and lived there for six to nine months. It was just Holly, JJ, and him. While living in Rita's rental, Holly and he did not socialize with Rita. John recalled maybe one time he drank half a beer with her when she had some friends over.

Alexander asked John to tell him a little bit more about Rita. John said Rita was a very nice gal and was polite.

Alexander asked John who Rita socialized with while Holly and he lived in the rental. John only recalled on one occasion when he met David Leftwich and David's brother who were at Rita's house in the front yard. John did not recall seeing any other people at Rita's house beside them during the duration Holly and he lived there.

John described Rita's house and the rental as only being about twenty feet away from each other.

John said when he lived at Rita's he owned a tan colored Toyota pickup truck. His father cosigned for the loan, in order for him to have the pickup truck. John also owned a dark blue Pinto he purchased from a guy in Apple Valley. Holly was at home while he was gone all the time at work and she needed transportation so he purchased the Pinto for her. John's normal work schedule was he woke up at 5:00 a.m. and arrived at his dad's house by 6:00 a.m. From his dad's house, they would drive to wherever the jobs were located, whether they were in the valley or desert area. Generally, John would arrive back home at 6:00 or 7:00 p.m.

While working with his father, John started using methamphetamine again. His father said it was affecting his job and their customer base so his father fired him.

John arrived home one day (Fairlane residence) and he found a note saying the kids were at the babysitter. John contacted Holly's mother to find out where she (Holly) was, after he could not find her. John picked up the kids and had them for several days before he was able to locate Holly. Not much later, Holly and he moved down to Long Beach and stayed with Holly's mother.

While using methamphetamine while in Lucerne Valley, John said he would stay up for thirty days (30) at a time and sleep for three days. John estimated he was using a sixteenth of an ounce of methamphetamine per week. When Holly and he relocated to Long Beach, they both enrolled in a drug rehabilitation program.

While living with Holly's mother, John had gone to visit his father, George, in Lucerne Valley. That's when George told him that Rita had been murdered.

Holly and he had split up about three months later, after they moved from the Fairlane residence to her mother's residence. Holly got her own place shortly thereafter and John was giving her money for rent. They had been married in Texas so later they had to process their divorce paperwork through a Texas court.

After Holly and he split up, John met Alicia Smith six months later. John got a job down at the naval base doing some framing and was making some decent money. John estimated this had to be around 1988. John did not date any other people between Holly and Alicia. Alicia and he were together for about seven to eight years. After they had been dating for approximately two months, she became pregnant with their baby. When Alicia became pregnant and while living together, John filed divorce paperwork with Holly and sent it off to Texas. John never got a response back from Texas and assumed his divorce had been finalized. Alicia and he had never married, they just dated and lived together.

Joseph was born on 10/02/89. On 07/19/91, two years later, their son, Kenneth, was born and a couple years after that, their daughter, Brianna, was born. Alicia and he wound up getting strung out on methamphetamine. They were both in the drug scene and eventually, John had gotten into trouble and was sent to prison.

John described most of his problems in life were a direct result from using drugs. When he wasn't using drugs his life seemed to be going smoothly, but when he used drugs, that's when things started going wrong for him. John described drugs as the downfall to his life.

John was a single parent for about five years when Alicia and he separated. John raised his three kids with Alicia, while attending drug counseling.

John had been sentenced to sixteen months state prison around 1993. John only did eight to nine months of the sixteen months. That time in prison was spent at Folsom. His prison sentence was a result from possession of a stolen bike. When John arrived home from prison, Alicia was pregnant with another baby from another man. John did not even want to work it out with Alicia and decided to move away.

John went through some drug rehabilitation courses, got his life together, got a job and a place to stay. Once John got everything set up and he was doing well, he was able to get custody of his kids. John had the kids for about five years and then met Melody while in a Narcotics Anonymous meeting.

Alexander asked John if he had seen any other women intimately while with Holly, Alicia, or Melody. John said no.

In 1995, things totally ended with Alicia. In between Alicia and Melody, John dated several girls. Alexander asked John who he dated. John said Dana, Brittany, Julie, Laurie. John met Melody around 2000. John met Melody while at a Narcotics Anonymous meeting in 2000. About fourteen months after meeting, they got married. Prior to getting married, they lived together for one year. They married February 29, 2000. Melody and he have been together since then with no breakups in between.

Melody's father had passed away and their home was almost paid off. Her mother did not have any income and needed help, so Melody and he moved into her mother's house. They have been living there for about the last six months. Melody's mother and father had been together for over 40 years. They had also been living in the same house for a very long time so John was trying to modernize it.

Alexander asked John if he could tell him more about Rita. John said she was just a really nice lady and she agreed to allow his wife and him to live in her back house. Rita tried to get Holly and him to hang out with her a couple of times at the house but they didn't. John did not know Rita's normal routine and did not know her friends.

Alexander asked John if Holly and he ever went over to Rita's house and watched TV with her. John said no. Alexander asked John if Rita ever came over to their place that they rented from her to watch television or hang out. John said not that he knew of. John said the only time he had gone into Rita's house was to pay her the rent. The other times he was inside her house was when he did some work for her that she needed done. There was a problem with a bathroom door that would not shut all the way, there was a dripping faucet, the kitchen sink was plugged up, and the back sliding glass door did not close.

Alexander asked John what type of locks she had on the house. John said he did not know. Alexander asked John what about the back sliding glass door. John said, I don't even think it shut. Alexander said, did it have a lock on it. John said, I don't even know.

John heard that after Rita had been killed, her son, Daryl had moved into the house. John heard that Rita's son, Daryl, had been convicted of Rita's murder. Alexander told John that information was not true, because we would not be out here right now asking him questions, trying to figure out what happened.

Alexander asked John if he had ever gone over to Rita's house for drinks and/or to socialize with her without Holly. John said no. Alexander asked John if he ever had any type of relationship with Rita. John said no. Alexander asked John if he had ever kissed Rita or had sex with her. John nodded no. Alexander said no intimate relationship at all? John nodded no and quietly said no.

I asked John which of his brothers had been living in Lucerne Valley when Rita was killed. John said he was not quite sure. John then thought about it and said George was living in Lucerne Valley in 1985. George was living in a motel in downtown Lucerne Valley.

His father, George, has been with Betty for the last 25 or 26 years. Betty's last name is Murie. They are not married but he considers them to be.

I asked John if he knew the name Pam Hardwick. John said he forgot about her and that her father had been married to her for a very short time.

John said his mother, Betty Jo, died about eight years ago.

His brother, George, has been married to the same lady since he has been seventeen years old. Her name is Becky Yablonsky. Her maiden name may be Montoya. John gets along with George but not George's wife.

John no longer has the tan colored Toyota pickup truck because his father repossessed it from him a long time ago. His father left or sold the vehicle in Mexico. John sold his Pinto to a car lot on Long Beach Boulevard a long time ago. The car lot has since shut down. John recalled he sold it when they moved from Lucerne Valley to Long Beach, after Rita had been killed.

I asked John if he knew why we were talking to him today. John said no. I told John, you know, people make mistakes and we're not here to judge you. I told John that we realize he had a rough childhood and rough life. Alexander said, you know, people probably don't understand you because some of the things you have been through. John said, you guys think I did this? I said we know you did it, John. John said there's just no way.

Alexander said back in 1985, there was a lot of stress in your life. You had a new child and a wife you weren't getting along with. John said I didn't do this. I said, John we knew you did or we wouldn't be here today talking to you. I said there may be many reasons why something like this happened because of some of the stressors in your life. John said he has made a lot of mistakes but he has never made a mistake like this. There is no way. I told John it would be good if he got this off of his chest. John said I can't even imagine how it leads to me. Alexander told John things have changed a lot since 1985. Police departments do things differently now because technology available today was not available back in 1985.

Alexander told John we went back and looked at the scene, the evidence and re-analyzed everything. John said I've done some stupid shit and some wrong things but not like that. John said that lady was always nice to us and would never hurt anyone. I told John maybe it was an accident, something went wrong and she got hurt.

I asked John if he had been booked recently at a jail. I asked John what they took from him. John said DNA. I told John we have talked to many people just like him - good people who have made mistakes in their lives. I told John it's time to do the right thing and say what happened. John said I'm trying. I told John we already know what happened in the house and there's nothing he could say that's going to get us excited. John said it's gonna be really hard for me to admit to something I really didn't do.

Alexander told John the evidence tells everything and that we know what happened. Alexander said you can't just sit here and tell us you did not have a part in it because we have the evidence. Alexander said this is your chance to come forward and tell us the truth about what happened. John said I didn't do this, guys. I said John, we know one hundred percent that you killed Rita. We have undisputable physical evidence that you killed Rita. That evidence was collected during that crime scene investigation in 1985 and I'm sure you watch Cold Case Files and other shows and you know that type of evidence is refrigerated or frozen. Those items of evidence were taken out in 1999 and reworked. DNA profiles were developed and put into the computer system. You were just recently arrested and your DNA was taken and we made a match to you. It is undeniable that you are the person who killed Rita. For you to sit her today and tell us you did not kill Rita would not look good in court. John said the fact that she had been killed was disappointing. I asked John if it was an accident or if he intended to do it. John said quietly, I didn't do it. I said John, there's nothing to be ashamed of embarrassed of at this time because we're not here to judge you. We know what happened and this is the time to say that you're sorry for what happened and you feel bad. John said, I did not kill this lady, I never hurt this woman. I said look at her photo, John. John said this is the lady who was decent enough to rent us that apartment. I asked John if he was an evil person. John said no. I said so then you're a human being and you have feelings? John said yes. I explained to John that evil people don't show remorse or admit to what they did was wrong, nor did they ever admit to what they did. John said if I did something like that, I'd be admitting to it right now.

I told John that a search warrant was being served at his house right now. I told John that we tried to give him the opportunity to be remorseful. Alexander asked John what happened in 1982 in El Paso, Texas. John said he went to a bar and met a black guy and that black guy had problems with him so he went to a different bar. While at the bar, some lady said he pulled a knife on her and raped her twice in a bar. That never happened. Alexander said we know about that one. I asked John what about 1996. John said he was with a girl he was dating and he did not rape the girl in the bar, and he did not rape Laurie Amaro. Laurie and he had sex and then she called the police and said he had raped her. That rape never happened. Laurie said that he raped her soul. John said he did not rape her soul, that's what happened and it's not against the law. John didn't physically sexually rape her or her soul.

I asked John how he feels about talking to us today. John said I don't even know what to say. I understand what your job is to do. John said he just feels he has nothing to do with it.

I told John, you do understand us, that there is undeniable DNA evidence that links you to Rita's murder. I told John, I want to make sure we're clear about this. John said yeah, I understand what you're saying. I said, John you don't want to go into a courtroom this way. I said, John if we lied to you at any point of this interview, we would have no credibility with you. I told John, we've been straight up with you from the entire beginning. I told John, your DNA links you to Rita's murder. I asked John if it was an accident? John said, you're not hearing me. I didn't hurt this lady. Alexander said, you today, clean and sober, may not have done it but what about you, John Yablonsky, in 1985, when you were using drugs. Did that young John Yablonsky do it? John said this physical John Yablonsky never hurt that lady.

I asked John how he was going to prove he didn't do it, if his DNA said he did it. I asked John if he had a twin brother. John said no. I said, out of a hundred cases I've worked on, this has to be one of the most strongest DNA cases we have had. I asked John if it was possible while he was under the influence of some narcotic back then he committed the murder and now he you are having a hard time remembering it, maybe it was a bad dream. John said, I don't even think I was living up there when she got killed. John said, I don't remember when it happened. I have no clue.

(Note: At 3:26:10 on the recorder John said that he wanted to contact an attorney because we are accusing him of something he did not do.)

I said John, you knew this would come back one day. You knew in the back of your mind, one day, some cold case detectives might come and talk to you. It's been in the back of your mind for a long time. After your mouth got swabbed from that arrest, you got real nervous and it brought back some memories from 1985. When your mouth got swabbed, you were wondering if someone would come knocking on your door eventually. I said I think I see someone human inside you. Tell me you're human and not someone evil because there's undisputable evidence that you did this, John. Alexander told John that everyone is going to recognize the evidence when this comes out. Alexander said there's no way you can sit here and tell us that you had nothing to do with her murder. Alexander said we don't think you're a monster and people make mistakes. John said I don't even know how anything comes to prove that I did it. John said I've done some stupid shit, but I've never done anything like this. I didn't hurt that lady in Texas, I didn't hurt that lady in Long Beach and I didn't hurt Rita.

Alexander said, what if I were to tell you your DNA came off of the item that was used to kill her with. John said, I'm just telling you what my dad had told me. Alexander said, how would you explain your DNA was on the item that was used to kill Rita with. How would you explain that? John did not answer. I told John that he nor anyone else didn't know about DNA back in the 1980's and therefore, did not use or take any precautions when they committed crimes. John said, you have my DNA on the murder weapon? I said yeah, which was still on her body. I said, we're being straight up with you John, to try to get you to do the right thing, to show that you're human and admit that you made some mistakes.

I said John, you're DNA was on the item used to kill Rita with when the detectives processed the crime scene. John said really. Alexander said it was a perfect match to you. John said, well I didn't do it. Alexander said, is there anything else you want to say to us. John said, I want an attorney.

Two arrests in separate S.B. County slayings from 1980s

Video: Arrests made in cold-case slayings

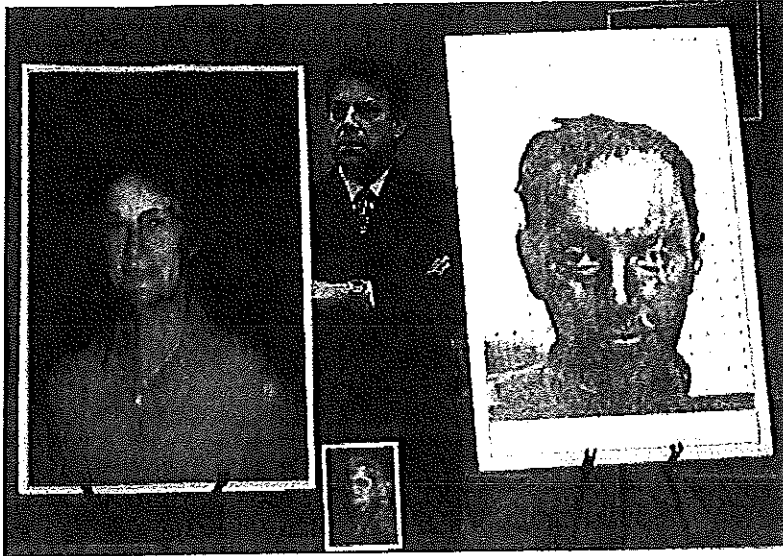

Cold-case detectives said Monday they have solved two strangulations committed more than two decades ago, continuing their efforts to chip away at 600 stalled homicide cases in San Bernardino County.

"This brings some closure for us," Daryl Kraemer said of Sunday's arrest of a suspect in the September 1985 rape and killing of his mother, Rita M. Cobb, of Lucerne Valley.

A January 2008 letter from Kraemer and his wife helped generate funding for the county's cold-case team, which consists of two homicide detectives, a prosecutor and a criminalist.

San Bernardino County sheriff's homicide Lt. Frank Gonzales stands between photographs of Rita M. Cobb and John Eller, both slain in the 1980s. Cold case detectives have arrested John Henry Yablonsky and Paul Johnson in connection with the crimes.

"We will never erase the image of our mother lying strangled, with the smell of her death throughout the house," they wrote to county Supervisor Brad Mitzelfelt.

"The knowledge that the murderer probably knew us, while we didn't know him, has caused considerable anxiety while we raised our children and tried to live a normal life."

Kraemer's mother had rented a studio apartment to John Henry Yablonsky. The man later moved out, but returned and attacked her, said Detective Rob Alexander. Her nude body was found in a bedroom with a metal coat hanger wrapped around her neck.

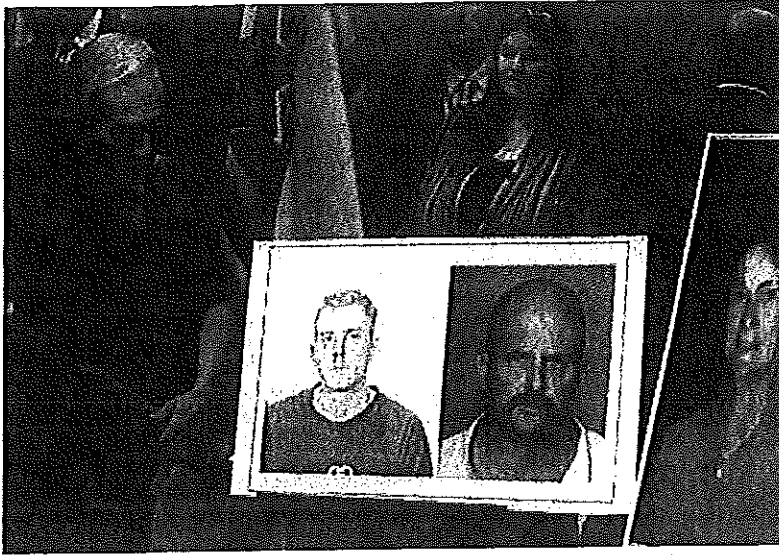

Yablonsky was arrested last year in Long Beach, where a routine DNA database screening of jail inmates linked him to semen found on Cobb's body.

"Without that, who knows if we'd have ever found this guy," Kraemer said.

The second arrest came Thursday, when Paul Vernon Johnson, 70, was jailed on suspicion of the December 1987 strangulation of transient handyman John Eller in Newberry Springs, a remote Mojave Desert community east of Barstow.

"Eller was last seen at the Johnson residence, where he would frequently hang out and drink beer with the guys," detectives said in a statement. "Statements taken during the initial investigation indicated the victim had been in an altercation with Paul Johnson."

"This brings some closure for us," said Daryl Kraemer, left, of the arrest of John Henry Yablonsky, in center photos, a suspect in the September 1985 rape and murder of Kraemer's mother, Rita M. Cobb, in photo at right. San Bernardino County cold-case detective announced arrests in two decades-old cold cases Monday.

But the case went cold in 1988 after some witnesses declined to cooperate because they feared retaliation or were related to Johnson, said Detective Greg Myler.

Three months ago, a letter from an undisclosed informant revived the case, he said.

Charges have been filed in 13 old homicides in recent years -- five since the cold-case unit was formed last year, Thomas said.

Despite shrinking government budgets, funding for the cold-case unit is secure for the duration of an 18-month $499,000 grant that expires in June 2010, said sheriff's Lt. Frank Gonzales.

"There's not a problem right now," he said.

Charges filed on two unrelated cold case killings in the High Desert

Stacia Glenn, Staff Writer

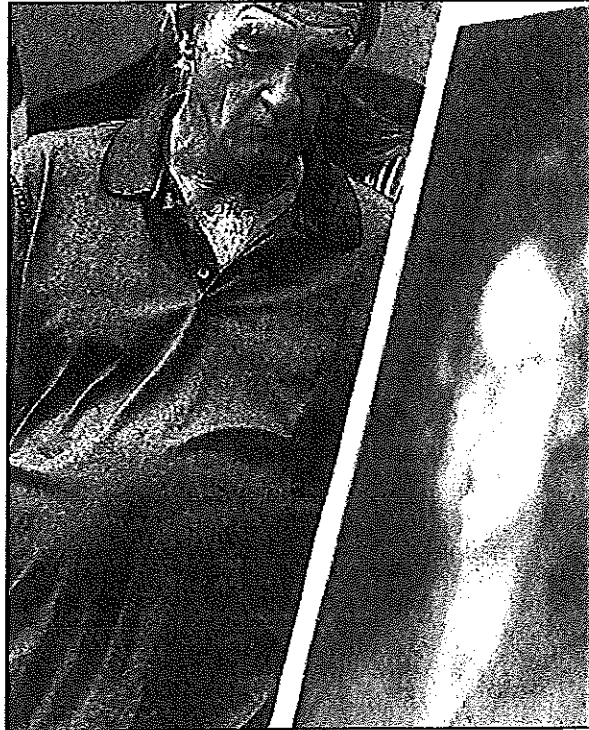

Posted: 03/09/2009 02:29:14 PM PDT

It was a couple of letters that recently put cold case detectives on the trail of two suspected killers who have walked free for two decades while others lived with the horrors of their crimes.

One letter was sent from a Helendale couple who begged justice for their mother, whom they found dead in her bedroom with a wire hanger around her neck.

Another was mailed by a witness, who in 1987 recalled seeing a transient with a man who now faces life in prison for drunkenly strangling the transient, who refused to put his fists up and fight.

Filled with determination and armed with new facts about the unrelated strangulation cases in the High Desert, the cold case team spent about three months investigating, and in the past four days have arrested both suspects.

On Sunday, the county's cold case team arrested a 45-year-old man suspected of sexually assaulting and strangling Rita Cobb on Sept. 23, 1985 inside her Lucerne Valley bedroom.

"This has been a long 24 years," said Daryl Kramer, Cobb's son. "We've lived with this everyday. It never leaves you."

John Henry Yablonsky is expected to be arraigned today in Victorville Superior Court. He faces 25 years to life in prison.

Yablonsky and his wife rented a home on her property from Cobb for nearly a year and moved out months before he strangled the 55-year-old woman, authorities said.

Really, it was a fluke and a little luck that clued San Bernardino County sheriff's detectives in to who allegedly killed Cobb, who worked as a country club secretary when she was killed.

Yablonsky failed to appear in court late last year for a misdemeanor violation for disturbing the peace, which prompted the court to issue a no bail warrant for him.

So when Long Beach police picked him up in October for contracting without a license, they took a DNA sample.

Within three months, his DNA was matched to semen found inside Cobb's home. When authorities submitted the semen sample in 2003, they were told that DNA profile existed in less than 1 in 6 billion men.

San Bernardino County sheriff's Detective Rob Alexander said the family never lost hope for solving Cobb's case and they ensured the case stayed on the minds of detectives.

"Even though it went unsolved, numerous detectives had picked up that case, reviewed it, went out and interviewed people," Alexander said.

District Attorney Michael A. Ramos applauded Kramer and his wife for writing a letter to him and Supervisor Brad Mitzelfelt asking that their mother's case be reopened.

In the Jan. 3, 2008 letter, Marta Kramer wrote, "We cannot fully describe the ways this has negatively affected our own lives, both as individuals and as a family unit. To start with, we will never erase the image of our mother lying strangled with the smell of her death throughout the house ... An opportunity to find closure by solving her murder would mean more than we can put in words."

The cold case team also arrested a man on Thursday on suspicion of strangling transient John Eller on Dec. 27, 1987.

Paul Johnson, 70, pleaded not guilty Monday to Eller's murder. He faces 25 years to life in prison.

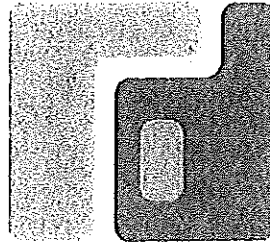

The body of Eller, who worked as a handyman and lived on the streets of Newberry Springs, was found beside a remote desert road. Detectives suspect Johnson killed Eller at his then-home on Fremont Street and then dumped his body.

Eller was known to hang out on Johnson's property and drink beer with people who lived there, detectives said.

Johnson, who had been drinking on the day Eller was killed, kept challenging Eller to fight.

"Paul Johnson couldn't let it go and kept antagonizing Mr. Eller," said Detective Greg Myler. "Mr. Eller was not able to defend himself and he was overcome by Paul Johnson."

No family has been located for Eller, but detectives said they will continue looking.

A letter sent from a witness to detectives last year prompted about 15 more interviews before the cold case team felt comfortable arresting Johnson.

The DA's office and sheriff's department partnered in April of 2008 for the cold case team, which has reviewed more than 200 cases, is focusing on 50 and has filed murder charges on 11.

JUSTICE AFTER 24 YEARS: COLD CASE MURDER SOLVED

Family feels justice: Son of slain woman calls it "a good day" when Long Beach man is arrested

LUCERNE VALLEY • After nearly 25 years of not knowing, Daryl Kraemer finally has the answers he's been searching for. He now knows who murdered his mother 24 years ago in her Lucerne Valley home.

"Today is a good day," Kraemer said less than 24 hours after receiving a call that the man who brutally sexually assaulted and murdered his mother, Rita M. Cobb, had been arrested on Sunday.

John Henry Yablonsky of Long Beach was identified as Cobb's killer when officials matched his DNA with DNA discovered at the murder scene, San Bernardino County Sheriff's officials said on Monday.

"It's a nice feeling to be able to arrest this man, especially for the family," Assistant District Attorney

John Thomas, who is in charge of cold cases in the High Desert region of San Bernardino County.

Yablonsky, who previously rented a back house on Cobb's property, was arrested in October 2008 in Long Beach for disturbing the peace, officials said.

"He was working construction without a license and he got into it with one of his customers," said Detective Rob Alexander who is assigned to the San Bernardino County Sheriff's tion without a license and he got into it with one of his customers," said Detective Rob Alexander who is assigned to the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Homeleide Cold Case team. "Once he was arrested, they realized he was a convicted felon but had never submitted DNA, so they took a sample at that time."

Using DNA extracted from Cobb's sex kit in 2008, investigators were able to make a positive match using the Combined DNA Index System.

"I knew his father," Kraemer said of Yablonsky.

In September 1985, a couple went to Cobb's home in search of her. But they were not prepared for what they were about to discover: her nude body in a bedroom of her home.

"I didn't even realize she was murdered at first," Dryle Kraemer said in a previous interview with the Daily Press. "Then my wife — she's the one who saw that this was a murder. I blocked out of it. When I saw it, I blocked it all out. I just went out in front of the house screaming."

At the time of Cobb's murder, DNA science was in infancy and still developing. As DNA technology progressed, it afforded investigators the opportunity to solve cases that had gone cold.

"It's always been the hope the evidence collected as the time of the crime, with assistance of new technology, will be able to bring more information to cold case investigations," Thomas said in an earlier interview.

The Kraemers feel that the arrest of Yablonsky is not only good news for them, but for others who are struggling through the unsolved death of a loved one.

"It gives them hope," Marta Kraemer said.

Yablonsky, a convicted felon, was arrested on Sunday and is to be arraigned today for murder.

Approximately 1300 hours, Saturday, 9-8-73, assigned by Control Radio to contact
 Mr. CHAIR at 1106 W. Victoria Court, Arrowhead Villas, reference a burglary.

INVESTIGATION:

Approximately 1330 hours, above date, arrived at assigned location, noting a 2-level wood frame, brown stucco, single family dwelling located in a mountain resort community. The dwelling was situated approximately 20' down and 10' to the west of the paved portion on West Victoria Court.

POINT OF ENTRY:

Reporting officer examined the entire building, including the doors and windows for signs of possible forced entry with negative results. Reporting officer did note a 40" x 60", horizontally sliding glass paned and metal framed door into the living room. The door was located approximately 2½' above the ground level in the north wall of the lower level of the dwelling. This door was open upon reporting officer's examination.

EXAMINATION OF INTERIOR OF RESIDENCE:

The residence appeared to have been ransacked. A fire extinguisher was noted lying on the floor of the living room of the dwelling, with the contents of the fire extinguisher sprayed about the interior of the dwelling. Further, there were two sets of what appeared to be children's footprints in the CO2 dust. Further noted, was a silhouette of a rifle located on the bed, which was created when the fire extinguisher was possibly sprayed onto the bed, with the rifle lying on it.

A storeroom in the kitchen area was noted to have the locking mechanism appearing to have been forced from the door. Suspect/s who were in the residence had left the water on, thus creating damage to the kitchen area. All the doors and drawers were open and the contents appeared to have been tampered with.

NEIGHBORHOOD CHECK:

Reporting officer went to the street above the victim's residence to 1114 West Victoria Court. Noted in the dust and dirt about the residence, were sets of footprints which appeared to be similar to those found at the victim's residence. Reporting officer

VICTIMS STATEMENT

YABLONSKY TOLD ME THAT HE HAD LEFT HIS RESIDENCE ON 5-3-87 AT ABOUT 2100 HRS. AND RETURNED ON 5-23-87 AT ABOUT 2230 HRS. WHEN HE RETURNED HOME HE FOUND THAT SOMEONE HAD PULLED A PIECE OF PLYWOOD AWAY FROM THE FRONT WINDOW WHICH IS NEXT TO THE FRONT DOOR. THE PLYWOOD WAS JUST HANGING THERE. HE CAME IN THE SAME WAY THE SUSPECTS DID, BECAUSE HE DOES NOT HAVE A KEY. WHEN HE UNLOCKED THE DOOR, HE SAID HE UNLOCKED A DOOR KNOB LOCK AND A LATCH LOCK. THE LATCH LOCK WAS NOT LOCKED WHEN HE LEFT ON 5-3-87. HE ONLY LOCKED THE KNOB LOCK. AS HE WENT THROUGH THE HOUSE HE NOTICED BOXES OF ITEMS PACKED WITH HIS BELONGINGS MISSING. YABLONSKY SUSPECTED HIS BROTHER GEORGE BECAUSE ALL THE ITEMS TAKEN WERE ITEMS HIS BROTHER HAD ASKED FOR, BEFORE. YABLONSKY WENT OUT TO HIS BROTHER'S CAMP IN NORTH VALLEY ON 5-24-87 AT ABOUT 0600 HRS. AND FOUND SOME OF THE STOLEN PROPERTY AND TOOK WHAT HE COULD.

SUSPECT INTERVIEW:

On Tuesday, 12-29-92, at approximately 1636 hours, I interviewed suspect JOHN YABLONSKY at the Victor Valley Sheriff's Station. I read YABLONSKY his Miranda warning from my San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department issued Miranda card. His answer to question #1 was "Yes", his answer to question #2 was "Yeah".

Suspect JOHN YABLONSKY related to me that on Wednesday, 12-23-92, he was at his father's house in Lucerne Valley. YABLONSKY told me that he was mad at his father because he was hoping to spend the holiday with his father, however, his father told him that he and his girlfriend were going to his girlfriend's parents' house for the holiday. YABLONSKY said that his father told him that he could stay on the property, however, that he could not go to the house.

YABLONSKY said that when his father and his girlfriend left he pried open the shell door on the back of his fathers' truck and then removed tools from the truck.

YABLONSKY said that he took the tools to the Long Beach area where he pawned several of the items at different pawn shops for money. I asked YABLONSKY why he pawned the property off and he told me that he needed money so that he could rent the motel room for his family. YABLONSKY also told me that he partially owned some of the tools that he had taken. I asked him what he meant by partially owned. He said that from 1985 to approximately 1988 he and his father had a business together and that he owned 40% of the business. YABLONSKY said that of all the tools that he took, he owned 40% of them, and that he had the right to take them.

I asked YABLONSKY, if he owned the tools then why didn't he just ask his father for them. He told me that he got mad when his father had made plans to spend Christmas somewhere else other than Lucerne Valley, and that he just took the tools. YABLONSKY told me that he received approximately $200.00 for all the tools that he had pawned off.

VICTIM INTERVIEW:

On Wednesday, 12-30-92, at approximately 1100 hours, I interviewed victim GEORGE YABLONSKY at the Victor Valley Sheriff's Station. I told GEORGE that his son had told me that the tools that he had taken were partially his and that he stated he used to be in a business with his father, and that 40% of the tools were his. GEORGE told me that it was true that he and his son had a business in the late 80's, however, he told me that he bought most of the tools and that when his son moved out from the Lucerne Valley area to the Long Beach area his son took approximately 60% of all the tools he owned.

GEORGE said that when they decided to break the business up and for his son to go his own way, his son sneaked into the house during the night without his knowledge and stole over half of all the tools that he owned. GEORGE told me that at the time this happened he never made any report to the Sheriff's Department regarding that theft. GEORGE told me that his son has had problems with drugs and that was one of the reasons that the business fell apart back in 1988. GEORGE told me that his son has stole from him several times and that he desires prosecution regarding this case.

GEORGE told me that his son called him from jail in Long Beach and told him that if he would drop the charges and get him out of jail he would tell him where the rest of the tools were. GEORGE said that his son further stated that if he didn't get him out of jail he would never see his tools again. The interview was completed at this time.

PAGE 2 OF AR RE: 459/G PC GARAGE BURGLARY

The above defendant was placed under arrest after he was identified as a 459 PC suspect out of San Bernardino County Sheriff's under Crime Report #079-205505.

Officers W. Watson #3976 and A. Lopez #5301 were contacted by Lt. J. Starbird, the Station Commander, regarding a teletype that he had just received. Officer Watson was informed that the teletype listed information advising Long Beach Police to attempt to arrest a John Henry Yablonsky for 459 PC under CR #079-205505. Officers were further informed that the suspect's address was 336 E. 8th Street #202 in Long Beach.

Officer Watson was assisted by Officers R. Rose #3041 and W. Bradley #5312, and they responded to 336 E. 8th Street #202. Officer Rose knocked on the front door, identified himself as the police. A male White subject (later identified as George Yablonsky; 2/24/61) answered the door and officers advised that they were there to talk to a John Henry Yablonsky and wanted to know if he was there, to which he stated he was in the back room.

Officer Watson asked if he would have him come out so officers could talk to him, at which time George went back and called for John to come out of the bathroom. At this time, a male White subject (later identified as the above defendant) walked out into the living room area. Officer Watson asked him his name, to which he advised it was John Yablonsky. Officer Watson asked if it was John Henry Yablonsky, to which he stated, "Yes".

He was advised that he was being placed under arrest for burglary. Officer Watson was asked where this incident occurred, to which he advised in San Bernardino. At this time, defendant Yablonsky stated that the tools that he had taken were partly his from a business he and his dad (victim) had owned. Officer Watson advised him that he was going to advise him of his rights prior to him explaining the story.

The defendant was taken out onto the balcony where he was advised of his Constitutional rights per PD Form 1000.008, to which he stated, "Yes" to waiver question #1 and, "Yes" to waiver question #2.

The defendant related that he had taken tools from his dad's truck in Lucerne Valley, but that the tools were partly his because he had paid for most of them when they were in business together years ago.

Officer Watson asked where all the tools were that he had taken, to which he stated he had pawned most of them and that the rest were over at a friend's house. Officer Watson asked if any of the tools were in the residence at 336 E. 8th Street #202, to which he stated that there was a crate with a few items inside and he would show them to Officer Watson. He led Officer Watson into the living room where he pointed out a grey crate lying on the floor which contained miscellaneous small tools. There was a blue bag also inside the crate and he advised Officer Watson that the pawn slips were inside the blue bag.

Officer R. Rose removed the pawn slips, observing that two nail guns had been pawned on 12/26/92 at a pawn shop in Long Beach. For further, see Evidence Report and pawn slips. The crate was retained into officers' possession until all items were inventoried by Officer Rose and Bradley, who subsequently placed them into evidence. These items consisted of the grey plastic milk carton, a large plastic black piping, a pry bar, a measuring square, a Phillips screwdriver, a chisel, metal clamps, colored putty, a saw blade, staples, and other miscellaneous items.

The defendant advised Officer Watson that he would show him where he had left the rest of the tools. Upon responding to a location at 6th and Cedar, the defendant advised that he was not telling the truth and that none of the items were at this location, and that he had pawned everything.

The defendant was transported to the station where, during an interview with the defendant, he advised Officer Watson of the following regarding the theft.

He stated that he went to his father's house (George Yablonsky, Sr.) at 9884 Trade Post Road in Lucerne Valley approximately three days before Christmas with his girlfriend (Alicia Smith) and his kids. He went there uninvited and his father made him and his family stay out in a trailer outside the residence because he did not trust him to stay inside. He stated that one day prior to Christmas, his father and his father's wife left the residence, advising the defendant that they were going to be gone for a couple of days and not to go in the house.

The defendant stated that his family was getting hungry and they had no money, so he decided to take the tools from his father's work truck which was parked in the garage. He went into the garage area, which was unlocked (and he described it as a car-port) and pried open the shell door to the work truck. After gaining entry, he removed the crate which contained a planer, a router, a drill, a skilsaw, and miscellaneous tools. He also took a skilsaw and a miter saw and four nail guns which were behind the crate.

He, his girlfriend, and the kids then left the Lucerne Valley location and went to Long Beach where they were able to pawn two of the nail guns at a place called Tool City on Carson, possibly in the city of Hawaiian Gardens. He stated that his girlfriend (Alicia Smith, 6/17/71) used her identification for the transaction. They checked into the Trade Winds hotel on Pioneer and Carson for three days, pawning the miter saw and the skilsaw at a second pawn shop in Hawaiian Gardens down the street from the hotel on the 26th, and then pawning the remaining two nail guns at the pawn shop in Long Beach on Artesia, the place that officers had the pawn receipts. He stated that they needed the money to eat.

The defendant related that the reason he took the tools in the first place was that approximately four years ago, he and his father were partners in a construction business and that the defendant paid for 40 percent of everything that was purchased and that the tools he had taken were part of these purchases. The conversation was terminated at this time.

The defendant was booked as charged.

Officer R. Rose recontacted Alicia Smith at the 8th Street address and she advised that she had in fact pawned some tools at Tool City on Carson Street, but does not know exactly what tools were pawned there.

Officer Watson can testify to the circumstances of arrest and to the defendant's statements.

TYPE OF INVESTIGATIONS:	Homicide (01)
VICTIMS:	COBB, Rita
SUSPECTS:	YABLONSKY, John Henry
CASE AGENT:	Alexander A1672
INVESTIGATING AGENCY:	SBSD – Specialized Investigations Division
TYPE OF REPORT:	DNA - STR (42)
DATE OF REPORT:	July 6, 2009

EVIDENCE

For a description of items A through I see previous reports dated September 30, 1985; November 18, 1985; April 3, 1987; August 23, 1988; February 26, 1998; June 1, 1999 (LR 71635); May 27, 1999 (LR 53993); November 30, 1999 (LR44452) and January 13, 2003.

The following items generated during the analysis are retained in BC 9842018029:

Extracted DNA: J-1 and reagent control (RRC-6-23-09)

Storage and disposition of evidence is the responsibility of the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department Central Property Unit. Unless otherwise stated, evidence has been released to the control of Sheriff's Central Property Unit for storage, or disposition.

EXAMINATIONS

For additional DNA examinations refer to previous reports dated February 26, 1998; May 27, 1999; June 1, 1999; November 30, 1999 and January 13, 2003.

The extracted DNA from the following evidential samples, previously examined, were typed using STR DNA analysis:

Item A-18a: Stain on felt pad

A-18b: Stain on felt pad

The quantity of human DNA recovered from these items was determined and then amplified for 13 Short Tandem Repeat (STR) DNA loci and the Amelogenin locus using the Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR). This was accomplished using Applied Biosystem's Profiler Plus™ (Amelogenin, D8S1179, D21S11, D18S51, D3S1358, vWA, FGA, D5S818, D13S317, and D7S820) and COfiler™ (Amelogenin, TH01, TPOX, CSF1PO, D3S1358, D16S539, and D7S820) amplification kits. The PCR products obtained were analyzed on an ABI Prism® 310 Genetic Analyzer (an automated capillary electrophoresis instrument using laser induced fluorescence detection) to determine the STR DNA profiles. These profiles were compared to the STR DNA profiles determined for the following reference samples:

Item A-11 Non-sperm fraction: Vaginal swab from Rita Cobb

J-1: Reference buccal swab from John Yablonsky

ITEM A-18b: STAIN FROM FELT PADNon-sperm fraction

The STR DNA results determined for the non-sperm fraction of this item indicate a mixture of two people, consistent with contributions from a male and female. Assuming only two donors to this mixture and that the male donor from the sperm fraction DNA is a contributor, the possible profiles for the female donor are given in Table III. Rita Cobb is included as a possible source of the female DNA detected in this fraction. An individual whose STR DNA profile meets the criteria to be the female donor to this sample can be expected to be found among the following number of unrelated individuals chosen at random:

- 1 in 6.2 billion Caucasian females
- 1 in 13 billion African American females
- 1 in 1.1 billion Southwestern Hispanic females

Sperm fraction

The STR DNA profile determined for the sperm fraction of this item is from a single, male donor and matches John Yablonsky. This STR DNA profile can be expected to occur among the following number of unrelated individuals chosen at random:

- Less than 1 in 7 billion Caucasian males (calculated as 1.9×10^{14})
- Less than 1 in 7 billion African American males (calculated as 1.1×10^{16})
- Less than 1 in 7 billion Southwestern Hispanic males (calculated as 3.2×10^{13})

Dear Susan Anderson,

The DNA profile from your evidence sample, 44659 A-11 E2, was submitted for search against the CAL-DNA Data Bank and resulted in a candidate match to an individual profile in the database. A copy of the dated CODIS match detail report(s) is enclosed for reference. Your laboratory subsequently classified this candidate match as an offender hit. The individual sample profile, and consequently the match, has been confirmed by this laboratory. Accordingly, the California Department of Justice is providing the identifying information associated with this sample as that of John Henry Yablonsky, CA SID A07244737.

This offender hit constitutes an investigative lead in your case. This notification is not intended to replace your laboratory's report documenting your assessment of the candidate match. A new evidentiary reference sample from John Henry Yablonsky should be obtained and analyzed by your laboratory.

Should you have any questions, or if we can be of further assistance, please contact Linton von Beroldingen at (510) 620-3300.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT FORENSIC SCIENCE LABORATORY

FOR CRIMINALISTICS EVIDENCE EXAMINATIONS

Because we receive more cases than we can work, we have always found it necessary to prioritize certain types of casework. The goal was to focus our efforts and resources where they were most needed. Today, the reasons for prioritization still exist and we are continuing the process.

You will receive notification of the status of your evidence after you submit it to the Laboratory. When the case is reviewed and assigned by a supervising criminalist, that supervisor will also complete the priority form below. The form will then be returned to you by the same method you receive your laboratory reports (pick up or mail).

The prioritization process is only applied to criminalistics cases. Criminalistics examinations include impression comparisons, firearms and toolmark comparisons, serology analyses, trace evidence examinations, etc. Not subject to prioritization are alcohol analyses, controlled drug analyses or requests for field investigations.

PRIORITY DESIGNATION

Priority 1:

Cases assigned this highest priority will usually have a due date. The due date, which may change depending on court dates and other factors, is the date that technical examinations will be completed and a written report will be issued.

Priority 2:

Cases assigned this priority will not have a due date assigned but will be worked as time becomes available.

Priority 3:

This is our lowest priority. Cases with this priority will not be analyzed unless circumstances change.

Should you have any questions regarding this memorandum or priority assignments you receive, please ask for the assignment supervisor at the following telephone number: (909) 387-2200.
